Red Eagles Forming Here

To Be Started By H. R. Caulfield, Supreme Organizer.

Large Council is Predicted

Plans for Huge Delegation from Buffalo for Initial Meeting at Victoria Theater on December 14th.

Rochester, famous as fraternal circles, the home of some of the largest and most active fraternal lodges in the world, is soon to add another order to its already long list. The Red Eagles have come to town. H. R. Caulfield, supreme organizer, with a trained corps of assistants, has invaded the field, and with but a few days' work has enrolled over 200. "We will have 2,000 members in Rochester soon," enthusiastically declares Mr. Caulfield.

Mr. Caulfield has just completed a membership campaign in Buffalo, where the order, which Mr. Caulfield declares is the "greatest co-operative brotherhood in the world," added 2,800 members. Michael J. Reagan, superintendent of police, was elected worthy protector and Col. E. M. Ward, of the department of public men enrolled on the charter list.

Buffalo Red Eagles are to play an important part in the installation of the council in Rochester at the Victoria theater on Sunday afternoon, December 14th. Plans are being made for a special train to bring between 400 and 500 Buffalonians here, together with their newly organized band of 35 pieces. The ceremonies are scheduled to begin at 2:30 p. m.

Red Eagles should not be confused with the Order of Eagles. The "Reds" is a benevolent, protective and patriotic order, incorporated under the laws of Michigan, and is the outgrowth of work on the part of men who, it is declared, have had 25 years' experience in the work of fraternalism.

Students of German history know that the Order of Red Eagles was founded in that country more than 200 years ago, in the year 1705. The black eagle is held to signify military power. To quote Mr. Caulfield: "The Red Eagles is a peaceful order. It has taken all the good qualities found in the German character, and has been found in American institutions, and the result is a society with broad general principles, which include defense of the home, with its love and sanctity; defense of the brother in all things right and defense of country against every foe."

"The specific basic principles of the order are rectitude, equality and devotion." The society teaches chivalry and lays great stress upon safeguarding the home and all its members. It entertains the wives and sisters of its members each month, and has a department for the young sons of the household, who are designated "Red Eagle Scouts." The ladies are known as "Red Eagle Companions."

It is announced that many men well known in business and professional circles have already been enrolled on the list of the Rochester council.

Keep Within Reach of Bell Service

When you go out, just leave word where you may be reached—by Bell Telephone.

It will often result in saving time and annoyance for parties who call you, and in some cases it might enable you to obtain business that would otherwise be lost.

It is not unusual for toll operator to try several different telephones when attempting to reach a party who has stepped out, but who did not forget to leave word at each stop.

You may avoid a big business loss sometime if you make it a rule to leave word where you may be reached by Bell Telephone.
