A Shirt Talk.

Furnishing counters have a collection of summer shirts for particular men.

We presume that there are not a few men degrading themselves the very best selection in shirts because they do not fully appreciate that a dry goods store is a man's store.

Our Furnishing Aisle is essentially a man's shop—a step from the street and wholly devoted to men's interests.

It would be almost like attempting to describe the individual straws in a stack to begin to depict the different sorts of individual shirts that are here. We want to lay down before you just a fact or two.

Take the French cuff shirts, that is the shirt with the soft turnback cuff. Our showing begins at $1 and ends at $7.50. We won't ask you to keep in mind all the price steps but there is an ample number to give you a mighty choice shirt selection at any price which you might feel is yours. Excellent materials, styles, making and all that as a matter of course.

In the stiff cuff shirts the range is from $1 to $2.50. The French or turnback cuff is coming in laundered shirts this season, and while we are mentioning laundering, we want you to note the way these shirts are laundered. And laundering is just about as good a way to diagnose the quality of a shirt as examining the material, the seams and the buttons. A shoddy shirt is not usually well laundered.

Our pleasure to reinforce this talk on shirts with a personal acquaintance.
