Stand Back of Him!

It matters not whether we agree with the way in which President Wilson has previously dealt with the Mexican situation.

It makes no difference whether we may have felt that Huerta should have been recognized as the de facto head of the Mexican government or whether we hold that Carranza and Villa were caught but bandits and outlaws and should have been treated as such instead of permitting them to be armed and aided in the United States.

Whether we may have felt that President Wilson should have acted sooner or that he should have refrained from exacting the sort of apology he did from Huerta matters not. The President has acted and in that action he speaks as the head of our Government. It is our duty to stand at his back through thick and thin. National honor will not be content unless the President is sustained in the action he has taken and peanut politicians who attempt to extract playtime political capital should be sent to the rear in double quick time and without ceremony.

Stand by the President!

Authoritative

The Catholic Standard and Times gives this plain and comprehensive answer to a correspondent who asks as to the origin of modern Free Masonry and also whether in the early days it was not under the protection of the Catholic Church.

"In the early middle ages when great cathedrals and other works of the architectural art were built, the stonemasons formed themselves into a society for mutual protection, much as workmen do at the present time. This was done with the approbation of the Church. The members of the society traveled under their master masons in organized bodies through all parts of Europe, wherever their services were required in building. They were allowed to govern themselves largely by the laws and regulations of their society, and were to a great extent free from the local laws of the places where they were working—hence free masons.

"At this time only practical masons could belong to the society. After a time men not masons were admitted, and here begins theoretic masonry, the Freemasonry of today, changed from practical to theoretical masonry. The technical language and the tools of the society of stonemasons are still retained as symbols and this is all that Freemasonry has in common with the society of builders of the middle ages.

"During this gradual transition from practical to theoretical masonry the Church took action against them. When the original object of the society was finally lost sight of and when its machinery began to be used as a social revolutionary agent and a propagation of heretical doctrines the Church took action.

"Modern Masonry may be said to have begun in London on June 24, 1717; the leading spirits in it at that time were Desaguliers, a well known popularizer of natural sciences, and James Anderson, a Scotch Presbyterian minister."

POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT

Second Assistant Postmaster General

Washington

March 9, 1914.

Postmaster, Aurora, Mo.

Your attention is invited to the following extract from a letter of the postal administration of Canada, dated February 2d, viz.:

"I have to inform you that the Menace, a weekly paper published at Aurora, Missouri, has been placed on the list of publications which are prohibited from circulation by mail in Canada, on account of its offensive contents."

Please cause the publisher of the paper in question to be properly informed respecting the matter and such action taken at your office as will prevent the acceptance of copies of said paper for mailing to Canada.

(Signed) Joseph Stewart, Second Assistant Postmaster General.

If Canada can find ways and means to bar the Menace from the mails why cannot Postmaster General Burleson and his staff do likewise in the United States?

Should Be Remedied

The Catholic Journal herewith presents its hearty congratulations to Postmaster William A. Buckley upon assuming the duties of his office and also upon the manly attitude he has assumed. We assure him that he already possesses the good will of the patrons of the postoffice who sincerely hope that he will be able to bring it up to the standard of efficiency he has set out to win.

There is one change in Rochester which we hope that Postmaster Buckley will be able to bring about and that is:—the Rochester railway terminal postoffice should be under the jurisdiction of the Rochester postmaster, at least not under the control of a Buffalo official who appears to regard Rochester as a way station. The mail boxes at the Central station where late out of town mail could be delivered and speedy handling assured should be restored. There was no good reason why they should have been taken out when the new station was planned.

These are changes which could easily be made.

We warrant that if war really comes the Catholic soldiers and sailors will bear comparison with those who criticize our Church and Faith.
