Aged People Have Auto Ride

Twenty-seven automobiles were sent to St. Ann's Home in the Charlotte Boulevard Wednesday, and about a hundred of the aged men and women who live there were taken on a long ride. They went through the principal streets and to the parks, with which they were especially pleased. On returning to the home they were treated to ice cream and cake, and the men, to cigars.

Frank Hahn suggested and arranged the trip, the cars being lent by many persons. Mrs. F. H. Yawman provided the ice cream and the cake was furnished by Mrs. James Fee, F. J. Yawman, Joseph Weis, J. A. Kresag and Frank Hahn. Mr. Hahn sent the cigars for the men.

Paul Hatch, of Auburn, who last year was a student at St. Andrew's Seminary, will go to Washington to study for the priesthood in the Franciscan Order. This means eleven years' work, as preparation for the order is severe. Mr. Hatch, who is about 17 years old, has been attracted to the Franciscans because of the hardships required to enter their order. He also prefers mission work to that of the parish priest.

Was a Good Deal
Church Road, N.Y., August, 1913.
I was suffering from nervous prostration, almost five years ago, and was unable to walk that I could not get any rest, my legs gave way first and then my arms, and I was unable to do any work. I had tried many doctors and all without success. I was told that I was a "Gilded Fool" and that I was a "Gilded Fool" and that I was a "Gilded Fool".

A New Style Four-in-Hand.

The difficulty that men find with scarfs made on the bias is that in pulling them and jerking them through the so-called "Slip-Easy" collars they frequently pull apart.

We have a new four-in-hand that overcomes this difficulty. It is made on the straight—not bias—but has the wide, flowing ends and same effect as if made in the old way. It will stand the strain of the pulling and give you long service.

These scarfs are shown here in a very attractive line of colors and designs.

The early fall styles are already beginning to show themselves at counters. Come in and look them over.
