What of Future.

One of the stock arguments of the bigots is that Catholics are unpatriotic. What an irreputable argument is presented now in France to this charge? It is announced in "La Croix" that the total number of ecclesiastics and Brothers who have been called upon to leave parishes, convents, missions and colleges and seminaries for the French army is some thirty thousand? The paper goes on:-

How many of these have already fallen victims to their devotion and their heroism; how many parishes are without pastors; how many missions deprived of missionaries? Yet in the meantime, more than ever, under the spell of a religious revival, the harvest of souls is ripening and turning golden. But, alas! when the war is over, will the Father of the household have laborers enough to tend for the harvesting?

A pertinent comment is made as follows by "America" the Jesuit organ:-

It therefore calls upon the faithful to foster and make possible the development of new vocations by doing all in their power to contribute to the preparatory schools for this purpose. Some of the priests devoted to this work are at present conducting classes in Luxembourg and Belgium. What better way, asks the writer, to draw down blessings upon husbands, sons and brothers fighting at the front, than to contribute to the support of future priests and missionaries? Here doubtless will be one of the greatest questions facing Catholic France when the war has been concluded. It is wise indeed to make provision even at the present moment when other calls are so insistent.

Mexico

Evidence multiplies that Mexican conditions are growing worse and worse. Even if President Diaz was an arrogant dictator, there was a measure of security to life and limb and property. Under those who came after Diaz, chaos is the order of the day. Building operations have ceased. Money is exceedingly scarce. And now the anarchists, akin to our own I. W. W.'s, are making more trouble for all concerned. Look upon this picture presented by the Mexican Herald of recent date:-

The manifestants gathered in the Casa del Obrero Mundial, in calle de San Juan de Letram, about 7 o'clock in the evening. At the head of the parade were the leaders of the Casa del Obrero (the I. W. W.), in an automobile carrying a red flag. The automobile was escorted by several armed men.

At the corner of Bolivar and 16 de Septiembre, Rosendo Salazar, one of the leaders of the Casa del Obrero, addressed the crowd, saying, in part, that the occasion had arrived to demonstrate to the world that the Mexican laborers, conscious of their rights, have raised the red flag of social revolution against the wealthy, the clergy, those who have exploited the laborers. To defend these ideals the members of the Casa del Obrero are going to the battlefield, the speaker added.

The oration ended by the speaker stating that now was the proper time to go into Catholic churches and demolish the statues of Christ, whom fanatics titled God of the Universe. Salazar added that Mexican workmen, following the example of the French, must start a social revolution and establish guillotines in every plaza to punish all enemies of the laboring classes. Salazar was applauded at the end of his address.

We commend this to the shouters for Carranza and Villa.

Waking Up.

As in France the war of the unbelievers upon the Church has had the effect of enlivening and rejuvenating the entire Catholic citizenship, so in the United States the attacks of the unthinking, uneducated, unrefined bigots quickened the faith and renewed the courage of the Catholic laity as well as opened the eyes of the thinking Protestants. Says the Brooklyn "Tablet":-

Extra masses and demands for extra curates were noted as Catholic news items in the secular press Catholic notes last Saturday night. All this is unpleasant news to the gentle bigots who are bent on the destruction of the Catholic Church. Never before has there been greater progress in the Catholic Church than at the present in our American civilization. The polecat press and its attacks have developed our laziest people into a zealous and energetic body. Opposition is the life of trade and God sometimes permits evil that good may follow. All this is evident nowadays to those who have eyes with which to see things.

Here in Rochester the attendance at both Sunday and week day services in Catholic Churches increases day by day. Protestant clergymen who have studied this condition are united in the opinion that Rochester Catholics, at least, have no need of the services of a "Billy Sunday."

Cause for Thanks.

We venture the opinion that most citizens of New York state have a sigh of relief when the State Legislature adjourns each year notwithstanding the fact that the same citizens hailed the beginning of the Legislature with fond hopes that great accomplishments were likely during the session about to begin.

Undoubtedly, we expect too much of our legislators. Very likely, we fall into the error of imagining that the particular piece of legislation in which we are interested is the only important legislation to be considered and we also fall into another error; that of thinking our legislation should be passed in the form we want it to take regardless of how much damage it may do to another group of citizens residing in another section of the state.

As in other matters of import, so in legislation, we fail to appreciate that there may be another angle of consideration. Rarely, if ever, do we stop to think what are the feelings or opinions of the other chap. Were we more considerate of the feelings of our neighbor, much more might be accomplished in the way of useful legislation.

Will or will not Billy Sunday be invited to Rochester?

Thus early in the game the supporters of the new city administration in Chicago are demanding the elimination of all Catholics from official places.

The new Catholic Men's Charity League presents the very best field for real social service - service to hampered and hemmed in by preconceived ideas which must be upheld and vindicated.

This is an Interesting Story.

Now that Charlotte is to be annexed to the city, would it not be well for you to purchase an automobile so that you could run down there often on the hot days. The Strong & Crittenden Co., on Clinton Ave. South, opposite Washington Square have a "car that has a marvelous motor" and if you purchase a Chandler, Light Six, you could go to the lake in a few minutes.

The Sager Shock Absorber should be put on your automobile as it insures easy riding over the bumps.
