Woman's World

General in Chief of the Suffrage Forces of the Keystone State

Mrs. FRANK M. ROESSING

Mrs. Frank M. Roessing, president of the Pennsylvania Woman Suffrage Association, is a new type of suffrage leader. As general in chief of the suffrage forces of the Keystone State she is conducting a campaign for the ballot, which, because of the dignity and common sense that characterize it, has gained the respect and admiration of the entire country.

Sensational stunts that have nothing but their sensationalism to commend them have no place in the Pennsylvania suffrage campaign. Although still in the early thirties, Mrs. Roessing has achieved distinction as both a civic worker and philanthropist, as well as leader of the state suffrage forces. Moreover, her civic and sociological work has always been along constructive lines, with the betterment of evil conditions as the goal to be achieved.

Through the women's clubs of her home city, Pittsburgh, she worked for years to secure better living conditions for women and children. As secretary of the Twentieth Century club and as treasurer of the Playground association she made an enviable reputation both as an executive and financier.

Mrs. Roessing's interest in suffrage came as a development of her active experiences as a civic worker, for she learned early the difficulties of attempting to better conditions for women and children through "indirect influence." She found, she says, that without the ballot even the most earnest workers were handicapped. Therefore she determined to secure the power which it represented for the women who need it most in her opinion—the women of the factory and mill.

Her success in this task is shown by the growth of interest in the suffrage question in Pennsylvania during the past few years. This year through her generalship the question goes directly to the voters for the first time. Powerful interests are fighting the Pennsylvania suffragists, but Mrs. Roessing does not fear the outcome.

"We will win," she said recently, "because the majority of men in the state believe in fair play. And that is what the question of suffrage finally resolves itself into—just fair play."

THE SUMMER ROOM.
 White, Black and Rose Make Stunning Decorative Scheme.
 The fad for black and white wall papers grows apace, and the creation of cretonnes to use with such wall paper is black of ground and splashed over with great, glowing red roses. Can you visualize the smartness of a country house living room papered in black and white stripes, hung with a few black framed etchings and one or two gilt framed mirrors, and furnished with black wicker furniture and this splendid rose covered black cretonne?

Household Chatter

The Making of Pastry.
 The making of good pastry is an art not subject to accurate teaching. It is the mixture and handling of the dough rather than in the proper use of ingredients used. Recipes for pastry may differ and produce different results. Proper manipulation of the dough is the touch that must be acquired.

A rule to be remembered in making pastry is that only light hands make good pastry. Fine white flour makes the lightest pastry, but this is not necessary except for puff paste. Ordinary household flour can be used.

All flours, with their raising agents, should be thoroughly sifted and aerated before mixing. Butter and lard may be used in equal proportions and pure vegetable butters or fats are excellent. Heavily salted cooking butter should be avoided, as it is likely to have a strong taste. Time and trouble will be saved in the mixing if the fat when at all hard is first beaten to a cream.

All pastry should be rolled with very cold water. The dough and fat should be worked lightly and the dough rolled out with short sharp rolls, in the pin constantly and never at the edges. Pastry should be handled as little as possible and the first roll is rolled in the best. Bake in a hot oven so that it may rise quickly, open the oven door only when necessary and be careful not to bang it when closing.

Here is an English recipe for pastry with directions for mixing it:
 Half a pound of flour, four ounces of butter or other fat, one teaspoonful of baking powder. Mix the flour and baking powder well together and add salt to taste. Cream the butter or fat on a plate and divide it into four parts. Rub one-quarter lightly into the flour. Then mix with a little water into the center, use a knife for mixing and make an elastic dough. Flour the board and pin and roll the paste into a long strip. Put on another portion of the fat in little dabs and lay one on top of the other, pound with the pin and roll out again. Repeat this performance until the fourth portion of butter is used.

The pastry then is ready for use. Roll it out again, cut it in the desired sizes and bake in a hot oven. Flaky pastry rises in layers, air being rolled in at each turn.
 This method will produce a flaky, light, flaky pastry if the directions are followed carefully.

The Garbage Bucket.
 If the housewife, after buying a new garbage bucket, will paint the inside black and then shellac it, she will find that it will last twice as long. It will hold none of the odor and will shine out very easily, not to mention the scrubbing which is taken to keep the ordinary bucket clean and sanitary. Then, if she will fold newspaper, opening it first to the fullest extent, in wide pleats from margin to margin, and opening it again, pull it into a circle, she will have a perfect lining for the bucket, which will insure its emptying clean each time it is emptied.

Washing Summer Dresses.
 In washing summer dresses of colored linen it is an excellent plan to get a package of dye and put it into boiling water, making just the shade of the dress (not its first). And as quickly as the dress is washed clean and rinse in salted water to set the color; dip it in the dye and let it stand for ten minutes. Then put it into the starch and hang it on the line in the shade without wringing and iron while it is still damp.

Egg Substitutes.
 When eggs are high one hesitates to make white cake, especially if she does not care to use the yolks for something else. It is not necessary to use egg whites at all. Simply use gelatin instead. One tablespoonful of the dry gelatin equals three eggs. Dissolve it in cold water and add enough boiling water to make a cupful. Beat with an egg beater and add to cake.

How to Treat the Sting.
 To alleviate the stings given by summer insects first remove the sting with a needle if it is left in the wound; then press a key over the stung part tightly, thus forcing out the poison. Wash the wound and apply a liniment made of finely scraped chalk and olive oil mixed together to the thickness of cream.

Brass Cleaning.
 For brasses that have become tarnished an excellent method of cleaning is to use equal parts of vinegar and salt. Smear thoroughly with the mixture, then let it dry on, and when thoroughly dry wash it off with hot soapy water and polish dry with a soft flannel cloth.
To Clean White Furniture.
 To clean the fashionable white painted furniture, which often becomes spotted and dirty in appearance, use clear turpentine on a soft cloth. This will remove all the dirt without taking off the gloss. Use soap and water always are sure to do.

Can't Get the Baby in Summer

When the baby is born, the mother is often told that she should not give the baby anything to eat or drink until he is six weeks old. This is a very old and entirely untrue idea. The baby should be given something to eat and drink as soon as he is able to do so.

One of the most important things for the mother to do is to keep the baby's stomach cool. This can be done by giving the baby a few drops of water every hour or so. If the baby is not able to drink water, a few drops of a weak solution of sugar water may be given.

It is also important to keep the baby's skin cool. This can be done by using a light, airy cloth for the baby's clothing. The baby should be bathed in cool water every day. If the baby is hot, a cool compress may be applied to his forehead.

Another important thing for the mother to do is to keep the baby's mouth clean. This can be done by giving the baby a few drops of water every hour or so. If the baby is not able to drink water, a few drops of a weak solution of sugar water may be given.

Clams and Eggs.
 A lightweight more with cream and only vague water makes it good for sick and frock and is not so extensively used and much more in combination with other ingredients than alone.
 As for infants, it seems to have been one of the top boys in favor, but instead being made up in combination with cream more often is really a reminiscence of 1860 and in many cases with much fussiness of infantile fall.
 Viewing the fashion and its influence and impartially we are impressed with the fact that an exaggerated fashion threatens to characterize the summer modes. The fever dressmaker of the fever woman will spread her wings.
