NEW DIRECTOR OF BUREAU OF MINES

Vanoy H. Manning, Former Acting Head, Promoted.

Vanoy H. Manning, the new head of the bureau of mines, is a man particularly well fitted by education and training for this responsible position.

VANOY H. MANNING. Tried in congress. Young Manning graduated from the University of Mississippi and after two years has been engaged in technical and scientific work under the department of the interior.

When the bureau of mines was established in 1910 Mr. Manning was appointed to an administrative position in the bureau by Secretary Bailew and on Jan. 1, 1911, was made assistant director.

During his service with the bureau Mr. Manning has had charge of methods relating to appointments, expenditures and the conduct of investigations.

By attending to a mass of detail work Mr. Manning enabled Dr. Holmes to give attention to matters of policy and to the co-ordination of the work of the bureau with that of other government and private institutions seeking to increase safety and efficiency in the mining, quarrying and metallurgical industries.

Since Dr. Holmes was obliged by falling health to relinquish his duties Mr. Manning has continued the educational work of safety and health that the bureau is conducting in the mining and metallurgical districts of the United States.

ORVILLE WRIGHT RETIRING. Will Quit His Business to Devote Himself to Laboratory Work. It is announced that Orville Wright will give up aeroplane manufacture to devote himself to research work.

He will either sell the Wright plant at Dayton, O., or relinquish control. "I cannot say how soon this change will come about," said Mr. Wright in an interview the other day.

ORVILLE WRIGHT. The inventor for years has had the ambition to develop and amplify his research work, but since the death of his brother Wilbur several years ago his time has been taken up almost entirely by the management of his business and patent litigation.

He has been working recently on a new 120 horse power engine, which he has not yet put on the market, and also on several new models of aeroplanes.

POPULAR MECHANICS

Automatic Safe Lock.

To protect vaults from being broken into by crackmen, a secret auxiliary locking device has been invented which acts automatically when the combination of a safe is disturbed.

Making Impressions of Leaves. Grease a piece of heavy writing paper with linseed oil, and smoke the surface well by lighting a small piece of camphor gum and holding the paper over the flame.

Care should be taken not to move the leaf the least bit either in coating it with the smoke or in transferring it to the paper.

Lock of Many Combinations. In France an inventor has recently produced a lock which is capable of being changed at will into any one of 10,000 combinations.

Leave Room For the Wrench. Designers of machinery and particularly engines often overlook, in their endeavor to secure compactness, the fact that a wrench at times has to be used on the various nuts.

To Remove Cotter Pins. While removing cotter pins is generally considered more or less of an easy matter, repair men can learn something new.

Removing Putty Stains. Putty purchased from a dealer is usually in a soft and oily state, and the amateur glazier soon finds his hands, as well as the tools, plentifully smeared after the job is finished.

A Mint For Motorists. The motorists should give special care to seeing that the mud guard beneath the engine and gearbox is kept free of volatile oil.

Staffed Tomatoes. Cut a thin slice from the stem end of six tomatoes. Remove the pulp and mix it with an equal amount of buttered cracker crumbs.

Wash and stew five pounds of grapes over a slow fire until soft. Strain through a sieve and add to the pulp two and one-half pounds of sugar, one tablespoonful each of ground cinnamon and allspice, one-half tablespoonful of ground cloves, one-half tablespoonful of black pepper, one-half tablespoonful of salt and one pint of vinegar.

Maryland Oyster Stew. Take one quart oysters. Put one pint water in a saucepan and let it simmer, then rub the yolks of three hard boiled eggs and one spoonful of flour together and stir in. Put in also one-fourth pound butter in small pieces, the juice of a lemon, salt and pepper. Let it simmer ten minutes, then add the oysters and serve immediately.

Grape Ketchup. Wash and stew five pounds of grapes over a slow fire until soft. Strain through a sieve and add to the pulp two and one-half pounds of sugar, one tablespoonful each of ground cinnamon and allspice, one-half tablespoonful of ground cloves, one-half tablespoonful of black pepper, one-half tablespoonful of salt and one pint of vinegar.

Helpful Hints For Housewives. Handy Contrivance For Pressing Jelly Bags. The simple, handy contrivance here illustrated for busy jelly-making days consists of two pieces of wood fifteen inches in length, joined at the larger ends with a stout hinge.

Fried Oysters. Select the largest oysters. Wash quickly and lay carefully on a colander to drain. Dry quickly and pat with a soft cloth, handling as little as possible.

Key Used With Variable Lock. A lock which by loosening the thumbcrew may be moved transversely. To alter the combination of the lock the key is inserted into it and given one turn.

Pumpkin Custards. Cook the pumpkin as for pumpkin pie. Press through a colander. Beat three eggs without separating, add to them two cupfuls of milk and one cupful of the pumpkin pulp.
