Fur Trimmed Suits for Crisp October Days

Weeks ago we sensed out the demand for fur-trimmed suits and coats and provided accordingly. In consequence we had our orders placed before the great advance in fur prices which are now almost prohibitive. We have also been pioneers in bringing out new models in fur-trimmed suits, which have taken the popular fancy like wildfire.

These things and many others make this shop authoritative and one you must look to for the best in style at all times. Then our policy of maintaining a strict ownership over the materials or workmanship that enter into our garments makes it worth while to trade here.

Here is Important News for Intending Purchasers of Furs

Our daily advices from the skin markets show a marked advance in the prices of practically all skins, and indications point toward a still greater advance in the near future.

Our early liberal purchases, when prices were even below normal, enables us to offer quality furs at prices considerably lower than the present market level.

Naturally these prices can prevail only while the present supply lasts and for this reason it is well to make an early selection.
