SCIENCE—INVENTION.

Effect of Impurities in Iron. All of the ordinary impurities in iron, with the exception of manganese, are electro-negative to it, which means that a current will flow from one to the other in the presence of an electrolyte.

Anthracite Coal Output. Pennsylvania produced 81,090,031 long tons (90,821,507 short tons) of anthracite in 1914, according to figures made public by the United States geological survey.

Welded Steel Casements. After considerable experimenting a metal casement has been evolved which can be used in conjunction with wood frames.

low priced houses. A natural development of the extensive use of the metal casement and frame is residential construction where a wide field is available for the use of this type of casement.

Our Sources of Lumber. The Pacific northwest now furnishes only one-sixth of the annual timber cut, though it contains practically one-half of the standing timber in the United States.

Speed and Tire Service. A set of tires on any make of car that is driven over a fairly good road at a speed of thirty-five or forty miles an hour with ordinary care will almost invariably give their guaranteed mileage plus a great deal more.

Waterproofing a Waxed Finish. A waxed finish may be effectually protected against water or other form of moisture by applying the following coating: Zanzibar copal varnish, boiled linseed oil and spirits of turpentine.

Pure Iron Useless. Chemically pure iron is little more than a laboratory curiosity. Certainly it is not available for commercial use in building bridges and skyscrapers.

HINTS FOR THE BUSY HOUSEWIFE

Handy Device For Polishing Table Cutlery.

Ordinary washing will clean the surfaces of table ware, but to get the polish required by neat housekeepers is necessary. An implement for this purpose has recently been patented by a Philadelphia inventor and is herewith illustrated.

Fried Chicken. Clean carefully, draw and disjoint the fowl. Season well and roll each piece in flour.

Steamed Pudding. Into a small pan put a teacupful of good molasses, one of milk, one of chopped suet, one of seedless raisins and a teacupful of salt.

Apple Puff. Cook half a cupful of flour in one pint of milk in a double boiler for fifteen minutes.

Pumpkin Pie. To a teacupful of sifted pumpkin add half a teacupful of sugar, three table-spoonfuls of maple or any good molasses, a pinch of salt, heaping table-spoonful of cornstarch, a teacupful of ginger and a teacupful of rich milk.

Creamed Chicken. Cook a good fat hen till the flesh falls from the bones. Pick the meat into small bits, but do not chop or grind it.

Oysters and Macaroni. Cook one cupful of macaroni until tender. Butter a baking dish; fill dish with layers of macaroni and oysters alternating, seasoning each layer with butter, pepper and salt.

Leaf Cake. Sift three teacupfuls of flour with two slightly heaped teacupfuls of baking powder. Beat together a teacupful and a half of sugar, a teacupful each of butter and sweet milk, two-thirds of a teacupful of seeded raisins, a little nutmeg; then stir in the flour and beat well.

Violin Varnish. Dissolve twelve parts of sandarac, six parts of shellac, six parts of mastic, three parts of elemi gum in 150 parts of alcohol.

YOUNG FOLKS' CORNER

Box Baseball.

Box baseball is an interesting game. It may be played out of doors or in the house. To play it out of doors draw a 2 by 2 foot square, marking it off in four squares. The figure 1 is marked in the back left hand square, 2 in the left front square, 3 in right front square and 4 in home in back right square.

"The King of France." In the game of France the leader instructs the other players, who sit or stand in a circle, that each must repeat or do whatever the leader says or does. He then begins by saying, "The king of France is dead," at the same time turning his head toward the right.

A Daisy Party. At any paper novelty house many daisies can be purchased, and they must have just eight petals. The operator gives the yellow centers, black which the petals were neatly cut off and hidden around the lower floor of the house.

Using a Blanket as an Overcoat. To make a regulation sized overcoat from a blanket fold the blanket lengthwise, narrow end up. The blanket should strike you about the knees just where you want the coat to be.

Sounds of Nature. The inhabitants of a frog pond closed at hand awakened two little girls who were spending their first night in the country. First came the high piping voice of a little "peeper."

Mother Goose Wisdom. He that would thrive Must rise at five. He that hath thriven May be ill served. And he who by the plow would thrive Himself must either hold or drive.
