AN ENGLISH EFFECT. A Beautiful Quality of Better Green Broadcloth is Used Here.

A HANDSOME FROCK. Becoming to the Woman Who Can Wear Rather Severe Effects. Sage green, worked with a blouse that has set-on box plait seemingly continued down the skirt, makes this good looking costume.

A SMART STREET SUIT. This rather juvenile trotter has a box coat with interesting buttons grouped in a novel way as fasteners.

COMFORT AND STYLE. Has braid trimming at the bottom of the plait, the same effect being gained at the waist line.

Cup Custards (Boiled). Heat a quart of milk in a double boiler, but do not bring it quite to the boil.

That Petticoat Plounce. This season the petticoat plounce is usually meant to distend the bottom of the dress skirt with which it is worn—usually, but not always.

When Your Sweater is Soiled. Knitted or crocheted sweaters or scarfs can be washed to look like new if the sweater is faded as fast as possible.

How to Dress Children It is the worst of mistaken pride to overdress a baby. If ever simplicity needs to be thrust upon any one the baby is the proper object.

It is understood that the president consulted his business before deciding to accept the offer of his New Jersey friends.

Shadow Lawn was built by James Cary of Long Branch in 1908 for John A. McCall, the insurance company president.

Many mothers wisely dress their little girls in cotton frocks all winter. With leggings, sweaters, bloomers and warm coats for outdoor life this costume makes for comfort in staid heated homes.

Waxy footwear is attractive, but grays little hands and soiled socks are not a little good quality, black and black-ox-leather shoes are always presentable and with leggings are comfortable all winter.

No two of the dresses will look alike, yet when they are too much worn for further use you can easily make from the portions still in good condition two dresses which will look as well as entirely new ones.
