How to Dress Children It is the worst of mistaken pride to overdress a baby. If ever simplicity needs to be thrust upon any one the baby is the proper object.

Woman's World Mrs. Norman Galt, Future Mistress of Summer White House.

It is the worst of mistaken pride to overdress a baby. If ever simplicity needs to be thrust upon any one the baby is the proper object. The clothes may be as dainty as you please, but they must be simple and the fewer the better.

Many mothers wisely dress their little girls in cotton frocks all winter. With leggings, sweaters, bloomers and warm coats for outdoor life this costume makes for comfort in staid heated homes.

When Your Sweater is Soiled. Knitted or crocheted sweaters or scarfs can be washed to look like new if the sweater is faded as fast as possible, pinned carefully in a pillowcase

That Petticoat Plunge. This season the petticoat founce is usually meant to distend the bottom of the dress skirt with which it is worn—usually, but not always.

Cup Custards (Boiled). Heat a quart of milk in a double boiler, but do not bring it quite to the boil. Beat five eggs light and stir into them half a cupful of sugar.

Two Famous Recipes. A delicious recipe for pumpkin pie consists of a pumpkin cut into small pieces in which the soft part and seeds have been removed.

Even if a mince pie is not served for Thanksgiving dinner, the provident housewife will now prepare her mince pie, that it may be well stocked for the Christmas dinner.

Mrs. Norman Galt will be the future mistress of Shadow Lawn, the beautiful estate at Ellicott, N. Y., which has been offered to the president as a summer home.

It is understood that the president consulted his business before deciding to accept the offer of his New Jersey friends. He is going to pay for the house the same rental he paid for his former summer home in New Hampshire.

Shadow Lawn was built by James Cary of Long Branch in 1908 for John A. McCall, the insurance company president, at a cost of more than $500,000. The house stands on a knoll about fifty feet above the level of the ocean, which is less than a mile away.

Mrs. Galt has returned the call to the Cabinet ladies who called upon her. Mrs. Lansing made a call immediately after the announcement of the nomination, as did Mrs. Lane, who has enjoyed a personal acquaintance with Mrs. Galt for several years.

One of the first of the congressional matrons to pay this compliment to the president's bride-elect was Mrs. Woodrow Longworth on her recent short stop to Washington.

The suit which it is understood that Mrs. Galt intends to wear on the wedding journey is a striking one in soft green drapery with a dark blue and white check of heavy material.

When the president's bride-elect was in Washington, she was seen in a suit of soft green and white. The suit shows a strong Chinese influence. The skirt has a very narrow band of green georgette, banded in tulle, and is fitted and mounted on a tulle skirt.
