

Every One Chases the Turkey at This Time

"Giva da tark," grins the red-shafted little Italian woman, picking her way through the wet alleys of the city market place. She reaches the stalls where live birds are being sold to these hardy souls who are equal to the task of carrying their purchases home, squawking and struggling through the city streets.

INTRODUCING THE THANKSGIVING BIRD themselves. Italian, Greek, Norwegi an, Russian and German, they know "tark" or "turk."

Thanksgiving day ought to mean much to churchgoers. It is the one day in the year on which Catholics sink all their differences and unite in a common worship before God.

Turkey Not From Turkey. It is unfortunate that such a truly American product as the turkey should have received such a name. Just how it came to be christened "turkey" is a matter of conjecture, but one early writer says it appears to have been intended as a satire upon the solemn strut of the bird, which might appear to give it a resemblance to the pompous stride of a Turk.

Not Many "Vermont Turkeys." A standard form of printed bill of fare used by restaurants, hotels and steamboats always announces that the turkey is from Vermont. Vermont farmers have done great things in recent years in improving breeds of turkeys and in marketing choice kinds but the state does not account for a per cent of the trade in fine turkeys.

REASONS FOR THANKFULNESS.

For the manifold blessings that Almighty God has showered upon us during the past year; for prosperous industries and fertile fields; for contented homes and peaceful wars; for the growing recognition that whatever is of solid benefit to a single division of our people must in time be of benefit to the people as a whole; for the extension of education and the fostering of the arts and sciences; for our preservation from food and famine, plague and drought—for these tokens of the benignant and beneficent care of a watchful Providence it is becoming that the people should gather to offer thanks to Almighty God.

Bobby Burns' Thanksgiving Grace

Some hae meat and canna eat, And some would eat that want it, But we hae meat, and we can eat, Sae let the Lord be thankit.

We have especial cause of congratulation in the advance of science and virtue in our midst. It is fitting that we should, as a people, acknowledge our obligations and render our thanks to the gracious Author of all our mercies.

What Bessie Is Thankful For

It's dot a pretty dolly, An' it's dot a nice new rick, It's dot a picture book an' ring, An' much more fins' an' dat.

HE OUGHT TO BE GRATEFUL.

What Better Fate For the Turkey Than Making a Whole Nation Glad? What finish more honorable and impressive for a bird than to be fated to do to make happy an entire nation?

Thanksgiving Pumpkin Pie. In the Woman's Home Companion of that publication, presented a number of November recipes, among which is the following for pumpkin pie.

Indiana Like Turkey Feathers. Turkey feathers rank next in importance to those of the eagle with all Indian tribes, while the Apaches, the Pawnee and Cheyennes chose the turkey feathers for all ceremonial head-dresses and ornaments. The Pawnee tribe also used turkey feathers for ornamental purposes on their clothing, as well as for their headdress. This day when they don their native costumes the turkey feather is preferred as ornament by many of the Indians of America.

Be thankful for plenty of work, a heart to work, strength for work and fellowship in work. Those who will find it most difficult to be thankful are those who do not know the luxury of work.

Thanksgavi. Luck

Thanksgiving comes upon the trail Of Autumn's russet gown, And, never mind how much we rail At price of turkey, pig or quail. We'll eat our dinner without fail And chuckle when it's down.

ONE LONG HAPPY HEARTFELT SIGH

Nobody ever counts the cost Of chicken, pie or duck When in Thanksgiving morning's frost The appetite we thought we'd lost Comes back, for only then we wish We might have emptied every dish. And even if the price was high Our one long, happy, heartfelt sigh Is for our great good luck.

Thanksgiving day is a festival for elderly people. The movement on that day is toward the home where the father and mother, the grandfather and grandmother, live. It matters not if we have made a home for ourselves and if it be ever so happy, it is to the home of boyhood or girlhood that we turn on this day.

Thanksgiving's Uplift

Persons who are modern and ungrateful refuse to be preached to. They do not go to church on Thanksgiving day. They stay at home and read novels or newspapers and yawn and wish the shops were open so that some one would come in for a game of bridge, or perhaps they go to the martinee. But when the shadows fall there is no sense of serenity or of peace such as broods over a household where every member has received a spiritual uplift from the observance of a day of thanks.

The Basis of Thankfulness. The unquashed acceptance of life, with all its mystery and pain, all its labor and weariness and yet with all its sweetness and joy and all its latent potentiality—that is and forever must be the basis of true gratitude, the one great theme for thanks. Unless you are grateful for life itself you cannot be truly glad for anything that life contains. But being grateful for life itself adds a tinge of celestial glory to every simple blessing and makes today akin to the vast forever.

King Edward Liked Turkey. The late King Edward VII, of England, traveling in America in 1890, conceived a liking for roasted turkey with oyster and chestnut dressing and with cranberry sauce and for Albanian pippins and Baldwin apples. In after years, when he came into possession of Sandringham he caused arrangements to be made by his steward and his household to have those delicacies forwarded from America at regular times.

"Think of your mercies, children," is a very good quotation to bear in mind whenever troubles threaten to overwhelm us, and really if you do think of your mercies you will surely find that the troubles and the mercies are about evenly balanced in most lifetimes, even though during their visitations we do not always think so.

Broil With Gas. There is no comparison between a fried steak and one that is broiled. The broiled steak is more juicy, more palatable, and authorities say, more easily digested. Gas for broiling has all the advantages of other fuels without their disadvantages. The gas fire is absolutely clean and can be controlled to a nicety—therefore it is more sanitary and the results more satisfactory. Use the Broiler in Your Gas Range.
