In his act at the Avon Theater he impersonates the characters at a performance in an English Music Hall and plays all the parts him-

Harvey De Vora Trio, Will Hale & Co., Frankie Fay and Walter Elliott, helped by his wife Grace Elliott make up the vaudeville part of the show for the first part of the week. Of course there's a big feature picture "Drugged! Waters". The Franconi Opera Co., one of the real big things in vaudeville, that smart people like, will feature the programme the last three days. Others on the bill include Quinn & Mitchell, in a new not of fun "The Bunkem Gold Mine"; Mlle. Oberita and her girls, a dancing treat and two comedy ac's. "Hop" a bit of Chinatown is the photoplay.
