Baby Love

By ETHEL HOLMES

That love which springs up between two young persons of opposite sex...

Forty-eight hours' absence from his love was quite enough to cause him to forget the responsibilities...

At half past 7 he could stand it no longer and started for her home...

"All a mistake!" His heart said within him.

"Yes, it is impossible that you can love me and remain away from me all these long days."

"All these long days? Why, we have been engaged only since the night before last."

"I sat here in this window waiting for you till 9 o'clock, then went to bed and cried all night."

"Poor, dear little girl," he said, winding his arms about her and smugling her face—or, rather, her lips—against his.

The first spasm of baby love had passed and was succeeded by a shadow of reprieve.

He started to go at 2 a. m. to get to the drawing room door at 2:30 and the last kiss was at 2:30 in the vestibule.

Baby love didn't have a spasm or anything else for another two days. Meanwhile Charlie was getting down to engaged life quite rapidly.

"It's perfectly evident," said Rosa, withdrawing from him as he advanced to give the usual lovers' salute.

"What can't go on any longer?" "Why, your indifference to me when we are in other company."

"Do you think that your treatment of me at Mrs. Randall's garden party was such as I have a right to expect?"

"You know very well what you did. When I asked you to get me an ice, instead of doing so at once you continued your conversation with Mrs. Fitz Gerald, paying no attention to me what ever."

"Mrs. Fitz Gerald was telling me an incident that happened to her. I could not break away from her in the middle of her story, could I?"

"You didn't wish to break away from her. You were listening with rapt attention."

any reply to make, was silent. She had had her say and was ready to make it up.

She stood looking down at the floor, and as there was no antagonism in her expression Charlie went to her and took her in his arms.

Charlie looked that the end of these proxy marriages was with marriage. They did not end with the wedding day nor with the honeymoon. Not till a real baby came was there a perceptible change.

Ly discovered that he had found another love which took the edge off the first. A genuine and disinterested love.

Stephen Foster's Ballads Won the Heart of America.

Stephen C. Foster, the writer of American ballads, the producer of America's most distinctive songs...

In that day many persons sang and played. Every little hamlet had its singing society. Music was in the hands of the people and for the people.

Stephen Foster composed his songs for the people and even of the people. He wrote "The Old Folks at Home," "Nellie Gray," "My Old Kentucky Home," "Come Where My Love Lies Dreaming."

These and others from his pen have survived many strange and weird twists and turns in the history of American music.

Foster's name may not be entitled to place with great composers, and must claim a more contemptuously away from his songs but his songs live.

That may not make them greater music in the judgment of musicians, but it gives them claim to respect.

We have a "popular" song writer today. His number is legion. But there is no Foster among them.

A Musician's Memory. I carry my thoughts about me for a long time, often a very long time before I write them down.

My memory is so faithful that I am sure never to forget, not even in years, a theme that has once occurred to me.

I chance many things and try again until I am satisfied. You will ask me where I get my ideas. They come unannounced, directly, indirectly.

I could seize them with my hands—out in the open air, in the woods, while walking in the silence of the nights, early in the morning, incited by moods which are translated by the poet into words by the intonation that sound and form about me.

The largest known to botanists is the "banyan." It is found only on the island of Atchin, the most southern of the Philippine group.

Its scientific name is Ficus religiosa. Its native name is the "banyan tree." The tree was first discovered in January, 1850, by an exploring expedition, headed by Dr. Alexander Schimper.

A single flower weighs from eighteen to twenty pounds.

Sad. "I went joy riding last night" and the trip proved an unfortunate ending.

Mixed Metaphor. King Edward VIII, when he was Prince of Wales, once made a funny mixture of metaphors.

CONSCIENCE. Conscience is just the best monitor. It treats promises, rewards and punishments and keeps all under its control.

Holy Family.

Solemn vespers were held Easter Sunday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock.

The funeral of Henry Gabe was held on Monday morning.

The funeral of Elizabeth Teller took place at 9 o'clock.

Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock a mass was held and Mr. and Mrs. Fess of Gates who celebrated their golden wedding anniversary attended.

School opened on Wednesday. Next Sunday members of the C. M. B. A., and the Holy Name Society will receive Holy Communion at the 7:30 o'clock mass.

The funeral of Mary A. Lintz took place Thursday morning at 8:30 o'clock from the home at 345 Child Street, and at 9 o'clock from this church.

Requiem mass was celebrated by Rev. John Balducci at 9 o'clock from the home at 345 Child Street, and at 9 o'clock from this church.

St. Andrew's Church. Friday evening, a most exciting indoor baseball game took place between St. Andrew's and St. Boniface men at our hall.

Leo Doerr was captain of St. Andrew's team and Mr. George Frank, captain of St. Boniface's team.

Confessions will be heard next Thursday afternoon and evening in preparation for the first Friday of the month.

Holy Communion will be distributed next Friday morning at 6, 7 and at the 8 o'clock mass.

Holy Redeemer. Dominic Staub died Wednesday aged 93 years. He was born in Baden, Germany, in 1823 and came to Rochester in 1850.

He leaves three sons, Rev. J. F. Staub, rector of Holy Redeemer church; Otto B. Staub and William J. Wilson; a daughter, Mrs. George C. Vogt, No. 137 Lincoln street.

St. Monica. At this church Tuesday morning, Miss Carrie R. Noonan, daughter of Mrs. Anna Noonan, of No. 76 Elmdorf Ave., became the bride of William J. Nolan, formerly of Auburn.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. John P. Brophy, rector of the church, and was witnessed by many of the relatives and friends of the young couple.

"GREAT IRISH MINSTRELS"

On next Monday and Wednesday evenings, May 1st and 3rd, the annual performance of the Great Irish Minstrels, under the auspices of the Cathedral Men's Association, will be held in Cathedral Hall and bids fair to be the most unique and successful production yet staged.

As usual it will consist of two parts, part one, a prologue-olio and part two, the Minstrels proper.

The prologue will be dedicated to the children, who will open with a great chorus and sing "Achushla, I Love You," which will be followed by the famous "Irish Lilt" which is being trained especially for this occasion and will be danced by forty children.

The "Bagpipes" will be heard in an individual number by Robert Gray and the Irish "Jig" will be exemplified by Messrs. McMahon, O'Hara and Murphy in individual and trio work.

Master Harold Bieck, famous soprano boy soloist, will sing and Mr. Harold B. Turpin will sing some typical Irish folk songs.

The second part when the curtain goes up, will reveal a typical cross-road country scene, with "Kate Carney's Cottage" at the entrance of the gap Dunloe at the left, a "wishing well" in the center and the typical Irish "hedge" on the right.

The lakes of Killarney will be seen in the distance. As this beautiful scene is revealed from darkness to dawn, Mr. Ray Golding will sing a famous Irish lullaby from the door of the cottage.

There will be fine old Irish solos, quartette and octette work, besides the great chorus of fifty voices, all of whom will be costumed in typical Irish style, to represent the "Irish Gentleman." At a certain point in the Minstrels, Miss Minnie F. Doud will be introduced as the "Irish Colleen" and will sing "The Pretty Maid Milking her Cow," to be followed by the "Last Rose of Summer."

The Minstrels will close with a touch of patriotism and reference to the preparedness by the singing of "America I Love You," and the formation of the entire troupe in military order, with American flags dropping down on either side, with a pantomime effect of a young woman representing "Erin" standing by an electrified harp.

The musical direction is under the care of Miss Minnie F. O'Loughlin for the children and Prof. Wenzel J. Dousek for the Minstrels proper. Mr. Michael Mongovan has charge of the stage setting, and the costumes have been ordered from the A. W. Tams Co., of New York City.

Popular prices will prevail and 750 reserved seats will be at the disposal of the public each night. Cathedral Hall in being appropriately decorated for the occasion.

Reservations at Gibbons and Stone, 172 Main Street, East on Saturday, Monday and Wednesday.

Skeletons.

Skeletons are used in cemeteries, laboratories and museums. After battles they are frequently bleached before being stored away for the winter.

Everybody has a skeleton, without which one would fall around like a jellyfish, and instead of going to bed at night we would have to be hung over a clotheshorse. Indeed, life without a skeleton would be one long, dreary flop.

Skeletons come in a lot of assorted bones, which are more or less securely fastened together by the department store clerk who fastened them together before they went out of the shop.

When the first skeleton was constructed one of its bones got away and has caused much trouble ever since. Some wear clothes over their skeletons—life.

Post's Thanks. One day a lady called on Post, the famous song writer, and announced her intention of singing two of his songs at a concert.

"I thought I would just run round and try them over with you," she said. Post remarked that he was not in the habit of giving lessons in that manner, whereupon the lady retorted: "Very well, I will not sing your songs then."

Post's face beamed as he advanced toward her with outstretched hands. "Madam," he said, "I thank you very much for that favor."

WHY SPRING COLDS ARE DANGEROUS

Neglected They Lead to Serious, Perhaps Fatal Results.

If you get cold at this time of year and try to "let it wear off," it frequently develops into a stubborn throat trouble which may in turn become chronic asthma, bronchitis or worse.

It is important to remember that Father John's Medicine relieves colds because it nourishes body-building elements which give strength to the system and enable each organ to resume its normal functions.

Father John's Medicine is not a patent medicine, contains no injurious drugs, but is a pure food medicine for those who are weak and run down.
