

Snapshots at the Sports Arena

Herzog, Great Infielder. Charlie (Buck) Herzog, one-time manager of the Cincinnati Reds and former star infielder of the New York Giants...

HERZOG, GREAT INFILDER. Photo by American Press Association. Near being the classiest of them all. The proposition to have him return to the Giants met with much favor in New York.

Altrock Going Back

Nick Altrock, the funny man of Washington Nationals, realizes that even in comedy youth may be served. In a recent game in New York...

Murphy Buys Ball Parks

Charles W. Murphy, ex-president of the Chicago Nationals, is now the sole owner of the old park of the Cubs...

Robert is Haperted

Though he is hounded with the injury to his knee, John Robert is nevertheless a valuable man to the Giants...

Olding Comeback

Rube Olding, who recently joined the New York Yankees as a high grade outfielder and can also hold the bat...

Click to Coach

Frank Glick, captain of the Prince George's football team at Mercedesburg...

Light as Chaff

She Was a Woman

Anna, the old family servant, was sitting with her feet propped on a chair when the daughter entered...

Hardly Ever Anghted

The girl was sitting on a date with a fat man who looked like a pig. He was a great fellow, and he knew it...

True Love

About a year after Mrs. Smith got married her wife said to her one night "Jim, you do not speak so affectionately to me as you used to when we were first married. I fear you have ceased to love me."

Irish Ingenuity

An officer in an Irish regiment was much amused by a conversation which he overheard between two of his men who were watching the ascent of a captive observation balloon...

THE ROSES.

- A white rose bloomed in beauty. A red rose flushed in pride. The white rose dropped and faded. The red rose bent and died. But in the quiet old garden The sun held both as dear. And, passing in the even, The dew gave each a tear.

A Fish Story

By ALAN HINSDALE

In 1865 Bob Atherton, a soldier in the civil war, was discharged from the service and set about trying to make a living for which three years of soldiering had not prepared him...

Bob wouldn't have gone had he not believed there was no chance of him at home for he had a sweetheart whom he had promised to marry...

He went on to a sheep ranch, where he found more congenial occupation riding about in the open air...

JAPAN'S WOLFISH DOGS.

Famed for their Savage Ferocity and Tenacity of Grip. Most of the dogs in Japan are of the fox-breed and are quite different from the dogs in Western countries...

BYRON IN AN UGLY MOOD.

I have not yet read Byron's "Conversations," but there was an anecdote in one of the extracts which confirms what I heard long since...

HE SAVED TIME.

An English weaver who had spent two or three years in America was paying a visit to the old mill to see some of his former workmates...

CURIOUS OLD CLOCK.

In the tower of the town house of Heidelberg was an old clock so constructed that when the hours struck the figure of an old man pulled off his hat, a cock crowed and clapped his wings and soldiers fought with one another...

IT WON'T HARM THE PIGE.

Visitor—My good man, you keep your pigs much too near the house. Doctor—That's just what the doctor said, mum. But I don't see how it's going to hurt 'em.—London Punch.

SEVERAL FOREVERS.

This farmer was a very positive man. "Tar fencyposts," said he, "and they will last forever. I have tried it three times, and I know."—Christian Herald.

AN INFARE DINNER.

It Used to Be an Important Function For the Newly Wedded.

Were you ever invited to an infare dinner? You are familiar with the "house warming" if it is as likely to take place in midsummer as any other season...

THE HEAD OF THE HOUSE.

By ELENOR HOLMES

"Martha," said Mrs. Bumbleton, "how long are you going to let your husband tyrannize over you?" "Tyrannize over me? Why, mother, what do you mean?"

In the days of our grandfathers if the groom's mother failed to invite the bride to the infare dinner the day following the wedding it meant one thing and one thing only that she was not to be regarded as a member of her husband's family...
