A lawn festival under the auspices of the Young Ladies' Sodality of our church was held on the rectory grounds Tuesday evening which proved both a financial and social success. The big crowds that gathered in the tent enclosure on the velvety green wore a smile of contentment and enjoyed in pulling out "Prizes of Surprises" from the big Fish Pond. The admission fee also included ice cream and cake in which everybody made good this opportunity as the homemade mothers cake always appeals to the appetite. The big treat and headline amusement of the evening was furnished by the "Clown Skidoo Band" numbering twenty pieces and it can be truly said they furnished music with the "Kick" to it, playing the late up-to-date rags, polkas, jigs and popular melodies. The climax of the concert came when announcement was made that the manipulators of the brass instruments were invited to partake of the "Hots" popularly known as the "Hot Dogs" upon which the Director of the skidoo's formed rank marching toward the hot delicacies and in low bowed head the clowns played the dead march and after gazing upon the hot griddle and one long sigh the band struck up that popular tune "Fido is a hot dog now". Incidents of this nature and cut-ups were produced by these musical jesters throughout the evening which kept the crowd in good humor. The committee in charge was composed of Frances Wana-maker, Agnes Dobbertin, Estelle Temmerman, Josephine Kramer, Rosella Miller and Gertrude Dobbertin.

Bandmaster Createore

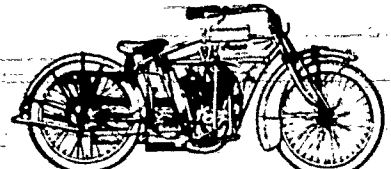

Giuseppe Createore and his famous band will come here to play at the Rochester Exposition which opens on Monday, Labor Day, for one week. Concerts will be given each afternoon and night, and will be free to Exposition visitors. Createore is the most interesting personality in the musical world today and the most successful of all band conductors. He and his band have appeared at every Exposition with the exception of 1915, and the thousands of music lovers who have enjoyed his incomparable playing will be delighted that he is to return this season. Createore's popularity has increased on each of his visits to the Exposition, which is shown by the numbers of those who have gathered around the band stand and remained throughout the programme.

Every member of the Createore organization must be a soloist and is required to be an artist of the first class before securing membership in the band.

Other free attractions at the Exposition next week will be air flights each afternoon about four o'clock by a Zeppelin warship, and every afternoon and night there will be seen on the midway several free open-air performances which are brought here at a large expense. There will be a large variety of shows on the midway, and several new features in this department will be of particular interest.
