MEXICAN REPUBLIC

It Owes Its Very Existence to the United States.

A MONROE DOCTRINE VICTORY

At a Time When We Had Troubles of Our Own We Said "Hands Off!" to the Powers of Europe That Tried to Raise a Monarchy in America.

If it had not been for the United States there would now be no republic of Mexico.

Take all the twenty republics south of us, Mexico has been under the protection of the Monroe doctrine. The doctrine has been often questioned by European powers, but only once has a serious attempt been made to violate it...

The hands of the American government were not too big for the job. The American people could not be silenced in the midst of our own war, when war with England seemed imminent, the house of representatives risked a vote...

Nothing more could be done at that time, but just as soon as our war was over General Grant proposed to organize an army of combined Union and Confederate soldiers who would volunteer to march to the City of Mexico and expel the Austrian emperor...

But fortunately for a peace was negotiated for the withdrawal of the French troops. The Mexican republicans under Juarez had been keeping up a brave fight for freedom although Maximilian had ordered all of their shot whenever caught, without trial or the possibility of pardon...

But the United States had to say "Hands off" to Austria as well as to France. Rather than have an Austrian archduke ignominiously dismounted from the throne it was planned to ship 10,000 American troops from Trieste to Vera Cruz...

JOHN MUIR AND HIS BREAD.

The Famous Naturalist Lived the Real Simple Life.

The naturalist and explorer, John Muir, was a curiously simple man as simple in his tastes and appetites as in his views of life and conduct.

He lived almost exclusively on plain dry bread. "There is no waste in it," he used to say. "Every particle is of value."

At dinners to which he was invited Mr. Muir would usually barely taste of soup or fruit, never touch meat or any fancy dessert, talk while others ate and nibble away between times at a slice of bread without butter.

Once while visiting Pasadena he was one of a party starting out to get supper, after which it was proposed to spend the evening in the rooms of one of the company...
