

YANKEE DUCHESS

Once Miss May Ogden Goelet of New York City.

FRIEND OF QUEEN MARY.

Could Not Be Appointed Mistress of the Robes Because She Was Not Born in England—Collects Jewels and Has a Marvelous Necklace of Turquoises.

It was recently reported in American newspapers that the Duchess of Roxburgh, who before her marriage was Miss May Ogden Goelet of New York was reported, and now confirm the position of mistress of the robes to Queen Mary, vacated by the Duchess of Devonshire, consequent on the appointment of the duke to the governor generalship of Canada.

The rules of the court require that the mistress of the robes should not be of lower rank than a duchess, and this rule considerably limits the number of ladies to whom the honor of position in Queen Mary's household could be offered. But the fact says she must be an Englishwoman in birth so the Duchess of Roxburgh was barred.

Of the duchesses the two who stand most high in the record of Queen Mary are the Duchess of Portland and the Duchess of Roxburgh. The Duchess of Portland is mistress of the robes to Queen Alexandra, otherwise it is more than possible that the position would have been offered to her. The Duchess of Roxburgh's friendship with Queen Mary is not of very long standing. Her grace was, of course, received at court after her marriage, and after a while with her husband, was the recipient of several pensions of the late King Edward VII and Queen Alexandra.

The Duchess of Roxburgh is one of the best all around actresses in England. Her shows, staged in London, have had half a dozen other Broadway pastimes, in all of which she has been successful.

He took part in the Spanish War and won the Victoria Cross. He lost his money. The Duke of Devonshire, the great dancer, the man who got out under a tree, the man who rescued the Duke of Devonshire, the man who saved the Duke of Devonshire.

THE BIRD'S BATH.

Baking Tins Make Delightful "Tubs" For Feathered Pets.

Some canaries simply refuse to take baths regularly in the tiny bird baths usually provided for them. The thing to do then is to take all perches out of the cage and also the bottom. Then set the cage over an oblong or square baking tin, according to the shape of the cage, just partly filled with water. This will leave no place for the bird to go but to cling to the side of the cage, of which we will soon tire, or take his plunge. Of course, if the bird simply sits in the water without bathing he must not be allowed to remain in the bath for very long, as he will catch cold. Most birds, however, will bathe if thus managed and enjoy the bath much better than if it were taken in a tiny dish. The baking tin should be new.

Velvet must be ironed over the iron so as not to crush the pile. The best way is to get some one to hold a hot iron upward while you draw the velvet backward and forward along the hot surface. Keep the velvet well stretched and go over every piece carefully till the pile stands up well.

DRESS TRIMMINGS.

Style Tips About the Very Latest Garnishings.

For those who may still be doubtful regarding the fashionable dress trimmings of the season a review will be of benefit.

Among the most salient trimmings is wool embroidery in separable motifs or bands. The richest oriental colors are used for the purpose, and in some instances the wool is combined with metal embroideries. Motifs in silk combined with wool are also in vogue. Such trimmings you can use appropriately on gold-shaped pockets on belts, on flat sashes, on corners of tunics and on the ever present bags.

Wool fringes in blue, gray and black are in high favor. Beaded fringes, droops and tassels are very well liked. On evening gowns beaded bandings are very modish. They are used as garterettes, as straps for corsages, and in some instances they are used to give the effect of a necklace. These bands are particularly well liked in jet, in crystal and in opal.

Person colorings prove an incentive in the making of head melonions. Colorings of head, with absolute are used on gowns for both afternoon and evening. The color above is also strong trimming and is used in all sorts of ways.

Net veils have scarcely been so fine as they are offered in a variety of styles and are used largely to form the hair around the face. They are made of the finest netting and are of various colors.

For the hair ornaments there are a great number of styles. Many are made of metal and are used in a variety of ways. Some are made of wood and are used in a variety of ways.

What are the most popular styles? They are the ones that are most easily worn and that are most easily changed.

HOLIDAY BASKET.

None Too Soon to Begin Your Christmas List.

Almost any kind of woven sweet grass or just plain straw will do for the base of this workbasket. To keep out the dust a piece of silk top is shirred and tacked to the upper rim. The opening is with a silk cord of the same color. Any number of similar baskets can be made from this design.

WHEN YOU SERVE TEA.

Things to Do in Order to Be Really Hospitable.

Remember that the most important thing in serving tea is to be hospitable. This means that you should be friendly and courteous to all your guests.

Always serve sandwiches or toast in small portions. It is very awkward for the tea drinker to have to manage large portions. Bread and butter sandwiches should be of water thickness and should be cut in inch wide strips. A goodly supply should be on hand to make up for the smallness of the single pieces.

Guimpes For Children.

Guimpes are coming into vogue again for children. The practical wash fabrics are still to be among those popular with the smart little folk. Little plaited skirts seem to be used on practically every model, even on the smallest child. Some have the jackets slipped over the head or buttoned on the shoulders. Guimpes, which have often been made for little folk from their mothers' shirt waists, will be of much use to them this season, since practically all have the little white sleeves and yoke of lawn, linen, batiste, organdie and other sheer materials. For the fancy dresses georgette is used.

ESCAPE FROM A CRUEL FATE.

How Luck Saved a Fine Fat Gobbler From the Oven on Thanksgiving Day. A Hungry Time in the Woods—Things of Interest to Children.

Thanksgiving was at hand, and, of course, Little Ned and Polly Ann were very much interested in it. "I think," said Uncle Ben, "I will have to tell you about

A TURKEY'S THANKSGIVING.

Gobbler Gobbler was a big fat turkey. He lived on a farm where there were lots of chickens and ducks and geese. They had a good time, for Farmer Blinks, who owned the farm, gave them lots to eat and took good care of them. Gobbler Gobbler was fond of eating, and he was one of the fattest turkeys of the flock.

"He'll be fine cooked," said Farmer Blinks to his wife. "I think we'll keep him for Thanksgiving."

The day before Thanksgiving there was a good deal of going on in the house. Every one seemed to be busy and gay. When the farmer sent his son Jimmy out to feed the poultry, Gobbler Gobbler was not going on, but was rather fat and used to look a little better than Jimmy. "I don't know," said Jimmy, "I don't know what's wrong with you."

When Jimmy went whistling into the house he forgot to lock the gate after him and Gobbler Gobbler darted out.

"I'm thinking of having a good time in some of my own good time," said Gobbler Gobbler to himself. "I'll go out for a walk in the woods."

So he went through the woods looking for wild turkeys to live with him. There were none there, of course. Gobbler Gobbler would have gone out to the woods and got a whopper if he had a chance.

But he was a turkey and he had to go back to the farm. He was a turkey and he had to go back to the farm. He was a turkey and he had to go back to the farm.
