Father Ziegan

Now At Rest.

Dansville, Nov. 22.—The remains of Rev. Ernst Ziegan were brought to his sorrowing people in Perkinsville last Friday morning in Rochester, where he died suddenly when on parochial business in that city.

All day Saturday, Sunday and Monday the church was filled with mourners, coming from Wayland, Cohocton, Dansville and the surrounding country to augment the Perkinsville congregation.

Monday evening Rt. Rev. Bishop Thomas F. Hickey came from Rochester with a retinue of priests and about 8 o'clock the office for the dead was intoned by the bishop and 14 priests. The sanctuary was lighted by innumerable candles.

Tuesday morning the solemn mass of requiem was sung at 10:30 o'clock. Rev. Thomas F. Hickey was celebrant, Rev. S. B. Englerth, of St. John the Evangelist parish, Greece, deacon; Rev. Joseph Gefell, of St. Joseph's parish, Wayland, subdeacon; Rev. F. Scheid, of St. Pius' parish, Cohocton, deacon of honor; Rev. Leo Hofschneider, of St. Mary's parish, Dansville, subdeacon of honor; Rev. J. P. Schellhoan, of Our Lady of Perpetual Help parish, Rochester, master of ceremonies. Visiting clergymen from all over the diocese to the number of 70 filled the pews down to the body of the church.

$6,000 Taken At Donation

More than $6,000 was taken in at the annual donation for St. Ann's Home for the Aged, Wednesday, at Convention Hall. All the booths did a rushing business and nearly 3,000 persons were served with meals. Mrs. Mary Huether was in charge of the dining room and was assisted by women from 26 parishes. Members of the Victorian Circles had charge of the booths.

In the evening there was music by Bertha Meyers, Band and solos by Miss Loretta Vogt, Miss Jule Frank, Miss Eleanor Hempel, Miss Celia Streif, Miss Minnie Doud, Miss Oliva Ribstein, Charles Geyer and Harry Barnhart.

The cathedral choir sang several numbers under the direction of Prof. Eugene Bonn, one of the selections being the "Ode to St. Cecilia" composed by the director. Mrs. Louise B. Kiefer had charge of the musical program in the afternoon and evening. A violin and piano duet was played in the afternoon by the Misses Magdalene and Pauline Schwartz.

Alhambra Ceremonial.

The annual ceremonial of Musa Caravan, Order of the Alhambra will be held on the evening of December 4th, in Concordia Hall Hudson and Clifford Avenues. There is every indication that a record-breaking number of candidates will participate in the exercises. The candidates and on-lookers will be residents of Rochester and nearby towns and cities.

Austrian Emperor Dead.

Emperor Francis Joseph Austria, who has been suffering from inflammation of the right lung is dead.

Knights of Columbus.

The Knights of Columbus will hold a reception and ball at the Seneca Hotel on Thanksgiving eve, Nov. 29th.

Rochester Council, K. of C., presented Judge Joseph M. Fee-Tenney, Rochester's comedy vanguard of the Municipal Court with flowers upon his first appearance upon the bench.

Piccadilly Theater.

Rochester's newest photoplay house, the Piccadilly, with a seating capacity of 2,500, had its formal opening Friday evening, Nov. 24th, with Mayor Edgerton and other city officials and county officials as guests.

The opening for the public has been set for Saturday, at noon, when the same program as that is planned for Friday night will be given. Admission Friday night will be by invitation only, the private showing having been arranged as a sort of celebration for those back of the enterprise and their friends.

It is just and proper that all people should consider the source from whence our happiness has come and set apart a day on which to return thanks unto God for the goodness with which our country has been blessed.

After the Dinner.—The after-dinner amusements, can be of the sportive kind suitable to the day. There must be potato races, guessing the number and weight of potatoes contained in a heavy canvas bag or seeing who could grab up the greatest number of potatoes from a barrel in a given time on the end of a outfit and carry them to a basket at the other end of the room.

THE people of the United States celebrate Thanksgiving day with more and more accord every year. Indeed, one might say they have more and more reason. The fathers of New England, hemmed in between a wilderness and the sea, watched their doubtful crops in anxious memories of other years of famine. When they found that once more there was fish enough and pork enough and corn and beans and pumpkins and squashes and turnips enough to carry them through the winter they did not thank God knowing full well how many hazards they had passed through for those days as compared with today were days of pinching poverty. The New Englanders for the Puritans, with a certain dryness which shows probably some personal preference. Baked beans point to the time when it was desirable to make the most of the commonest vegetable by throwing it with the best of the commonest meats.

All these things changed. For the world stood for a moment on the verge of a new era. And why? The American of today gives thanks that famous well-remembered day.

First of all he remembers that he is no longer dependent on the crops of a few hundred square miles of the fishing voyage of a single summer. Thanks to the providence of God as it has worked in history and to the work of brave men who believed they were children of God the petty colonies which were thus described are now one nation of that nation the weakest and the poorest has every right and privilege before the law which belongs to the strongest and the wisest, though he were born in the purple of luxury. To the widow's son of the poorest citizen of the nation, then, there will come his daily bread in answer to his daily prayer. The bread will come from the mill of a nation which will be the source of strength in the facts of the spirit and without let or hindrance from any power on earth. If there is food in parts of our regions is by the fall of an axe or by a mountain, it will certainly see consumption in another region. And this the American boy and girl see to the good Providence and the brave men who made this country one and have kept it one.

It is too much the blindness of our time to speak as if such a simple blessing as daily food came to us as a matter of course. There is, indeed, a rare habit in which Americans often speak, as if, because they are Americans, they have everything without so much as asking for it. Fourth of July orators and street corner braggarts alike talk of the natural products of this country almost in the tone of the emigrants who expect to pick up a doubloon upon the sidewalk. One is tempted to ask such braggarts why the country did not produce such wealth 100 years ago or 200 years ago. Why was Dakota then a desert? Why were the hills of Alabama only a hiding place for a few thousand Creek Indians? Why did they not forge the iron under their feet? Why did not the ironquits in western New York pick from their trees the peaches and the pears such as have been growing there this autumn?

The answer is this: All the wealth of America comes to her from the work of her men and women. The victory which yields is their victory. It is the victory of spirit conquering matter. It comes in the daily miracle of daily life, where children of God, led by God, taught by God, alive in his life and fellow-workmen with him, carry out his designs and subdue the earth. It is neither sensible nor grateful to speak of becoming granaries, of increasing trade of new mines, of oil of iron or of gas as if these things were wealth in themselves. They are only wealth when man strikes the rock and his waters flow. And this man must be not the savage man who cares only for his own personal appetite. It must be man, the child of God, seeking a future better than today, determined to bring in a nobler age than that which he lives in.

Salt in the Spectrum.—The extreme delicacy of the spectrum test is illustrated by the fact stated by Lommel that the three-millionth part of a milligram of a salt of sodium, an imperceptible particle of dust to the naked eye, is yet capable of coloring the lines of a candle yellow and of giving the yellow lines of sodium in the spectroscopic. Indeed, sodium in the form of a common salt (sodium chloride) is so universally present as an impalpable dust floating in the air that it is next to impossible to get a spectrum which does not show the sodium lines.

Know the Brand.—"Is that a Landseer, Mr. Croesus?" asked the visitor, pausing before the painting. "No," replied the host, "reckon it is a Durham. See how broad it is between the horns, and see the color and curl on its forehead. That's a genuine Durham sure."—Exchange.

Balky Machines.—"Do you want me to watch your automobile?" asked the boy. "Yes," replied Mr. Chuggins. "And if it tries to start up and run away don't stop it. Holler for me, and I'll take a chance on overtaking it and getting the first ride I've had for three or four hours."—Washington Star.

Wisdom.—Wisdom may be compared to water. As water leaves the heights and gathers in the depths, so is wisdom received from on high and preserved by a lowly soul.—Lathum.

Kindness of Nature.—"Ain't nature wonderful?" "Why?" "She gives us all faces, but we can pick our own teeth."—Harvard Lampoon.

Stupidity has no friends and wants none.—Horace Greeley.
