Ruth Law Flies 590 Miles Without Stopping Once.

HER FIRST DISTANCE EFFORT.

Traveled Without Hitch at 103 Miles an Hour From Chicago to New York and Had to Land For Gasoline Only Breaks One World Record

Miss Law when she is not flying she is Mrs William Oliver weighs 125 pounds and is five feet five inches high "I don't think I grew or I lost any weight on my trip These were the figures when I left Chicago she said after her amazing flight The twenty eight year old woman who flew 590 miles, from Chicago to Hornell N Y., just because she made up her mind she would And who asked for a puff when she was unstrapped from the seat of her biplane at Governors Island, wore her new flying suit lessly and as becomingly as she wore the gray Shetland cap which topped her fluffy white blouse and tan skirt She was found behind a screen in an out of the way corner of a New York hotel dodging congratulations telephone calls, invitations to step to the movies or go into vaudeville She had just returned from a shopping tour in which she had bought a new lavender white satin waist

MISS RUTH LAW

"That she exclaimed of her opal ring, "was my talisman on the trip from Chicago to the state of Delaware It came out of a ring my husband gave me three days We were married After it was broken I made up my mind to carry it to my pocketbook just for luck They say I've broken three records, but this trip makes four I've smashed the opal's reputation for bringing bad fortune

A sister of Rodman Law famed as the "human fly" and parachute jumper, Miss Law, whose full name is Ruth Bancroft Law, was born on March 21 1887, in Lynn Mass She received her pilot's certificate on Nov 20, 1912, four years ago, taking her test with a Wright biplane Since that time she has made thousands of exhibition and passenger carrying flights

She broke the altitude record for women on May 27 of this year In company with several other aviators she appeared at the military tournament at Sheepshead Bay They all competed in the altitude contest, and Miss Law set the high mark for women by flying 11,200 feet

Christmas Shopping List.

Furs, opera glasses, party bag, feather boa, evening slippers, stationery, subscriptions to magazines, odd pieces of furniture, like chairs, table, book shelf for her room, fancy or sewing outfits, outfittings for her favorite sports or hobby, as drawing or music, may relieve the young man's suspense week before Christmas.

Buy handkerchiefs this year. Buy them because several who know say that war has made the linen supply meager.

Sleepy Time Story About Christmas in a Strange Country.

SANTA CLAUS GETS SURPRISE

Kind Old St. Nicholas, the Good Friend of Children, Imposed Upon—Why He Refused to Fill a Stocking and Never Came Back

[illegible] Little Ben to little Ned [illegible] I'm going to tell you [illegible]

GIANT BOY'S CHRISTMAS.

[illegible] there was a little [illegible] who lived near the edge of [illegible] One day in the woods he [illegible] Little Boy from Maryland The little boy had been out in the woods looking for Christmas trees

Dear dear, the giant boy said would you tell me what you mean by Christmas

So the little boy from Maryland told him all about Christmas and Santa Claus, and the little giant boy thought Christmas was a fine idea

But we don't have it here he said I wish we could get Santa to come to visit the little boys in Giantland

Oh, that's easy, cried the little boy from Maryland write a letter to Santa He lives at the north pole He'll be sure to come by reindeer then

Then the little boy from Maryland took the road through the woods that the giant boy said led to Maryland and he was never seen around there again

That evening the little giant boy told his father and mother about Santa Claus Their names were Mr and Mrs Giant and they listened to the old gentleman asking him to please come down their chimney that Christmas

Santa was pleased when he got the letter but when all the other very big giant boys and girls dog in wrote to him he was a good deal worried because he had never visited Giantland and felt that the toys which he made for children of ordinary size would not exactly do for giant children

However Santa made up his mind he would do the best he could

On Christmas night he stopped his sleigh on the roof of the giant boy's house When he saw the big chimney Santa Claus was almost tempted to turn back

He managed to scramble down, but when he saw the giant boy had hung up his mother's stocking instead of his own he just put his pack on his back and started up the chimney again The pack full of toys would scarcely have filled the toe of the stocking

The little giant boy was angry when he got up and found the stocking empty

"There now," he cried, "that's all a humbug, about Santa Claus You see there isn't any Santa Claus at all"

And all the other little giant boys agreed with him, for Santa never came back

A Fine Winter Sport

Skiing is a splendid winter sport for those who are fond of exhilarating exercise It is more practiced in Norway and Sweden and Switzerland than in this country, but is yearly growing in popularity The young skier here pictured was snapped in the Wergern Alps, not far from Berne, Switzerland. The young person is attired in a costume well suited to this sport

A YOUNG SKIER IN SWITZERLAND.

Going to Jerusalem.

This is a very popular game for the small girls and boys Place a row of chairs, facing alternately different ways, through the center of the room a chair for each player except one. Have some one play a lively tune on the piano, first fast, next slow, very loud and again quite low, while the girls and boys march around the chairs without touching them, but keeping time to the music. Suddenly the music stops, when each one rushes for a chair, and the one left standing is out of the game. Each time the marching recommences a chair is taken away until but one chair remains. The child who succeeds in seating herself or himself in the one remaining chair wins the game.

ABOUT COATS.

Style Tips About the Very Latest Smart Touches.

If the tailor whom you consult has a pattern of one of those new coats that are built up above the waist line by a series of skillfully arranged gussets especially placed in the front, then you can safely rely upon it for the original touch which we all hunt as for a needle in a haystack.

Contrary to the best assertions of the early autumn, there are high, straight fur collars still in fashion They are not the last fashion, but as long as they are worn at all certain women will cling to them for the sake of warmth and because they dispense with the fretting worry of how to hide the neck when a low blouse is worn for no matter what fashion has decreed our women have not yet taken up with the high boned collar to any extent

The colors are rich Dress winter Black is not looked upon with an approving eye, and it is not attractive in the fabrics which are chosen for suits, ranging, as they do, over a severely limited area Broadcloth of the extremely simple weave is insisted upon by [illegible] strong authorities to make it fashionable but there is no appeal from the popularity of velours

This fabric has been immensely improved since it came to us as a weave that run threadbare under the least rough usage Today it stands knocking about with the gate down and serge and its gloving has also been so perfected that one gets the richest shades of the winter in it

Blue for some underlying reason that we can't fathom or [illegible] has held its place except with a few exceedingly smart designers and the preference is given to deep tones of red that makes every woman can find it in her heart to wear

Burgundy, with its [illegible] shade, burgundy is sought by the exclusive as well as by those who only want a warm shade on a cold day Both green and several tones of brown such as copper [illegible] havana are taken up by [illegible] There are interesting experiments with green than with the other colors, and of course the woman who can carry off this color is so proud of the fact that she flaunts her superiority in the face of the public whenever she can

CHEAPER BREAD.

How Rye Flour Cuts the Cost of Every One Loaf

With the price of wheat flour soaring almost daily, the housewife is vitally concerned with any suggestions for lowering the cost of the staff of life To answer occasional inquiries for methods of utilizing rye flour Miss Pearl MacDonald in charge of home economics extension at the Pennsylvania State college has prepared this recipe

Two cupfuls of liquid (half water and half potato)

Two tablespoonfuls of lard or butter

Two tablespoonfuls of brown sugar

A teaspoonful of salt

A quarter cake of yeast dissolved in a quarter cupful of lukewarm water

Three to four cupfuls of rye flour

Enough wheat flour to knead into dough

Add liquid and [illegible] When lukewarm and dissolved yeast and enough flour to make a batter When light add enough more flour to make a dough Knead till smooth and elastic When slightly more than double in bulk make into loaves When light bake from fifty minutes to an hour

A combination of rye and wheat flour gives a lighter and more desirable loaf than one made with rye flour alone

Invasions of Russia

The first great invasion of Russia was that of the Huns a race of fierce and warlike Asiatics who swept over eastern Europe in the [illegible] century In the thirteenth century the golden horde of Tartars conquered Russia, and from 1238 to 1462 the country was under the yoke of the Mongols In 1395 Tamerlane invaded Russia but retired In 1462 the Slavs again gained the ascendency and Ivan III the Great founded the present monarchy and introduced firearms and cannon into Russia

In 1470 there was another great invasion of Tartars, but they were driven out In 1613 the present royal family, the Romanoffs, gained the throne In 1700 the Swedes invaded Russia, but after several victories they were routed

The last great invasion of Russia was that of Napoleon His disastrous retreat from Russia in which most of his army was destroyed, marked the beginning of the end of his power St. Louis Post Dispatch

An Invisible Clock.

A [illegible] which can be heard, but not seen [illegible] curious possessions, [illegible] in the tower of St Mary [illegible] church Kensington, and [illegible] in the [illegible] It chimes the quarters and the hours but permits itself to [illegible] It has no dial no hands, [illegible] outward and visible sign of any kind to show that it is a clock This eccentricity, it is explained, is the result of two causes one aesthetic, the other financial When the tower was built in 1879 a clock was suggested as an afterthought, but the architect protested that it would mean the addition of fifteen feet to the tower and the ruin of its cherished proportions. A second point was that the church, having but slender funds, could not afford a clock with a dial. A compromise was arrived at by installing the works of a chiming clock in the belfry without dial or hands - Pearson's.

Economy.

"What? You want to charge me $60 for this suit? Why, you sold Percy Van Broke one just like it for $15."

"That's very true, but Mr. Van Broke never pays his bills, and I always give him a low price so I won't lose too much."—Exchange.
