What Christmas Seals Do.

Every Red Cross Christmas seal that is sold is a real bullet in the fight against tuberculosis.

These seals last year helped to support thousands of needy tuberculosis patients and to give them a chance for life.

They provided for many visiting nurses whose hundreds of thousands of visits brought instruction and cheer to numerous patients.

They helped to maintain dispensaries in scores of cities, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, where thousands of consumptive patients received free treatment and advice.

They provided the funds to purchase mailing cards, circulars, pamphlets and other literature with which the public has been educated about tuberculosis.

Christmas Made Out of Pennies

IT was two weeks before Christmas. Mrs. Bricklayer was to the fact with a sigh of [illegible] She hadn't [illegible] Christmas coming for [illegible] with yet Poor soul, how could she. There was nothing very Christmasy in her life just at present. The freezing weather had started in on Dec. 1 and [illegible] Bricklayer had not been able to [illegible] a brick since.

Peter was only one, it wouldn't cost much to [illegible] him. Susie, aged four, could string up all those spools for Peter, and then could make him a fine rattle by putting a few beans in a round ribbon box.

Susie was four well, she would just like a dolls house made out of four grocery boxes, painted outside and papered with those bits of wall paper the janitor left behind him. Johnny could do that it would keep it off the street a few rooms and save his good shoes from so much wearing. And while Johnny was using wood on [illegible] he could make a grocery store for Tim. Mary thought she could afford a few pennies to get a sack for Tim and a few bits of fur for Susie. Susie's [illegible] could make chairs and tables of blocks of wood. Mrs. Bricklayer herself could dress some wonderful clothespin dolls to live in the doll house. Perhaps Johnny could find a pair of wheels and make a new soap box cart for Susie and Tim to play with. And there was Katie wishing for doll's dishes and clothes so much. Father Bricklayer was handy with tools; perhaps he could make a little cupboard out of the ever useful soap box.

Finally when Christmas morning dawned in the Bricklayers tiny flat each stocking held besides a few nuts and an orange a homemade molasses popcorn ball and some gift, as a wishbone, penwiper, a bean bag, a homemade set of jack straws which had [illegible] Father Bricklayer to [illegible] two pencils, a ring [illegible] cap and apron, [illegible] and [illegible] bunch bags and some little knicknacks for the dear good boy dressing [illegible] that had been made for keeps and hung with an old [illegible]

There wasn't much for poor Johnny, but he was a big, brave boy and was so proud of having made the others happy that he forgot to think of himself. Anyway, father gave him his very own pocketknife to keep, and it made him happy.

All told, the Bricklayers had a happier Christmas than the Hilltops, for whom the toy marts had been plundered.—Mrs. Blanche Cole Rosedale in New York Evening Sun.

Joy to All People.

He does not simply say, Christ is born, but to you he is born. Neither does he say, I bring glad tidings, but to you I bring glad tidings of great joy. Furthermore, this joy was not to remain in Christ, but it shall be to all the people.—Martin Luther.
