

LEARN TO SAVE MONEY.

One Needn't Be a Miser to Cultivate This Fine Habit.

One of the best habits that a young man can form is that of saving a certain part of his earnings regularly.

From the very first, when he has made arrangements with father and mother in the home or with his landlady as to what he shall pay into the house for his keep, he should make it the rule of his life to put something, be it ever so little, away from his weekly or monthly wages.

It's a fine thing to be able to wear a necktie that is beautiful in its construction or a suit that is noble and that is up to date.

COSTLY THEATER SEATS.

New Yorkers Forced to Pay Fancy Prices This Winter.

It is not alone in the charges of restaurants and cabarets that the roasting thousands have risen above this winter in New York.

Upon one occasion after the season had got well under way an attempt was made on a Friday to buy or lease seats for the next Saturday night for any one of the ten best downtown attractions in the city.

It seemed that all tickets had not only been sold but also that the speculators had already disposed of the bulk of their supplies.

There was a particular rush at the time this attempt was made, but nevertheless under conditions normal to this year the good seats for successful productions cannot be readily secured for less than $5 apiece.

When Buffaloes Swept the Plains.

In pioneer days the railroads crossing the plains were often delayed for many hours by buffaloes.

Arkansas the Mighty.

If all the rice in Arkansas were one grain it would take a Grand Canyon to store it.

If all the corn in Arkansas were one ear it would take the combined force of all stump pullers to extract one grain from that ear.

If all the chickens in Arkansas were one chicken it would straddle the Rocky mountains like a colossus and its crow would shake the rings from Saturn.

If all the hogs in Arkansas were one hog he could stand with his hind feet on the island of Cuba and his fore feet on the isthmus of Panama and dig the canal with one stroke of his snout.

Art of Politeness.

All they ask of a laborer of love, and he never counts the cost.

A perfect art of politeness ever involves in one respect or another acts of self abnegation.

The famous example of Lord Strafford and Louis XIV. when his ship, being taken by the king to precede him into one of the royal carriages, immediately complied.

The French sovereign gave proof of so much of a monarch by abandoning his prerogative of precedence in his own dominions to the Scotch count.

The English ambassador returned the compliment by yielding immediate obedience to the behest of a king who was not his master.

JAPANESE STRATEGY.

The Clever Way a Willy Old Warrior Deceived the Enemy.

Many a man has failed to guess an easy riddle because the simple solution looked like a trap to him.

Here is an instance in which this trait of human nature was cleverly played upon by a Japanese nobleman.

The old lord had been forced to flee with only 300 men before an enemy with 10,000 and barely had time to reach his castle ahead of his foes.
