Failure!

Joseph V. McKee, A. M., has a pertinent, timely and well written article in the "Catholic World" on "the Failure of Modern Education."

Mr. McKee starts off with the proposition that "To-day modern education does everything for the child except to educate him."

Mr. McKee thinks the causes of this deficit lie deep and extend universally but it is a difficult problem to trace back the modus operandi to which these results may be attributed.

When is the carnage to cease? Having been begun, this war to unshackle humanity and install freedom for all must go on, until the opposing forces are vanquished.

Let us pray that the end may come soon and that the training camp will be the limit of war service for our American boys.

President Wilson has announced that the United States has entered the war for the sake of humanity and not for conquest.

longer and give better service. After all, homespun and not silks and satins, is the proper clothing for the child who must work for his daily bread."

Food Economy.

Much is written these days about the necessity of food economy and people are urged not to waste food. This advice is good and should be heeded.

Therefore, in these days when we are bound to feed our soldiers in the field, when we are bound to help feed our allies and when we are bound to feed ourselves that our nation's physical well-being as a whole be conserved, we must clean our plates and not waste a scrap of food.

Much advice is given these days not to eat too much. Undoubtedly, most Americans of the sedentary, non-laboring class eat more than they need but it is difficult to lay down a hard and fast rule as to eating.

Over eating claims more victims every year than does under eating.

Forming Lines.

Now that the Federal authorities have completed the selective draft and the state authorities have begun the work of physical examination of those selected for war service, the people of the United States in general and of Rochester in particular will have brought right home the awfulness of war preparation.

When is the carnage to cease? Having been begun, this war to unshackle humanity and install freedom for all must go on, until the opposing forces are vanquished.

No Conquest.

President Wilson has announced that the United States has entered the war for the sake of humanity and not for conquest.

If the net result of the war be to increase the power and possessions and territory of nations engaged in fighting Germany, where does the world at large or humanity profit? This, of course, may not be so showy as that of does not preclude the restoration of Alsace-Lorraine to France or the reimbursement of Belgium for devastation.

Unwomanly.

Whether one be a suffragist or not, he can heartily coincide with these vigorous sentiments of the Post Express:

"There is no doubt that these women of the congressional union—militants, banner-flaunters, White House picketers, and spotlight seekers who made up the workhouse squad—have hurt themselves in the eyes of the country and brought their cause into lessened esteem. The most terrible calamity in history is bringing incalculable suffering on mankind. The noblest women of every land are working to the limit of endurance giving their time and strength and money to assuage the anguish of the world. Millions of women are knitting, sewing, making bandages, pillows, compresses and scores of other things the wounded need and tens of thousands of other women are giving up all their lives to nursing shattered heroes back to health or to soothing the pain of their last hours on earth. The highest-type women of all the nations are thus engaged, but these suffragists have left their homes and families and given up all useful work, all womanly activities, to go to the national capital and hound and harass a government burdened as no other in our land has been since the darkest hours of our Revolution and our Civil war.

Every Knight of Columbus should bend his best efforts to raising that million dollar war relief fund.

Well, was it hot enough for you?

The Loyal Order of Moose picked a good man when it elected Willard A. Marakle of Rochester, as a member of its Supreme Council.

Rochester will furnish many of its finest young men to fight with Pershing's Sammies.

We are glad to learn that there will be a due quota of Catholic chaplains in the United States Army and Navy.

Perhaps, one man's control of the food situation would be best. A commission did not do good work in the shipping situation.

Belgium must be rehabilitated before any permanent peace treaty is concluded.

Where, oh where are the German fighters coming from? Published casualties, if correct should leave the German armies decimated.
