RIDING THE BELLS.

Spectacular Feat of the Daring Ringers of Seville.

The ringing of a bell is not as a rule a performance particularly trying to the nerves, but there is one set of bell ringers the members of which must know no fear, for a moment of tremor would in all probability be for them the moment of death. They are the bell ringers of the Giralda in Seville.

When the city is to make merry on feast days the ringers climb to the belfry and then by the aid of a rope and steps cut in the wall of the tower each mounts to the bell. He is to ring and stands astride the shoulder of the brazen monster. Then he presses the bell with his feet, holding on the crosspiece or which the mass of metal is swung. Gradually the great bell sways to the muscular movement of the man astride it until it acquires a momentum that swings the hammer first gently and then with increasing force as the sweep of the bell widens, until the air is trembling from the giant blows that strike the massive sides of the monster.

The mere vibration of the atmosphere as the huge bells ring out would be enough to make an unpracticed ringer turn dizzy and fall from his perch. But this is not all, for many bells are ringing in the belfry at the same time in obedience to the movements of their riders, and the din is deafening.

Notwithstanding all this, the riders bend and rise and fall with the action of the bells, now appearing to the observer from below to be in a horizontal position as the bell reaches the limit of its swing and again riding gracefully to an upright position as the monster sways backward with another thundering note.

The most extraordinary part of the daring performance is the sight of a bell ringer calmly swaying the bell while it hangs far out of the belfry over the city, for the outward swing sends the counterpoise with the ringer into space beyond the arch.

A Chinese Ruse.

Over 2,000 years ago there was a war between China and Mongolia and China was invaded by a Mongolian army under Maotun. The Chinese emperor was besieged in the city of Ping, and when the situation seemed to be hopeless he ordered that a number of lay figures representing beautiful women be made and exposed on the city walls. He then caused a message to be sent to the wife of the Mongolian leader to the effect that these attractive maidens were intended as a present to her husband. The ruse was entirely successful. The siege was raised forthwith, and Maotun was removed out of the temptation zone by his apprehensive spouse.

What Wealth Brings.

The late Colonel Ingersoll was talking one day with a group of friends when the subject of wealth and the desire of most men to accumulate money was discussed.

"I never could understand it," said the colonel. "Just imagine a man with 800,000 hats, 400,000 pairs of shoes, 1,000,000 pairs of gloves, 6,000,000 handkerchiefs, 200,000 pairs of suspenders and a tramload of neckties getting up before daylight and exerting every energy until late at night in order that he may make enough money to buy himself another necktie!"

The Compass.

As early as 2,634 years before Christ the compass was known in a crude way to the Chinese, and it was used by them for purposes of navigation as early as the third century of the Christian era. But the policy of the rulers and the habits and character of the people conspired to render the Chinese indifferent sailors, and the compass did not become of the importance to them that it did to the seafaring nations of Europe.

In Safe Hands.

"Could I interest you in a little game of chance?" asked the insinuating stranger.

"Depends on what it is," answered Squire Sugsby of Pippinsburg.

"How'd you like to bet $200 on a horse race and win a cool thousand?"

"I've already got several cool thousands, son. Leastwise they ain't burnin' my pocket none."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Delayed Delivery.

Billy had had a serious misunderstanding with his older cousin Conrad. That misunderstanding had been very scrupulously concealed from his mother, so when he came into the house after school she said: "Billy, what would you like to give Conrad for his birthday?"

"I know what I'd like to give him," said Billy vindictively, "but I ain't big enough." — New York Times.

The High Class Touring Car of the Future will be Enclosed

There are many people who still think that to go touring you must get so dusty, disheveled, and thoroughly disrespectful that it is questionable whether the hotel at the next town will let you in.

There are still those who look upon an enclosed car as a sort of traveling show case—a millionaire's car, possibly, but not for everyday use.

These same folks demand the cleanliness, luxury and protection of a Pullman when they travel by rail, yet they have somehow failed to grasp the idea that they can have protection and luxury in automobile travel.

But those who have tried enclosed car touring seldom go back to open cars. Nor will you, once you've learned the supreme comfort of this sort of motoring.

Results Have Been Great.
Miss L. Menches, 107 Market St., Akron, O., who took 1 bottle Koenig's Nervine since 2 months, says the results have been great. I sleep well and my nerves seem to be much stronger, as I was troubled with nervousness since 2 years.

420 9th St., Milwaukee, Aug. 1916
Mrs. Schulte recommended to me Pastor Koenig's Nervine which she used for Vertigo, because it had helped her right away. As I was troubled with dizziness since about 3 years and tried many things, but it became worse, so that I could hardly walk alone—then I tried Pastor Koenig's Nervine, which had such a wonderful effect on me that I am well satisfied. —Thos. Wolf

Similar writes Kl. St. Louis, Mo. from San Gabriel, Tex., that she suffered fearfully from her nerves, but is very well satisfied with the effect of Pastor Koenig's Nervine.
