Announcement was made last Thursday evening by Bishop Thomas F. Hickey of the appointment of Rt. Rev. Mgr. Joseph W. Hendrick, pastor of Holy Cross Church of Ovid, Seneca County, to the irremovable rectorship of St. Francis De Sales Church of Geneva, where he will succeed the late Rev. Wm H. McDonald. He is also appointed dean of his district. The appointment was made after the concursus as required by the laws of the church had been held at St. Andrew's Seminary Thursday afternoon, where the examination was conducted by the board of synodal examiners of the clergy, with Rt. Rev. Dennis J. Curran, V. G., presiding. That examination is necessary as a preliminary for the appointment of pastor to an irremovable rectorship, of which there are seven in the diocese of Rochester.

Monsignor Hendrick, who is a brother of the late Rt. Rev. Thomas A. Hendrick, bishop of Cebu, Philippine Islands, is one of the best known clergymen of the diocese, and has served in the priesthood more than forty years since his ordination in various missions. After his ordination by the late Bishop Bernard J. McQuaid, at St. Patrick's Cathedral, after having completed his theological studies at St. Joseph's Seminary of Troy, he was appointed assistant at St. Mary's Church, Rochester, from which place he was transferred to be assistant at St. Mary's Church of Auburn. He was first made pastor at St. Michael's Church, Livonia Center, where he labored for a number of years in caring for missions at Livonia, Homeoye Flats and Conesus. He was next promoted to the pastorate at Ovid, which also includes the mission at Romulus and the State Institution at Willard.

In all of those missions he was beloved and esteemed by the community at large, as well as by his own parishioners, and has done successful work in furthering the interests of the church and religion wherever he has labored. Having been a neighbor and friend of Dean McDonald, and the people of Geneva for some years, he will be welcomed to the parish by the large congregation of St. Francis De Sales Church.

RECEPTION FOR FR. KELLY Priest Given Parting Token by Spencerport Friends.

Spencerport, Oct. 8.—Bishop Hickey, of this diocese, has transferred Rev. John W. E. Kelly from this parish to Victor. Rev. James Winters, who has had charge of the parish at Horseheads, has been appointed rector of St. John's, of this place, and St. Leo's at Hilton. Father Kelly was appointed to the Spencerport church in 1903 and said his first mass October 11th. During his pastorate he has done some remarkable work, and the church is in fine condition. A new church, costing about $25,000, was built.

Friends of Father Kelly gathered at the parish hall for a farewell reception. Remarks were made by Richard Kinella, Chauncey Brainard and John Morgan, who presented Father Kelly with a check, the gift of his many friends here. He was greatly surprised and responded, thanking the people and reviewing his work since he has been pastor here. Women of the church served refreshments.

Liberty Bonds Will Insure Liberty for all Peoples.

John Whalen, member of New York's Board of Education and one of the founders, and for many years president of the American Federation of Catholic Societies, with some 3,000,000 members and upwards of 10,000,000 affiliated men, has the following to say regarding the Second Liberty Loan:

"Catholics of America have ever done their full share in men and money in support of the Republic. They will do their full share now, in this matter of this Second Liberty Loan and while I am on the subject, you can say that Catholics will do their full share of any task which President Wilson maps out for them. We win this war—and we buy Liberty Bonds, not for dollars for ourselves, but for democracy and Liberty for all peoples."

Hopeful of Success.

Reliable advices from Dublin indicate genuine hope that the Home Rule convention will result in producing a scheme acceptable to the whole of Ireland.

Up to last week discussions were of a general character on various schemes propounded by individuals, with no appreciable progress being made.

Eventually Lord MacDonnell, formerly undersecretary for Ireland, made an impassioned appeal to the Ulster delegates to get down to business. They agreed to the appointment of a committee to draft a scheme for detailed discussion by the whole convention. That scheme is expected to be presented to the convention in two weeks.

The Ulster opposition has now been reduced to two points, the delegates having given up their claim for a partition of the country, the biggest stumbling block to a settlement when the convention assembled. These two points are that Ireland should remain in fiscal union with Great Britain and should continue to send representatives to Westminster. Though the first proposal would be destructive of Ireland's claim for internal autonomy, it would be much more capable of adjustment than the former claim for the cutting out of Ulster from Home Rule. Compromise on the second point is deemed quite feasible.

The Emperor Charlemagne, who died at Aachen in 814 and was interred in the Cathedral there, which he built, was an imposing, giant-like man, of great dignity, with long flowing hair. His sword, preserved in the Treasury of the Cathedral, is an immense one, for he was a towering man.

Lyman Howe Pictures to be Shown at Armory Oct. 15 and 16th.

The lover of nature and of travel will revel with delight at the infinite variety of new scenes, vibrant with beauty, which Lyman H. Howe will present at the Armory on Oct. 15 and 16th. One of the most notable examples is a pictorial excursion to the gorges, cascades and ancient ruins of Southern France which are all reproduced with amazing fidelity in the colors of nature. Another series that is profoundly impressive unfolds the majestic grandeur of the Alps, where fearless climbers face tremendous perils during their ascent to the summit of Mont Blanc. America, too, contributes some remarkable scenes such as logging in Maine, a ride over the Great Divide via the Cascade Mountains in Washington and a broncho-breaking contest that is crowded with thrills.

By authority and with the cooperation of the U. S. Navy Department, Mr. Howe will also present the official and exclusive portrayal from "Somewhere in the Atlantic" of Uncle Sam's New Navy, including startling scenes of firing "salvos" by night and the latest devices and methods in operation for defense and attack in air and sea. Closely related to this feature is another which shows how midshipmen at the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis are trained to become officers of the fleet; and freely intermingled with these and many other absorbing scenes, numerous animated cartoons will merrily satirize the more serious subjects by their quaint, clever and inimitable antics.

THE BIBLE IN NORWAY.

The New Testament Not Printed Even 100 Years Ago.

We shall probably hear within the next few months not a little about the aversion of the Church to the spread of the bible among the faithful of pre reformation times, about its chained inaccessibility to the masses, and incidentally how marked a change was wrought by the religious liberators, the four hundred years anniversary of whose chief is commemorated this year.

So it cannot but be both timely and interesting to hear what the Norwegian Catholic Weekly "St. Olaf", has to say anent some quite telling facts in this connection. Reporting a discourse delivered by the Protestant Bishop Dr. Bang in Christiania on the activity of the British Bible Society the article in question tells us that the Bishop in his address spoke of the attempts made prior to the activity of the Bible Society to spread broadcast the sacred book. This, according to him, met with very little success. And even these attempts were confined to securing for each minister and church a copy; since the cost was so prohibitive as to make its spread among the people impossible, 200 years ago a bible in Norway cost as much as a good horse.

Strange indeed, in face of this fact, that our carping critics expect the Catholic Church even 1000 years ago to have a bible in every home. It is quite sure, however that when once the scriptures were gathered into one book, in the fourth century, every church and every priest had a copy.

Bishop Bang in his discourse was frank enough to inform us that "the activity of the British Bible Society was, in the beginning, very limited. Only in 1854 were they in a position to print the entire bible. The first Norwegian New Testament was printed in Groendahl in 1819." But the reformation was introduced into Norway in 1536. A little arithmetical figuring cannot but lead to a very obvious conclusion.

Truth is always very interesting, more so very often than fiction. Our own people miss a great deal of what is interesting by not equipping themselves strongly enough with helpful antidotes to foolish fiction. In this time of extraordinary mental and spiritual mail we cannot be so well

A COMMUNICATION FROM FR. BERTRAND'S SUCCESSOR.

For the first time there comes to us a letter from Rev. Joseph Marcel Andrieu, P. F. M., successor to Fr. Bertrand, who for twenty years gave most devoted care to the inmates of the leper asylum at Gotemba. After paying tribute to the memory of this heroic priest, Fr. Andrieu says:

"The hospital at Gotemba was founded in 1889 by Fr. Teatevuide. Ever since then, the charity of the faithful has made it possible for many lepers to receive comfort and consolation beneath its roof. I am asking those who so generously aided Fr. Bertrand to continue their aims.

"Of the fifty-nine patients now in the hospital, forty-four are Christians, and the rest are being prepared for baptism. Leprosy still remains a practically incurable disease, but by using strong injections of chaulmoogra oil the malady is often greatly relieved and even arrested. In fact it has worked wonders in one or two cases.

"But in most instances we can only make earthly existence of these sufferers as comfortable as possible, and it is marvellous to see the consolation, the patience and resignation they gain from the practice of our holy religion. Often after receiving the sacraments their poor disfigured faces become radiant with supernatural joy; their misery is forgotten.

"Our hospital, a wooden structure, leaks badly and every rain causes great discomfort. The cost of living weighs on us excessively. Rice is becoming almost beyond our reach, but I am sure Divine Providence will not wholly forsake the poor lepers of Japan."

THE POWERFUL DOLLAR

How true are the following words regarding the saving of money. It is said the heart is where the treasure is. Why not put some treasure in the missions? "Buried treasure is as useless as a powerless engine. Dollars don't have to be buried in the ground to be useless. You can bury them in your pockets or stocking or bedtick or any other hiding place; but once you bury them they cease to work they are useless. A banked dollar is a powerful dollar. It is a working dollar, a producing dollar. It works for you and your country. We might add to this: Give it to the Propagation and it works marvelously—it works for you and for God, for your soul and the salvation of others. Bank it with us and make it work."
