Dog on Operating Table.
Mack, a bulldog owned by Mrs. Charles Wright, teacher at the Rulo school, says a Walla Walla (Wash.) exchange, got so many porcupine quills in its mouth and throat during a fight with that animal that it had to be chloroformed and hundreds of quills were taken out with pliers. The dog was protecting chickens owned by its mistress. Mack has successfully fought off badgers, snakes and coyotes which have sought to steal the chickens, and when the porcupine appeared it charged it. Even with its mouth filled with quills it continued the attack.

With Victoria Crosses.
Since the Victoria Cross was first instituted, sixty-odd years ago, as a reward for conspicuous valor in the Crimea, the bestowals have not amounted to a thousand. Nerves Broke Down.

Mrs. J. Spoor, 219 West St., N. Shenandoah, Pa., Sept. 1915, writes, I allow to sign my name for the good results I obtained through Pastor Koenig's Nerveine and I tell it everywhere. I was suffering for 4 years from nervous headache, which disappeared so soon as I took Pastor Koenig's Nerveine.
Mrs. A. F. Hoff writes from McCluskey, Rt. 125, N. Dak., that she couldn't sleep well any more since about a year ago, she tried many medicines, but none had helped her so much as Pastor Koenig's Nerveine.

Styles May Come and Styles May Go

but the Colonial style in dining-room furniture apparently goes on forever. You may buy a Colonial dining suite of standard design in either oak or mahogany with the assurance that it will be as good style fifteen years hence as it is today.

For many small dining rooms where one wishes to use mahogany furniture, the Sheraton and Adam styles cannot be improved upon to give a light and graceful effect without causing the room to appear overcrowded. We show Sheraton and Adam suites of this character in genuine mahogany as low as $150.00 and $175.00 for the complete suite.

Our showing of dining-room furniture embraces suites in Colonial, Mission, Sheraton, Adam, William and Mary, Queen Anne, Heppelwhite and Charles II design.
