

OF BALLOON TRIP

of Origin of First Pair of Sus- ers That Reader is Not Forced to Believe.

The origin of the first pair of balloons is a subject which has long interested the curious. It is a subject which has long interested the curious. It is a subject which has long interested the curious.

Disraeli as Phrase Maker

Next to Cervantes, Disraeli stands next to good sayings. Often his one word, a combination and derivative of two words, has become a proverb.

TEMPORARY MASK OF WISDOM

Even Meek Foolish Man Has Look of Intelligence When He is Lighting a Pipe

Why is it that a man always looks so intelligent when he is lighting his pipe? Probably it is because the intake of breath which is necessary to start a pipe combustion causes a drawing up of his brows, a wrinkling of the forehead, a concentration of the cheeks.

Treasure From the Jungle

The most costly, and scientifically the most worthless, animal in the grand collection of the New York Zoological Society in Bronx park is the pigmy hippopotamus, of which there are three specimens.

Introducing the Monocle

The interesting thing about the monocle is that the fashion of wearing it was introduced at the Congress of Vienna, that congress which brought the map of Europe and in the opinion of many, laid the lines whose explosion was the great war.

Nothing Like That

"I'd like to see Mr. Foggles," said the lady caller. "Mr. Foggles is engaged," replied the new official. "Engaged with whom?" exclaimed the lady. "He's married, and I'm his wife," London Answers.

The Reason

These feminine antimatrimony plots generally go to pieces. "That is because, as a rule, they are mismanaged," London Answers.

LAYING OF A GHOST

By EVELINA RASBURY.

"Press yoh organdie! Lassy mussle, after de speridge I had last night, to de yehonny's a wantin' er organdie preserin'! How's never you set under de shade out in de yard, an' I'll press de ben's it's you."

Never See Sun Rise or Set

Has it ever occurred to you that we never see our sun either rise or set? It is a question which has long interested the curious. It is a question which has long interested the curious.

Red Causes Frenzy in Animals

Red has been called the king of colors. The fact is not only a matter of fact, but it is a matter of fact. It is a matter of fact. It is a matter of fact.

Marriage With a Glove

A form of marriage by proxy recognized in Holland is known as "marriage with the glove." It is a form of marriage by proxy recognized in Holland is known as "marriage with the glove."

The Smart Scholar

"Hays" said the Sunday school teacher, "can any of you tell me about Good Friday?" "Yes'm, I can," replied an archer at the foot of the class. "It was the f'olke what did de housework for Robinson Crusoe," London Answers.

Their Wives Work

The most amusing thing at the fair is the poultry show. Not that it is a joke by any means, for it is an exhibit of which any state might well be proud, but the amusing part is the swelling arrogance of the roosters.

The Limit

His wife leaves the gas car and he goes to the game. "I know a man who's been playing golf," London Answers.

NO COUNTERFEIT FOR PIGSKIN

One Who Knows Can Always Tell, At Most at a Glance, if Hide is Genuine or Not.

There is one way by which you can always tell pigskin. Examine it closely and you will find that the little dark spots on the outside of the hide are always scattered in groups of three. The whole surface will look spotted, but these spots will be there in groups of three always and with but not in any little ones worn by a pig.

Merely Look Wise

No assembly, sophisticated, arropagan or court of star chamber ever looked more solemn or more profound than a smoking car full of commuters.

Book of the Universe

It is from the study of the true theories that all our knowledge of science is derived, and it is from that knowledge that all the arts have originated.

Land of the Beyond

There is a country into which there is only a yearly immigration with which no other country in any age has had anything to compare.

Durer's Curious Cup

One of the daintiest drinking vessels in existence may be seen at Nuremberg in the old fifteenth century Inn where Albrecht Durer took his ease.

A Spreading Condition

"Why so downcast?" "Nobody cares for me." "Cut it out! If you think nobody cares for you, you'll get so glum that nobody will care for you."

People Older Than the Chinese

Down in the extreme south of China, in the eastern outposts of the Himalayas, lies the little-known province of Yunan. The natives of Yunan are exceptionally interesting, writes Roy Chapman Andrews in Asia.

Horse Flesh Really Tasty

All through Paris in the Latin quarter are innumerable little shops, with strings of thick, dark-looking sausages hanging in festoons in the windows and gilded horseheads over the doors.

What the Eyebrow Tells

Romantic women usually have a well-defined arch in the center of the eyebrow, while a sense of humor is indicated in the arch toward the nose.

Chemical Problems in Canning. As an instance of some chemical problems before the canner: A very slight touch of copper from cooking kettles of the hog grow entirely unpalatable in canned corn with a touch of the skin itself but by the fatty part of the animal.

Margery for Money

"He married me for my money and I'm repaying the usual consequences," remarked the latest distinguished divorcee. "And yet it is not always thus, as the expressed opinion of a young woman proposed marriage to a young man."

Much Good in Brisk Walk

Did you ever try a brisk walk in the bright sunshine when you seem to be completely surrounded by all sorts of gloomy, but beneficial, influences?

Merely Look Wise

No assembly, sophisticated, arropagan or court of star chamber ever looked more solemn or more profound than a smoking car full of commuters.

Book of the Universe

It is from the study of the true theories that all our knowledge of science is derived, and it is from that knowledge that all the arts have originated.

Land of the Beyond

There is a country into which there is only a yearly immigration with which no other country in any age has had anything to compare.

Durer's Curious Cup

One of the daintiest drinking vessels in existence may be seen at Nuremberg in the old fifteenth century Inn where Albrecht Durer took his ease.

A Spreading Condition

"Why so downcast?" "Nobody cares for me." "Cut it out! If you think nobody cares for you, you'll get so glum that nobody will care for you."

What the Eyebrow Tells

Romantic women usually have a well-defined arch in the center of the eyebrow, while a sense of humor is indicated in the arch toward the nose.

Chemical Problems in Canning. As an instance of some chemical problems before the canner: A very slight touch of copper from cooking kettles of the hog grow entirely unpalatable in canned corn with a touch of the skin itself but by the fatty part of the animal.

Margery for Money

"He married me for my money and I'm repaying the usual consequences," remarked the latest distinguished divorcee. "And yet it is not always thus, as the expressed opinion of a young woman proposed marriage to a young man."

Much Good in Brisk Walk

Did you ever try a brisk walk in the bright sunshine when you seem to be completely surrounded by all sorts of gloomy, but beneficial, influences?

Merely Look Wise

No assembly, sophisticated, arropagan or court of star chamber ever looked more solemn or more profound than a smoking car full of commuters.

Book of the Universe

It is from the study of the true theories that all our knowledge of science is derived, and it is from that knowledge that all the arts have originated.

Land of the Beyond

There is a country into which there is only a yearly immigration with which no other country in any age has had anything to compare.

Durer's Curious Cup

One of the daintiest drinking vessels in existence may be seen at Nuremberg in the old fifteenth century Inn where Albrecht Durer took his ease.

A Spreading Condition

"Why so downcast?" "Nobody cares for me." "Cut it out! If you think nobody cares for you, you'll get so glum that nobody will care for you."