Iola Sanatorium
Great merit is due the following people for their kindness in donating to the patients at Iola Sanatorium, particularly the children, dolls, books, toys, bags of popcorn, underclothing, and stockings for Christmas: Rev. J. Staub, Miss E. Smering of the Order of Martha, Mrs. A. Robinson, Miss Mary Ritz, the Misses Clark, Miss Harper, Mrs. Groh, Mrs. Good-year, Miss M. Kane, Mrs. J. Malley, Mrs. T. Christie and Mrs. E. Travers.
Father Hynes, of St. Boniface Church is chaplain and is untiring in his solicitude for the patients.

Funeral of Michael Keilty of Geneva
The funeral of Michael J. Keilty, owner of the Lunette Shop of 35 East Avenue in Rochester, took place on Monday morning at nine o'clock from St. Francis de Sales Church in Geneva. Many business places in Geneva were closed out of respect for Mr. Keilty. The active bearers from the order of the Knights of Columbus were Patrick O'Malley, Charles H. Sweeney, Roger Hogan, Joseph F. Duffy, Patrick J. Casey and John V. Jones. The honorary bearers were Smith O'Brien, Robert Howard, Charles J. Hickey, Henry C. Manley, Perry M. Jacobs, and Charles E. Wilson of the Order of Elks.

The 134th anniversary of the founding of St. Peter parish, New York, and the thirty-fourth anniversary of the consecration of St. Peter Church, Barclay and Church streets, the oldest parish in the New York diocese, was celebrated last month.

The club for Catholic girls in Brooklyn, known as the Carroll Club, has a membership of 5,000.
Rev. Louis George Deppen, editor of The Record, Louisville, Ky., chaplain of St. Joseph Infirmary, and, perhaps, the best known and most brilliant priest in the diocese, died December 15th at the infirmary.
We hope that the plans of the National Catholic Council to strengthen and maintain a strong Catholic press may materialize.
To have or have not a League of Nations is what puzzles both the United States Senate and President Woodrow Wilson.
And now our old friend William Jennings Bryan, is once again a thorn in the side of the Democratic Party. This is peculiarly consoling to Charles F. Murphy and Roger Sullivan.
"Justice B. B. Cunningham" sounds fine. So does "District Attorney William F. Love."

K. OF C. BIG BROTHERS OPEN NEW CLUBHOUSE.
The new clubhouse of the Social Welfare Committee of the Knights of Columbus, at Central Park and North Union street, was opened with ceremonies Wednesday evening. An audience of about five hundred people, including many prominent men, listened to an interesting program of entertainment provided almost entirely by the members of the club, which has been organized under the direction of the Big Brothers, with the purpose to encourage better, cleaner living on the part of the foreign-born population and to provide wholesome recreation.
The new clubhouse offers many facilities to the members, in the way of billiard tables, bath, reading rooms, a basketball court and other features.
An Italian community chorus of nearly thirty voices was one of the features of the musical program provided by the club Wednesday evening. Addresses were made by James M. E. O'Grady, William T. Farrell and others.

ST. BONIFACE CLUB
The annual election of officers took place Wednesday evening. Joseph Frank who served the club so industriously last year was unanimously chosen as president for the year 1920. Through his efforts many improvements and renovations were made during the past year. The yearly financial report shows that the club has a fine treasury and also that the receipts are increasing each month. Edward Schoenherr was elected as vice-president and in him Joe Frank will have a valuable assistant, having been a member of the club for a long time and being also familiar with its work. Henry Biedenbach as secretary and William Schenk as treasurer were re-elected to serve another term. To these men also the club owes much of its success. The new directors are as follows: Herman Mack, Frank Kaiser and Jacob Beikirch, Manager of Sports, Jack Lawrence, an expert on athletics and gymnastics was again selected to promote physical training and sports at the club. Jack Lawrence has acted in this capacity for ten years without compensation. Some well known Rochester athletes received their training from the hands of this well known sportsman. Tom Smith is custodian at the club and well liked by the boys. Tom makes the club rooms appear more as a "home", thanks to his untiring efforts.
Members of other Catholic clubs are again invited to call at the club quarters and get acquainted. They can also procure games by seeing Joe Frank or Ship Hart. It is the desire of our club to get acquainted with other Catholic clubs during the present season.

A live Catholic Women's Club should prove a valuable addition to Rochester's Catholic activities.
You Can Register in R. B. I. Night School next Tuesday evening, January 20th, and begin any course. Rochester Business Institute, 172 Clinton avenue south.—Adv.
