The Bonniest Bonnet by Dixie Wolcott

There's the Bonny Scotsman's bonnet That he wears with greatest pride, With a jaunty silver tinsel Fastened gaily at the side. There's the little pink sunbonnet Which the country lassie wears; And the bucolic's frilled creation That "My Lady" dons upstairs.

And stored within our attic In a rosewood chest of yore, Is the fetching wedding bonnet That my great-grandmother wore. There's a wreath of posies on it, And a tiny spray within— And some cherry-colored ribbons That were tied beneath her chin.

But the hat most chic and charming That has ever come my way Is that one that Dorothy Wore to church on Easter day. I can't tell the shape or color, I could never guess its worth, But beneath it glowed the beauty Of the sweetest face on earth!

HAILED GODDESS OF SPRING

Heathen Saxons Had Their Festival When They Worshipped Eostre, Before Dawn of Christianity.

In ancient times the Saxons were worshippers of the heathen goddess Eostre whose festival fell in the spring. The feast of the Resurrection falling in the spring also, the same was transformed to the Christian feast which, in the Saxon church, was regarded as the queen of festivals. It was termed the Day of Light, and from midnight of Easter eve until daylight the churches were brilliantly illuminated and decorated. On Easter morning the people flocked to the elaborate service, and especially to witness the symbolic resurrection from the sepulcher. This was represented by the priest's elevating in full view of the people the supposed body of the risen Christ.

In connection with the celebration in the churches the people indulged in feasting and rejoicing in their own homes. This was but a natural reaction from the rigorous fast of Lent imposed by the church, during which

USES FOR PLAIDS

May Afford Decoration for Chiffon and Other Fabrics.

Wool Jersey One of the Most Desirable for Plaited or Gathered Sport Skirts.

One of the most interesting developments of modern design is the subtlety with which plaids have been incorporated into its schemes.

Once upon a time plaids were plaids and no bones were made about it. Consequently the brilliant and startling woolsens were relegated to the children's wardrobe or to the realm of sports skirts.

Now plaids have become a motif in design which may be carried out in head or silk embroidery and is as likely to be used in decoration of chiffon and other silken fabrics as it is in the cheerful and childish gingham and woolsens.

Wool jersey is one of the most desirable fabrics for the gathered or plaited plaid sport skirt, and it is expected that later the cartridge silk which was left on the hands of the war department at the signing of the armistice and which is being dyed and utilized most successfully for dress purposes, will come into its own as a sports fabric, a use to which it is especially adapted. In this interesting silk there is an excellent choice of plaids among the many designs and plain colors.

With the plaid skirts, whether they are worn on the golf course or the street, the solid color blouse or coat repeating either the most conspicuous or the most neutral tone of the plaid is a foregone conclusion. With the suit coat, the trimming accessories pocket flaps, scarf collar or revers are usually of the plaid. By contrast to this rule of plain above and plaid below, plaid taffeta blouses of an adorable crispness and smartness have been provided to add a gay touch to the plain navy blue gabardine suit.

no meat whatever was eaten and on Good Friday no food at all was permitted.

The custom of using eggs is supposed to have originated with the ancient Greeks and Romans, who colored them to use in their pagan festival. Marvelous stories may be found of bewitched eggs, said to be able to fly straight toward the sun, and one famous variety was said to have been laid by a rabbit. The story of the origin of the Easter egg seems to be a mixture of the Christian and Pagan legend, and is as follows:

"There fell from the heavens, long long ago, an egg of immense size; it rested on the Euphrates, when a dove descended and hatched it, and out of it arose a splendid beauty of Venus."

plaid to both suits, coats and frocks. A simple georgette frock may be plaided all over diagonally with lines of beads. The squares are large, the lines fragile and the color combination infinite.

Foulards are blocked off in large squares, with a solid line and a conventional motif is planted in the middle of each square.

Many lovely cottons, besides our old friend gingham, are treated to a decoration of plaid design, and such delicate fabrics as voile are patterned in heavy raised lines resembling embroidery.

Certain fashion authorities profess to see a return to Victorian modes in the recrudescence of plaids and stripes.

Chinese Tendencies Prevail.

Chinese tendencies are everywhere noticeable in the vivid greens, blues, yellowish-red and burnt orange favored for the coming season. The hip-length mandarin cloak—or shall we call it a blouse, since it oftentimes answers this purpose?—is being worn at the southern resorts, and will be in the North. Of black or green or burnt orange satin, plain or covered at intervals with an all-over embroidered design, and, with bordering bands of contrasting satin about the open throat and loose sleeves, it is admirably effective and is oftentimes worn over a short, straight, knife-plaited skirt of oyster-white tussore. The couturier usually bears in mind the fact that the true Chinese cloak fastens on the right side.

Song of Easter.

Sing that the winter is over,
Sing for the coming of spring,
For the showers and flowers
and beautiful hours,
And the flash of the robin's wing.
Sing for the gladness of Easter
Lift up your voices and sing.
