Dear Sirs:

After purchasing a block of stock of the Parenti Motors Corporation, a purchase based upon my comprehension of the future value of the new ideas expressed in the construction of the Parenti car as illustrated by the drawings you showed me, combined with the photographs of the factory in Buffalo, N. Y., where the Parenti car is built, and the explanations you made, I decided to go to Buffalo and make a personal inspection of the car and the factory; this I did on July 15th.

I had the pleasure of visiting the showrooms and closely examining a finished Parenti car and its various separate parts. I then visited the factory going through all its departments and witnessing the process of manufacturing the parts of the Parenti car.

I was powerfully impressed with the beauty and utility of the finished car, its elegance and comfort as a vehicle for economy and safety, and I feel satisfied that there will be a big demand for it when its merits become known; and there is bound to be splendid results from an investment in the stock of the Parenti Motors Corporation.

I am so well satisfied now by my visit to Buffalo and inspection of the car and factory, and of the truth of the statements you made to me in relation to the car prior to my visit to the factory that I have decided to take an additional amount of stock to that which I at first subscribed for.

Very truly yours,

J. P. Cahill

Gentlemen:

After being called on by your representative and shown the details of the construction of the Parenti car, also the desirability of the Parenti Motors Corporation proposition from an investment standpoint, I decided to investigate the matter and did so at my own expense.

I went to Buffalo, looked over the car as well as the financial matters of the Corporation, and am so well pleased that since my return have bought a block of stock.

I had a talk with Mr. Parenti, who explained the mechanical features of the car as well as his ideas of what the future of the Parenti Corporation will be. Mr. Parenti impressed me as being not only an inventive genius, but a very honest, conservative business man; and I believe that no one should pass this opportunity without at least giving it careful consideration and investigation.

Yours very truly,

Gentlemen:

Your agent called on me and went over your Parenti Motors Corporation proposition. I was so much interested that I told him, if he was telling the truth, it was the best offer that I ever had; also that I would go to Buffalo and investigate the truth of his statements.

I did so, and found the proposition even better, in my opinion, than your agent told me.

I talked with Mr. Parenti, and found him to be a careful, conservative business man as well as a wonderful inventor. The car he is about to put on the market is very different in construction from the ordinary type car and, I believe, will prove a wonderful success both mechanically and financially.

I have bought block of the stock.

Yours very truly,

Joseph Scialano

To whom it may concern

After being interviewed by Mr. Eccleston, concerning The Parenti Motor Company, I decided to go to Buffalo to investigate the Company he was representing.

In the first place, I found a very good organization, every member of this organization overflowing with enthusiasm, I spent considerable time with Mr. Parenti, the man, who is the designer and owner of the patents, which, as in the Parenti car, and believe him to be a very careful, shrewd and practical man in every respect.

I went over the car they had in the show room very carefully, and while I found many new features about this car, they all seem very practical to me. I was taken to the ground, where they expect to build the new factory, and was well pleased with the location, after returning have subscribed for some of their stock.

Sincerely,

W. L. Harris
