

SAWDUST AS BASIS OF FUEL

Los Angeles Man Confident He Has Solved One of the Problems of the World.

George Van Buren Huff, known as "The Sawdust King," because during the war he organized the O. K. Sawdust company and utilized the waste matter from lumber yards of Los Angeles, has invented a process for fuel which he says will jolt the gasoline situation. By means of a still, the old moonshine variety, he says, he can force turpentine and a high-power distillate from the sawdust. He has already cornered 7,000 tons of sawdust and will begin operations at once.

So certain is Mr. Huff of his discovery that he has applied for a patent on the process. He further offers to purchase the already stiff and the moonshiners' outfits which the government has confiscated. These, he says, can be utilized to make the fuel and the turpentine.

Overalls and Spats.
"Isn't he a nice-looking stoker?" remarked a girl to her friend in the Strand on Saturday, pointing to a portly and genial-faced man wearing a blue combination suit of overalls.

If she had looked more closely she would have realized her mistake, for what stoker or engineer ever wore fawn spats and a smart Homburg hat, with his "holier suit" as this clerical stroller was doing?

Saturday was the beginning in this country of the overall crusade, started in America as a protest against the high price of clothes, and this good humored vision in dungarees was one of the pioneers. He was accompanied by a shorter man wearing dark blue overall trousers and a very small lighter-blue overall coat, which resembled an Iron box's field. He also wore spats. —Daily Mail, London.

China has 200,000 square miles of coal fields.

Thickening the plot may thin the audience.

Happy is the man who is too busy to read.

SNAPPY PICKUPS

Blushing is virtue's color.

A dwarf threatens Hercules.

Candor is a great virtue.—Hea.

Courage is the lamp of adversity.

Rather a dumb waiter than a stupid one.

A book that remains shut is but a block.

To a quick ear a half a word—German Proverb.

Blessings on his head that said, "Face about."

Ancient time was the youth of the world.—Bacon.

An elephant does not catch mice.—Latin Proverb.

I would rather die than be debased.—Latin Proverb.

A farthing saved is twice earned.—Italian Proverb.

Observe decorum even in your sport.—Latin Proverb.

Most of man's blunders are due to his self-conceit.

A dead man does not make war.—Latin Proverb.

A. GIOIA & BROTHER
MANUFACTURERS OF
HIGH GRADE MACARONI
71, Parkway, ROCHESTER, N. Y.

MY OFFER TO SMALL INVESTORS

I OFFER you an opportunity to share with me and my associates in the profits of our large and growing business in Good Luck Bread, Hostess Cake, and other Ward Bros. products.

our profits. I want to do it because I know you can make these profits larger by your recommendation of Ward's Bros. products, and I know that you will do it if you own our stock.

will receive the stock. At the same time we will pay you interest at 6 per cent on the money you have paid us. Maybe you want more information first; all right! Then fill out the coupon below and mail to me.

This is Ward Bros. Co. Bakery. The right hand section was built in 1913; the center in 1916; the left hand section is to be built shortly. You see we are growing, and this growth is in response to the steadily increasing demand for our products.

The profits on each loaf of bread and package of cake are only a fraction of a cent; but the aggregate profit on millions upon millions of these units is large and is growing fast.

For example: in 1913, our first year, our sales were less than $275,000. In the present year they will certainly be $1,700,000, and, I think, considerably more.

OUR PLAN FOR EXPANSION

We now have a greater demand for our bread and cake than we have capacity to bake—in spite of the addition we built to our original bakery in 1916. We are going to add one-third more to our bakery, and build another of those wonderful traveling ovens that bake 3000 loaves of bread an hour; we need more storage room, more wagons and other factors of conservative expansion.

All this takes money.

WHY WE COME TO YOU

Now I have waited for a long time to make partners of the users of bread and cake. I want to do it because I think you people of Rochester and vicinity are entitled to it because of the support you have given us—you are entitled to share in

WHAT WE OFFER YOU

This, therefore, is your opportunity and mine. With the consent of my associates, I offer you preferred stock (paying 7 per cent) and common stock (already paying 4 per cent, with prospects of more later) in blocks as follows:

Four shares of Preferred and one share of common $400. No more than five blocks to any one person, and none sold except to people living in Rochester and vicinity. You see we don't want mere money, we want interested stockholders.

HOW TO GET THIS STOCK

Does this opportunity to invest some of your money in a business which we have proved profitable and safe—does this opportunity to get 8 per cent on your money appeal to you?

If it does, send me your check in full payment for as many blocks as you want, from one to five—that is $400 to $2000—and the stock will be immediately issued to you, and you will receive the quarterly dividends on October 1st.

Or send me your check for $50 for each block you want and I'll set the stock aside for you. You then pay $50 per month for seven months until the stock is paid for, when you Whatever you do, do it right away. The offer is limited.

William B. Ward.

President Ward Bros. Co. Inc., Rochester, N. Y.

COUPON

WILLIAM B. WARD,
President Ward Bros. Co., Inc.,
Rochester, N. Y.

Send me, without obligation on my part, full information about the plan by which I can invest in your company and share in your profits.

Name

Street and No.

Town

