

SELECTING A HAT

Choice Should Be That Which Suits Wearer's Type.

Style Authority Asserts Women Should Wear Millinery Suitable to Their Own Personality.

A hat need not be expensive to be becoming, but it must be well chosen. The attractive hat in every case is the hat which suits the wearer's type. Do not, advises a style authority, choose blindly a hat which happens to strike your fancy, and which looks well on the salesgirl. Rather study your personality and dress up to it.

If you are a woman of middle age whose features are beginning to show telltale lines, you should not wear a hat which turns sharply off the face, nor one with sharp angles. The soft, cloudy lines of a drooping brim, be it ever so small, will better suit your type and disguise some of those wrinkles. A flesh-colored facing is also a good friend of the middle-aged woman. It will take a surprising number of years off your life.

The American type of face looks best in a hat which is extremely simple. It may require some self-restraint to resist the appeal of that extra bow or flower for your new hat, but the result will be worth it.

If you are the feminine, clinging-vine type of woman, you may wear feathers, flowers and lace. They are planned for just your type. You must be careful not to overdo it, however.

If you are inclined to be stout, do not attempt too much trimming and keep the brims of your hats narrow. Such trimming as you do use should be piled high on the hat, preferably toward the back on the left side.

If you are of a nervous temperament, avoid all dangling trimmings. Such trimmings do not look well when they are in constant motion, you know.

The prettiest hat in the world will not look smart unless it is well cared for. All hats should be dusted when they are taken off and placed in a box where they will be out of reach of dust. Make for yourself a set of hat boxes, which will last for many seasons, and prolong the life of your hats indefinitely.

PEPLUM IN AUTUMN FASHIONS

Adjunct in Present Season's Modes Is Accorded Distinct Place in Costume or Gown.

When the peplum arrived, decades ago, it was intended as a charm for the top of the skirt of a gown or costume, a soft bunching of fabric with space of apron-folding indeed.

In this season's modes, the peplum is accorded an individual use as well as a distinct place in the costume or gown. It may be almost knee length, or may extend halfway. It may be in ruffles or may be gathered in ruffled semblance at the waist, attached as in apron, or plaited flat.

It is given the liberty of an over-dress when made as a part of the gown—the waist and peplum together worn with a separate skirt. The peplum, as independent piece, can be adjusted with the skirts and blouses when hues harmonize—this is especially allowable when the peplum is black or white. Peplums in chiffon, georgette and crepe de chine lend themselves readily and charmingly to adjustments with costumes.

A red peplum gives a picturesque note to a black or white gown. A white crepe de chine gown of black georgette with a befrilled bodice is a stunning evening gown with the addition of a scarlet peplum.

NEW FALL UNDERWEAR STYLE

Two-in-One and Three-in-One Garments Brought Forward by Process of Elimination.

The modern process of elimination has brought about the two-in-one garment and the three-in-one piece designed to make one trifle of linen, crepe de chine or chiffon do service for several pieces.

There is, for instance, the knicker of satin attached to a fitted bodice-like camisole, from which hangs in turn a deep flounce of lace in lieu of the knee petticoat.

A second model has the nether section shaped like a chemise envelope but much wider, the sides slashed and trimmed with a flounce of fine lace.

At the top the material is gathered into a deep self-band threaded with wide violet satin ribbon the band flounced at the upper edge and attached to two wide bretelles of lace and chiffon—a wonderful model for wear with the evening gown, since the front and back of the upper part are free from fabric.

Little Girl's Skirt.

The little girl is getting her innings in the very latest mode of plaited skirts, and to the limit of being allowed to compete with big sister in the glory of big plaids. The little girl's big-plaid skirt is a surprise. It looks very demure in close little platings, a mere criss-crossing of colorings—and behold! the little girl does a bit of a hop, and that skirt flares into an ensemble of startling plaids that wouldn't be startling at all if big sister or mother had flattered the revelation. This is one of the caprices in little girl's clothes this season.

Hats of Short Haired Furs.

Small hats of short haired furs are being prepared for early winter. Fur and ribbon are frequently combined. Usually brocaded or metallic ribbons are used. Quantities of ribbons of all widths are seen, not only in conjunction with furs or velvet, but to make entire hats.

BLOUSE OF STRIKING DESIGN

To complete her tailored suit milady might well choose such a striking blouse as this soft-toned one of brocaded silk.

STYLES OF THE DAY

Fashion has by no means forgotten her love for bright colors. Coats on practical utility lines are being presented everywhere.

Openwork hosiery still remains in vogue despite the high prices. Scarfs of knitted silk or of some soft silken fabric are quite popular for early fall.

In next season's models the existence of a waistline is admitted, although no tightly fitted or extremely flaring garments have as yet put in their appearance.

The neck-pieces to wear with suits will be both large and small, and with a suit a muff to match is more frequently carried than with a fur coat. Muffs vary in size, the smart tendency being towards the plain, round one.

For afternoon wear are shown very charming long blouses of chiffon, lace, embroidery net and georgette. Velvet and satin blouses are well regarded as winter models for afternoon wear. Nail heads in steel or jet are featured as trimming.

Chiffon Velvet in Limeright.

Chiffon velvet is a material that is being widely utilized for the autumn and winter, and this is combined variously with georgette, meteor and crepe satin. One of the favorite arrangements is to pose a front panel of velvet reaching from the neckline to a point somewhat below the boundaries of the tie-back blouse upon a foundation of georgette or satin. In spite of a rather long acquaintance with this panel front, it is still extremely smart, and is worked out in many different combinations of fabric and color.

Tricotine is Popular.

Tricotine in navy blue, gray and soft grayish tans are used extensively for new fall dresses on chemise lines. Braids, embroidery and buttons are the trimmings employed.

COOL WEATHER SPORT CAPE

At the football games and at the country club this sport wrap is just the thing to keep out the chill breezes. It is a knitted cape in orange and white and is made on fashionable lines.
