Bishop McQuaid

Next Tuesday in St. Patrick's Cathedral, there will be a pontifical high mass of requiem in memory of the first Bishop of Rochester, Rt. Rev. Bernard J. McQuaid.

Although the contemporaries of the great first Bishop of Rochester now alive are few, there are many living here who knew Bishop McQuaid and who recall with pride his many achievements for God, Church and Country.

Economy

Governor Miller's inaugural address and first message to the Legislature are models of good diction and concise statement of what the new chief executive intends to do and have done during his two years as Governor.

Apparently, the new Governor thinks gross extravagance has prevailed and still prevails at Albany and that most of the state employees have soft snaps and too high salaries because he declares at least $80,000,000 or over one third the amount called for in the estimate of the departmental heads can and must be cut out.

If this charge be true it should be made specific and, not remain general. Let the Governor specify the extravagant departments; let him name the overpaid, underable, and lazy state employees! Let the slackers stand out in the open and thus permit the honest state servants to be counted and have their just credit.

dictated to by his state political bosses he will have the support of every fair-minded citizen, irrespective of party. But if it appears that his economy sermons are merely preliminary smoke screens to grab the patronage at the Capitol, then the public will take his true measure and act accordingly.

Is It Nonsense?

Evidently, Colonel George Harvey, editor of Harper's Weekly and the North American Review is in accord with Assemblyman Betts' bill to repeal the New York daylight saving law, as he declares that it is nonsense; that it has led so embarrassment and confusion and that whatever law we have on this subject should be universal throughout the country and that the people should be saved from the handicap and annoyance of trying to run two clocks at the same time.

Water Power

Water power development is one of the live topics of the day. The Federal Congress is taking deep interest in the subject.

New York state is intensely interested in water power development as probably there is more undeveloped power possibility in the Empire State than in any other State in the Union.

But there are those who think New York state should not have all to say in the water power matter. The Times-Union of this city, whose editor is one of the trustees of the New York State Association, the newly organized party which is to maintain "a Christian Lobby" at Albany, says:—Meantime New York state possesses great possibilities for power development.

But this state should not assume a dog in the manger attitude on the water power question. If it secures control of those rights it should at once outline a program of its own, which might well copy the federal act in providing for ultimate reversion to the state of any rights granted to private interests.

"Al." Smith is now a real workingman. He is chairman of the board of directors of the largest trucking corporation in the world. But he says this busy job entails less real hard labor, less working hours than to be Governor of New York state.

We hope James M. Lynch is not forced out of the State Industrial Commission on political considerations. The anniversary requiem mass in memory of Bishop McQuaid will be sung in St. Patrick's Cathedral next Tuesday at 10 A. M.

With the Governor!

Governor Miller starts off his term, at least, with the lively support of The Post Express of this city. In a leading editorial last Saturday, our contemporary said:—But the governor's battle is the people's battle. More than any other state executive in living memory he is the taxpayer's champion in a war against waste and graft.

Most druggists do not care to be liquor dealers. But some do and they find it pays. And these latter will keep the drug stores in the liquor business as long as the supply in the bonded warehouses holds out.

Let us hope the repeal of the "simplified spelling rule in the United States Navy Department will become universal." By the way, notwithstanding the Post Express, Josephus Daniels' retirement will mark the only Wilson appointee who will be missed.

President Harding is finding out there are depths and breadths and lengths of human nature he never dreamed.

Charles E. Hughes has been large in the public eye since 1906.

If George W. Aldridge were made collector of the port of New York it would seem a fitting recognition of the Monroe man's vote for Warren S. Harding on every ballot in the Republican national convention of 1920.

Mayor George Lunn and our old friend P. H. Galvin surely do shrink from the limelight of publicity.

Adelbert P. Little was not a showy but he was a hard working, valuable citizen.

LeRoy has a balance in its town treasury and hence there will be no local tax for its taxpayers to pay this year. Would that we lived in LeRoy or that Rochester could import some LeRoy officials.

Tuesday, Jan. 18.—The feast of St. Peter's Chair at Rome, founded in ancient martyrologies and observed to commemorate the establishment there, by the Prince of the Apostles, of the seat of the ecclesiastical primacy.

Wednesday, Jan. 19.—The feast of the Holy Family. Also the feast of St. Canute, King of Denmark, whose singular piety eclipsed even his skill as a leader and prudence as a ruler.

Thursday, Jan. 20.—St. Sebastian, an officer in the Roman army, who encouraged the brothers Marcus and Marcellinus to despise the world and die for Christ. He pleaded with Diocletian to stop his persecution of the Church. Sebastian died a martyr being beaten to death with clubs.

Friday, Jan. 21.—St. Agnes, virgin and martyr, who was scourged and subjected to the basest insults because of her faith. Finally her head was severed from her body.

Saturday, Jan. 22.—St. Vincent, archdeacon of the church at Saragossa, who died for the faith during the persecution of Diocletian after most inhuman tortures. His relics are preserved in the Augustinian monastery at Lisbon.

Knights of Columbus

William M. Smith, faithful navigator of the Rochester Fourth Degree Council, Knights of Columbus, is appointing numerous committees in connection with the annual banquet of the council. Sunday he announced Charles P. Hery as the chairman of the Decoration Committee.

Contrary to custom the members may invite friends. All members of the council have received notices and invitations and are asked to secure tickets at once for themselves and friends. No tickets will be available after January 20th.

Secretary of State John J. Lyons has been invited to be the guest of honor at the dinner.

Fiume's Surrender

(Continued from page 1) Although the Mayor replied in substance that he would never accept or recommend a settlement which did not insure the annexation of Fiume to Italy, it is important to note that the reasons which Cardinal Gasparri urged against further resistance were those which the Mayor of Fiume subsequently assigned for surrendering the city to the Italian forces.

De Valera's Farewell Message

"Land of the Free and Home of the Brave," farewell! May you ever remain, as I have known you, land of the generous-hearted and the kindly. May you stand through time as they would have you who love you—Liberty's chosen champion; and, oh, may you never know yourself the agony of a foreign master's lash.

So farewell, young, mighty, fortunate land; no wish that I can express can measure the depth of my esteem for you or my desire for your welfare and your glory. And farewell the many dear friends I have made and the tens of thousands who, for the reason that I was the representative of a noble nation and a storied appealing cause, gave me honors they denied to princes; you will not need to be assured that Ireland will not forget and that Ireland will not be ungrateful.

forming elements which the body needs in order to build up normal weight. Because of the fact that the flesh forming food elements of Father John's Medicine are in such a form that they are easily taken up by a weakened digestive system, many people find that they gain weight steadily while taking this old-fashioned doctor's prescription which for more than sixty years has been the standard family medicine in thousands of homes.
