

J. H. Cox

J. H. Cox, the Dublin correspondent of the N. C. W. C. News Service, is known not only as a brilliant journalist and essayist, but also as a foremost figure in the group of young Irishmen whose members have done much in recent years to elevate the stage and obtain proper recognition for Irish plays which truly reflect national life and ideals. He was educated at St. Mel's Diocesan College, Longford, and later received a civil service appointment in the office of the Irish Privy Council. Almost immediately he began to contribute to the Dublin newspapers in which his articles on music and the drama soon were established features. For several years he conducted a daily column devoted to art, literature and music in The Irish Independent, the newspaper having the largest circulation in Ireland. To this he has added recently a column of dramatic criticism. He also conducts the well-known "Sunday Survey Column" in Ireland's only Sunday newspaper. He is a frequent contributor to the magazines and the author of critical studies of Pascal, Mark Twain, George Meredith, J. M. Synge and others. Many of his articles have appeared in the newspapers of the United States, Canada and Australia. From the beginning of his career as a journalist he has shown the keenest interest in the Catholic press of his own and other countries, and in spite of the many demands upon his time is one of the most regular contributors to Catholic publications in Ireland and elsewhere and an exponent of Catholic truth, whose articles frequently are copied and commented upon in the secular newspapers. Already the N. C. W. C. has received many letters praising his contributions.

Not Fond of History.
Looking up from his history lesson, Bobby said: "Mother, I do wish I'd been born in the time of Julius Caesar."
"Why?" asked his mother.
"Cos then I shouldn't have to learn everything that's happened since."

Weekly Calendar Of Feast Days

(By N. C. W. C. News Service.)

Sunday, May 8.—The Apparition of St. Michael the Archangel, St. Michael, whom the Church honors this day was the prince of the faithful angels who opposed Lucifer and his associates in their revolt against God. He is honored as the special protector of the Church against the assaults and stratagems of the devil.

Monday, May 9.—St. Gregory Nazianzen, Patriarch of Constantinople at the time when that city was distracted by Arius and other heretics. During the Second General Council he resigned his see, hoping thus to restore peace to the tormented city and retired to his native town where he died A. D. 390.

Tuesday, May 10.—St. Antoninus, Bishop, born at Florence in 1389 and received the habit of the Dominican order in his sixteenth year. He sat as Papal Theologian at the Council of Florence and in 1446 became Archbishop of Florence. His charity earned for him the title of "The Father of the Poor."

Wednesday, May 11.—St. Mamertus, Archbishop of Vienne in Dauphine was a prelate renowned for his sanctity, learning and miracles. A terrible fire which broke out in Vienne and defied the efforts of men to extinguish it was quenched by the prayers of the good bishop. He died A. D. 477.

Thursday, May 12.—St. Epiphanius, Archbishop was born in Palestine about the year 310. He entered the monastic life and built a monastery in Palestine about 333. He was later made Bishop of Salamis in Cyprus and died in the year 403.

Friday, May 13.—St. John the Silent, was born of a noble family at Nicopolis in Armenia A. D. 454. After the death of his parents he built a monastery and entered it with the view of making salvation his only pursuit. When only twenty-eight years old he was made Bishop of Colophon in Armenia but later found means to abdicate his episcopal charge and entered the monastery of St. Sabas.

Saturday, 14.—St. Pachomius, abbot was born in Egypt of pagan parents but was converted by the kindness of Christians. He established a religious order at Tabenna where he trained vast multitudes in perfect detachment from creature and self. He died A. D. 348.

THE GIRL ON THE JOB

How to Succeed—How to Get Ahead—How to Make Good

By JESSIE ROBERTS

THE WOMAN DOCTOR

IT WAS not so long ago that the woman doctor was held more or less in contempt. She was supposed to be a freak, to put it clearly, and it was only freaks who would go to her for treatment.

It is still a surprise when you hear a college girl say that she is studying medicine. It will become less and less so as prejudice fades and as more and more women enter the field. There are nowhere near enough good doctors and in the constantly extending work of preventive medicine women will find the fullest opportunity. It is there, more even than with children and with women, that woman will do her greatest medical labor. Preventive medicine is only in its infancy. Those who know say that it will soon see an immense extension. The lessons of the war have been of tremendous value in teaching what may be expected, and even these are but fore-shadowings.

The woman who has a taste for medicine and who can give the necessary time to its study is preparing a fine future for herself. The day is over when the intellectual woman went into teaching as the one most interesting profession open to her. The woman doctor is already on her way. In a few years she will be known as commonly as her brother, and as favorably. No woman who feels drawn to the work should hesitate to follow it, if she can by any means accomplish the training required.

Education is only like good culture. It changes the size but not the sort.—H. W. Beecher.

Interesting Picture

The cornerstone of Holy Apostles Church was laid Sunday, May 31, 1896. This picture shows Bishop McQuaid conducting the services assisted by Rev. T. C. Murphy, rector and Rev. Dr. Sinclair of SS. Peter and Paul's Church, all of whom have passed into their eternal rest.

Nazareth Academy Golden Anniversary Observed By Alumnae

The 50th anniversary of Nazareth Academy was observed Tuesday evening, May 3rd, with a jubilee banquet which was attended by more than 300 alumnae. Bishop Hickey and a number of priests were guests and the bishop recalled the time he was chaplain at the academy. Referring to the influence of Nazareth upon the lives of the children, the bishop spoke in glowing terms of the value of education, especially Catholic education, to the community as well as to the individual soul. The Catholic system of parochial schools is maintained, he said, not to isolate the children from the community but to discharge the solemn duty of the church toward her children, to rear Christian citizens. The bishop concluded with an expression of praise and thanks to the sisters whose success he found in their influence as religious women upon the souls in their charge.

Miss Gertrude Ermantinger introduced the speakers, among whom were Mrs. Walter Calihan, president of the alumnae association, and Dr. Lucy Baker. Gold was the prevailing color in the decorations and a brochure was given as a souvenir to each guest. The evening closed with solemn Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament in the auditorium of the academy.

CATHOLIC WOMEN'S CLUB ACTIVITIES

At the May meeting of the Catholic Women's Club on Wednesday evening in the club rooms at No. 47 Clinton avenue north, it was announced that an informal reception for members would be held at the K. of C. clubhouse in Main street east on May 17th. Members are to receive holy communion in a body at the Cathedral on Sunday, May 22nd, at the 8:30 o'clock mass. After services they are to go to the club rooms where breakfast will be served. This will be followed by a May walk. On Thursday, May 24th, the annual dinner meeting of the club will be held at the Hotel Rochester. Rt. Rev. Thomas F. Hickey, bishop of Rochester, will be the guest of honor.

That's What the Hoover Electric Sweeper and Vacuum Cleaner does.

The "Hoover" is being demonstrated daily at our offices, 34 Clinton Avenue North.

The day will come for you, as it has for thousands of others, when you'll put away the insanitary broom and use the sanitary Electric Vacuum Cleaner instead.

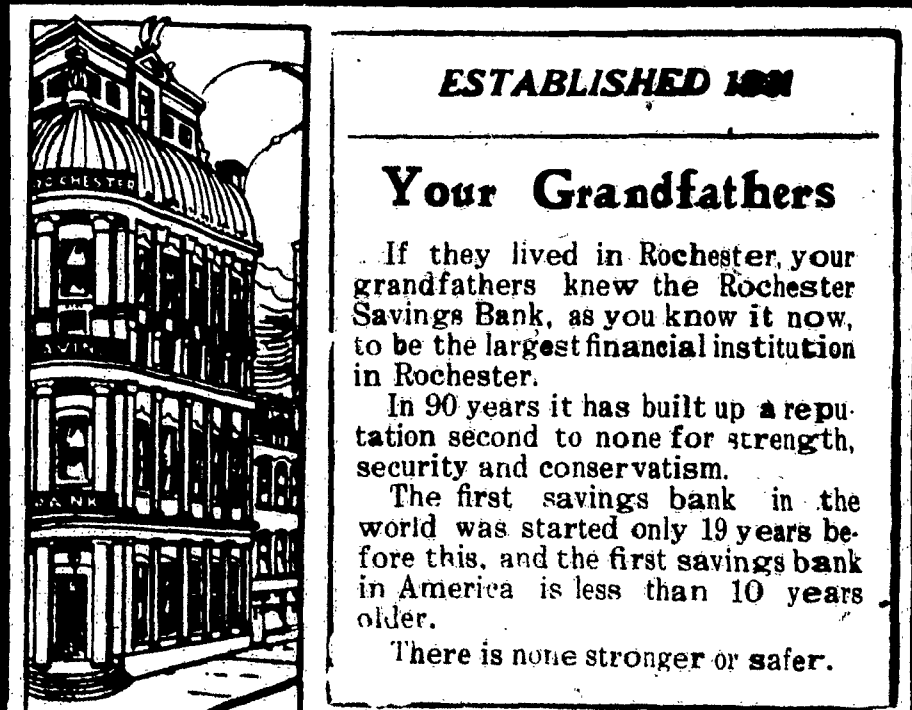

When that time arrives you should know which make of cleaner is best.

Begin your investigation by witnessing a demonstration of the "Hoover" first time you are downtown.

Your Grandfathers

If they lived in Rochester, your grandfathers knew the Rochester Savings Bank, as you know it now, to be the largest financial institution in Rochester.

In 90 years it has built up a reputation second to none for strength, security and conservatism. The first savings bank in the world was started only 19 years before this, and the first savings bank in America is less than 10 years older.

There is none stronger or safer.
