DOES NOT BELONG IN CITY
When the Arabian Musical Instrument, the Argul, Comes to Town, It Degenerates.

In Cairo the argul is played at night in the old city, and on the streets of the underworld, lending its note and interpretation to love songs that somehow follow when everything else in life has been lost or left behind, writes Robert Hamilton Rucker in Asia Magazine.

But, like many of the country bred, it seems to degenerate when it comes to town. It falls upon evil ways; it sings of love to the loveless; it hovers about the low cafes.

But the argul is all sentiment and sympathy. Its place is the desert; its home, we knew as we listened there on the rugs in front of our tents, in the wastes of the sandy plain and the stillness of the starlit night.

ENDS SHOULD BE VARNISHED
Agricultural Department Tells How to Prevent Door From Sticking on Damp Days.

A door which sticks to the frame every damp day is not conducive to untroubled feelings on the part of those who use it.

Wood specialists there say that the fact that the top and bottom edges of a door are practically always left unfinished is largely responsible for its troublesome habit of swelling and shrinking.

If the doors in a house are to shut easily and fit tightly, it is important that their top and bottom edges be protected by paint or varnish.

Used Nature's Gifts.
There are no indications that in remote time either oil or gas was put to much practical use as modern people understand that term, but there is little doubt that priests of the fire-worshipping cult which flourished in old Persia made "good things" out of the phenomena.

As to Names.
The late Champ Clark was christened James Beauchamp Clark, but he voluntarily dropped the first name, and later because people would insist on mispronouncing "Beauchamp," he rechristened himself with the name by which he was generally known.

Candor.
"Hiram," said Mrs. Cornstessel, "don't let our boy Josh write any more letters to people asking about summer board. Some of 'em are inquiring whether there are any mosquitoes."

Used to It.
"He doesn't seem to mind a thing people say when he is addressing his ball preparing to drive."

Tummy Note.
"I'm taking absent treatment for my indigestion."

Exaggerations.
"America is a wonderful country," said the distinguished visitor as the ship was landing.

Time Enough.
"Am I right in surmising that you have something of serious import to say to my daughter?"

Distinction Sans Difference.
Sensitive Goffer (who has fooled)
—Did you laugh at me, boy?
Caddie—No, sir; I was laughing at another man.

Parisienne's Bridal Gown.
The selection made by one of the most charming Parisienne society girls for her wedding gown: The skirt was short, while the long man-tau de cour was marvelously embroidered in silver thread and bordered with a double row of white lace.

ONE-PIECE DRESS
Blue Serge Outfit Has Lost None of Its Popularity.

Favorite Frock is Simpler This Season—Many of Them Have Little or No Trimming.

The blue serge one-piece dress has lost nothing of its general popularity, it is perhaps simpler this year, for very many of them have little or no trimming. There is the blue serge coat-dress which is a stunning thing when it is well done.

Most of the new coat suits are made to close in front with link buttons, so that they have the effect of just meeting instead of buttoning over, as was

SEES BEAUTY, NOT QUANTITY
Bride of Today Includes in Trousseau Only Ample Amount of Linen for Immediate Use.

Since the sheer and clinging fabrics of outer garments have made the cut and line and ornamentation of undergarments matters of so much importance in the final effect of every costume, lingerie presents in some measure a mode of its own with every changing season, according to Vogue.

Longer in Back Than Front.
Skirts in New Style Afternoon Dressing Note in the Recent Paris Openings.

Recent openings by Parisian designers revealed the skirts in new styles and reversions to old styles.

Many of the gowns had all the trimming on the front, and very little on the back. Plain draperies in back contrasted oddly with lower trimmed overdresses in front.

FASHIONS IN BRIEF
Jacket sleeves are three-quarter length and flare at the wrist.

With serge skirts are worn length jackets of quilted India silk, with bindings and piping the red, is a distinctive style.

A touch of black cleverly used, one of the best things to give character to gray. It must, however, be cleverly used.

Hemstitching is a popular thing for cotton and linen frocks; a pretty conceit is the use of contrasting shades of threads.

For the little girl of three or six years, colored garters seems the most approved dress-up frock. Sometimes a mingling of plain color or white finishes the frock.

Yulle is the most popular selection for the sheer, lingerie and cotton fabrics have shown prices that very few women can afford at reasonable figures.

Roll into some pretty little, finely chopped ruffles and the dough is fairly simple to cut out in desired shape.

With sufflings of white organdy, this is a delightfully cool and crisp outfit. It is youthful, too.

TENOR "CARRIED THE TUNE"

Distribution of Voices in the Singing of Old Ecclesiastical Songs, and in Opera.

In the old ecclesiastical songs the voice which sang the chant melody, and around which other parts grouped themselves was called the "tenor."

Voices were not formerly distributed as at present. W. J. Henderson in his "Early History of Singing," says: "We should undoubtedly be amazed to find Julius Caesar singing soprano or Achilles contralto, but the opera goers of the Seventeenth century would have been much astonished if either of them had been a barytone or a bass.

KNOW THE WORD OF COMMAND
Old Lady Quick to Recognize Phrase That She Had Heard Used by Her Willie.

Military terminology has affixed itself to our language. Recent advertisements of a new dictionary use such phrases as "cheerio," "how's your morale?" and "the zero hour."

In City Hall park last Wednesday another instance was noted. A young man halted at a newsstand. "Times," said he. Then, as the "newswoman" an old woman of sixty—stooped to get it, "As you were! World!"

The old woman, as she handed him the paper, clicked her heels together and delivered a perfect hand salute.

"My Willie was in the army, too," she explained.—New York World.

It's difficult for a man with a boat-rocking wife to paddle his own canoe.

Women are now employed as secretaries of London's smartest clubs.

The '21 model hammock is large enough for one and strong enough for two.

English Philanthropist.

Austin Hopkinson is fast gaining a reputation as one of the world's notable givers. Not long ago he gave his $150,000 mansion, Pycroft hall, with twenty houses, to the local council and moved into an old barn. Apparently having got the habit, he has now disposed of his furniture, partly by private sale at bargain prices and the remainder as gifts.

Cigar Ash Causes Smash-Up.
Cigar ashes are sometimes the cause of automobile accidents and frequently the cause of confusion in traffic.

Going Back.
"My dear," said Mrs. Snuypp-Jippen, wearily raising herself on one elbow, "we really must economize, don't you know?"

Crime in New York.
"I see a visitor to New York was arrested the other day because he had $350 in his pocket," said Church.
