Forcing the hot water through the clothes by air pressure, then back again by suction—that's the way "EASY" gets clothes clean

If you have no washing machine, you really need this. Not that it's a substitute for a real machine, but it's a great help.

Dirt or foreign substances lodged in the mesh or stuck to the garment cannot resist this 60-times-per-minute air pressure and suction. There's no rubbing, jerking or dragging of the clothes—no wear or tear. And there's no difference whether the washing is large or small, light or heavy.
