"Once in a Lifetime"

Zinc roofs, gutters, conductor pipes, valleys, etc., are now introduced through-out the city by F. O. Schmitt, Sheet Metal Contractor, at 2441-2 Clinton Ave. N.

Zinc is a chemical element, bluish white in color, and 6.8 times as heavy as water. It melts at 430 degrees centigrade.

Zinc is not found in nature in the pure or native state. It occurs chiefly as smithsonite (zinc carbonate), zinc blende or "blackjack" (zinc sulphide), and zincite (zinc oxide). To prepare zinc for the market these ores are first converted into zinc oxide, unless the oxide ore is used, by being roasted in the air. The resulting zinc oxide is then mixed with charcoal and heated in a retort from which a delivery tube leads into an iron receiver. The zinc passes off as vapor and condenses to a powder if the receiver is cold, forming zinc dust. If the receiver is hot the vapor condenses into a liquid. When this liquid, or molten metal, is poured into molds, it forms heavy bars which are called ingots or spelter. By pouring the molten metal into water, granulated or mossy zinc is formed.

Sheet zinc has successfully been used abroad for years, where zinc as roofing material is found in good condition after 40 years of service. It is a metal which will not rust and need's no paint.

Once in a lifetime is enough to re-place your metal roofing with zinc. Mr. Schmitt also gives a written guarantee of 25 years with all complete work. He also reminds you of your furnace which ought to be taken care of so that it will be ready when the cold weather sets in. For estimates call, Main 7494.

Keep your friendships in constant repair by practicing the golden rule.

One can be so busy that temptation takes one look and tiptoes away.

The American Six

The Motor's the thing that puts joy in your first ride—and each succeeding ride—in the Greater American Six. The car's unfailing smoothness and sureness 'round corners and over the roughest spots are due to its balanced principles of construction.

But in that gently throbbing heart—lies reserve power which spells Perfect Control.

Confidence in a car depends upon confidence in the Herschell-Spillman Motor is merited for these reasons: Smooth, even action, which minimizes vibration and insures lowest upkeep. Flexibility, with means quick response. Simplicity of construction and ready access to vital parts permit easy adjustment or repair.

Call on American Six Motors at 48 Scio St., and they will show you this beautiful car.

Service First—Their Motto

William Buckwell who served for five years with the Exide Battery Depot of Rochester, New York, and had full charge of all work that took place there is now located at 95 East Avenue, Phone Stone 4509. He is prepared to repair and recharge any make of battery, which you may have in your car, or if it is too far gone you can replace it with a new Exide Battery, the battery with "Long Life, Dependability and Power."

All work is done by expert repair men and if your battery is bad but is in such a condition that it can be repaired at a cost not too great for your pocketbook they can repair it.

It will pay to call and have a test taken of your battery as delays are some times fatal.

Batteries will be called for and delivered if one so wishes. They are also open Sundays from 10 A. M. to 12 M.
