

HOT WATER AS MUCH AS YOU NEED, AS HOT AS YOU NEED IT, AND WHENEVER YOU NEED IT

That, in a nutshell, is the story of the copper coil gas fired water heater.

You've needed hot water and couldn't get it. You've needed it hotter than you could get it. You've needed more of it than you could get.

All of which suggests that the water heating device you have been depending upon doesn't measure up to your needs.

Why put up with unsatisfactory hot water service when you can get a gas fired water heater for $31.50.

Payments if desired.

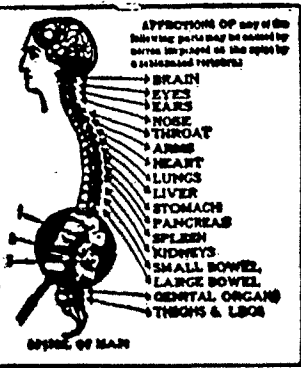

The price covers the placing of the heater in your home ready for use, provided there is a fuel line and flue outlet in the kitchen.

Phone, Main 3960.

ASK FOR DOMESTIC SALES DEPT.

We will gladly send for your order at any time or place to suit your convenience.

Rochester Gas & Electric Corporation

Chiropractic is the science that first demonstrated the connection between defective spines and disease. It discovered that disease is the result of interference with the nerve forces, due to the pressure of displaced spinal bones on the nerves.

Electrical Treatments Electric Baths. X-Ray Dr. L. BLISS 2 Gibbs St. Chase 1284

Dr. L. K. Mezger SPECIALIST

of 25 years' experience treats all chronic diseases with the latest electrical apparatus—X-ray and high frequency currents—for nervousness and general breakdown. Special attention to diseases of the lungs, catarrh, asthma, bronchitis and tuberculosis, using the latest inhalation methods. Ear, throat and nose; Thermal baths for rheumatism, intravenous injections for cases for blood poisoning; diseases of the skin, heart, stomach, kidney and liver; urinary examination and consultation free. No. 9 Cumberland St., near New York Central Depot.

ROCHESTER, N. Y.

Advertisement for A. R. Miller Jr. coal, featuring a picture of a man and text about coal quality and contact information.

REFLECTIVITIES

Tellers of truth say little. Society excuses the witty growler. Credulity thinks others short sighted. As well eat the devil as the broth he is boiled in. The German army now numbers 150,000 men. Critics are like brushes of other men's clothes.

HER SURRENDER

By MILDRED WHITE.

Copyright, 1921, Western Newspaper Union.

I have something now to tell you, Suzanne, that will make you open your eyes very wide as you read, and sigh over the caprices of your companion niece. For it was first a caprice that sent me into the depths of the Blue Hills to visit Uncle Horace in his isolated grandeur; really, Blue Mountain house is a grand place. And it was caprice, again, which caused me to refuse the heart and hand of Uncle Horace's young friend, lately returned from the West. Years ago, it seemed, Uncle Horace and the father of this young man, Nathan Warren by name, were boyhood friends in the Blue Hills region, and neither of them in old age had forgotten the freedom and adventure of that happy time. So both erected homes there, but while Uncle Horace remained to enjoy both his home and success, Nathan Warren's father passed on to the great beyond. So Nat, as we call him, comes occasionally to look over the desolate, empty house, which his modest circumstances will not permit him to support, as his father left no money.

"Nat," my uncle impressed upon me, was an exceedingly worthy young man of whom the future would hear, if not the present. Certain it is, that the present has not heard. Of course I liked him, Aunt Suzanne; no one could resist Nat's wholesome charm. But I did not want to care too much.

I did not aspire to cook three meals a day for even a charming Nat Warren in some hot grubby kitchen. The kitchen would be grubby if I lost the care of it, etc.—at others meaning all the other drudging things it was possible I might have to do upon becoming the humble Nat's wife. So I refused him decidedly and was all grieved and angry in my heart that he dared make me love him.

We parted with a quarrel. I was glad in my perturbation when Rosie, Uncle Horace's cook, asked me if I would row to Mammae Chloee's little cabin to see if either she or her slim daughter, Pearl, could be persuaded to come over for a day, to help us in the house. Chloee is a landlady, while Pearl bakes delicious cakes and pies.

I traced the few steps to Mammae's cabin door, banging it behind me just in time to escape the downpour. And Suzanne's neighbor, Mammae, and her dusky daughter were at home.

There I was, in a terrific electric storm, marooned in a cabin on Strawberry Isle. And as usual, even in danger, my predominant sense was up-berms, and I hunted for something to eat.

So I enveloped myself in the scarlet apron and went to work, singing, too, Suzanne; the coffee smelled so delicious, and the storm outside seemed a vent for my own feelings. There, looking from the window I saw him—Nathan Warren. He was in a small motorboat, and the winds were buffeting it about, but I think I should recognize Nat if he were no more than a speck on the surface of the sea.

Always I seem to know when he is near. He would seek shelter at the cabin, of course, and no doubt it was I, and all the hard things I had said which had driven him out unheeding into the storm.

I caught up Pearl's red turban from its peg, rather a cross between a boudoir cap and a turban, and pulled it well down over my eyes. If I could keep my back toward Nat and go on working over this stove, it was not likely that he would discover my identity. So I answered his sharp rap with Pearl's grating, grim. He went right past me into the other cabin room and sat down before a small table.

"I am likely to be here for some time," he called. "The storm is pretty bad. Can't I have some of that tempting bacon?"

"Yes, sah," I answered in a sort of whisper. I had to keep him from suspecting, you see; so I put all the delicious dinner I had prepared for myself on a tray, and carried it in—to that man. He did not look up from the magazine he had opened, but praised the coffee extravagantly as he used the last bit of cream. And Suzanne I never was so pleased at anything in my life as Nat Warren's praise of my cooking. He did enjoy it. And it was so good to see him sitting there in that lonely cabin room, that I brought wood while his back was still turned and kindled it in the fireplace to take off the damp of his ride.

And when I went to fill the lamp in the kitchen, I caught a glimpse of my face in Mammae's mirror, and it was so bright and happy that it startled me. Yes, happy because he and I were not separated forever, as I had thought, but just together, in a dingy cabin room, with wind and storm tearing at the windows, but together; even if Nathan Warren did not know that fact himself. I carried the big coffee pot in to him silently joyous. There was smokes on my face and a burn on my arm. Nat took the coffee pot from me then and kissed my burn.

"Party, dear," he said, "you are some good little cook. I still think I am right about that life job. Take off Pearl's crimson outfit, and come around where I can look in to the heaven of your eyes. I came right out after you in the storm, dear, when Rosie told me where you had gone." And Suzanne, I took off that apron as meekly as you please, and went round to sit at Nat's side, forever.

RUTHLESS WORK OF HUNTERS

Lovers of Wild Life Aroused Over the Wholesale Slaughter of Large Antelope Herd.

Indignation has been aroused among those interested in the conservation of wild animals, over the slaughter by hunters of at least half the antelope in a large herd that makes its home in the open country northwest of Swift Current, Saskatchewan.

The herd lived unmolested for years and at its maximum numbered 300 animals. Hunters began to make clandestine raids on the herd last fall and kept up their depredations during the winter. At the opening of spring not more than 150 antelope were left.

Pronounced antelope, once rivals of the bison in number on the plains of North America, have been almost exterminated. This is one of the few wild herds remaining on the continent. When the Hudson's Bay company was the sovereign power on the prairies the land which is now rapidly selling to farm settlers swarmed with antelope. Now only a few hundreds are left of the hosts.

The antelope of the United States have shared the fate of those of Canada. Except for a few fugitive bands in desert wastes all the wild antelope have disappeared. The greatest herd left on the continent is in Yellowstone park under government protection. Small herds also are flourishing in government parks in Montana and Oklahoma. Antelope are prolific and multiply rapidly under favorable conditions.

The Canadian government has been notified of the decimation of the Swift Current herd by hunters and asked to take immediate steps to save the antelope from extermination.

INSIST ON CLOSED WINDOWS

Antipathy of Europeans to Anything Like Fresh Air Strikes Americans as Astonishing.

The most difficult thing for an American traveling in Europe, outside of England, is to have a window opened in the dining room of a hotel or on a train. I saw an aged French baron at Mentone enter the dining room of a hotel with two valets and a tame waiter who was engaged specially to keep out the slightest draft.

It is pretty warm in the south of France in May and the sun was striking on the glass sides of the dining room, but the baron felt a chill. The waiter went to each window and plugged up imaginary crevices with serviettes and a walet, but still his patron called out at intervals: "Il y a un courant d'air!" The two valets at his side felt him with the choicest tidbits from the table, but he was not satisfied. Just before I left the energetic waiter found a keyhole which had not been used for a quarter of a century and plugged it up.

When I was at the Krupp factory in Essen in May, the chief engineer took me from one building to another in a fine limousine car belonging to one of the directors. It was a very hot day and I suggested that we might have a window opened. The chief engineer tried them all without success, and then spoke to the chauffeur. He said they had never been opened since the car came from the factory. The director had only had it two years, he added. New York Times.

Testing Values of Wood.

Nine Brazilian woods, tested at the forest products laboratory, at Madison, Wis., to determine their value for furniture, have been found to have the following characteristics: cabreva, resistance to saw similar to American larch, no stain needed; cedro, resistance to saw similar to Spanish cedar, finish similar to Spanish cedar; embuya, resistance to saw similar to birch, with dark stain would resemble walnut; ipe, resistance to saw similar to greenheart, no stain needed; jacaranda, resistance to saw similar to walnut; jatiba, resistance to saw similar to American elm, could be substituted for mahogany unstained; jequitiba, resistance to saw similar to rock elm, could be stained to imitate mahogany; marim, resistance to saw similar to greenheart, requires color; peroba, resistance to saw similar to walnut, might be used unstained in place of rosewood.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Misunderstood the Doctor.

Lawrence, age ten, had been slightly ailing for a few days, but not ill enough to affect his appetite seriously.

In his mother's absence, the grandmother had been carefully dieting him, much to his annoyance. Finally, in desperation, Lawrence appealed to the family physician for a list of foods he might safely eat. The physician named a long list of light foods, and Lawrence's joy was unbounded. However, the fates were against him and a "horrible conspiracy" was revealed at the next meal, when he learned that the doctor meant that not all of the list, but only a few articles from the list were to be eaten at one meal. He had anticipated a meal consisting of each and everything the doctor had named.

Ice Cream for China.

Thousands of gallons of ice cream are being shipped every month from Vancouver to China, the frozen dainties being forwarded in specially constructed containers holding about 500 gallons each. This fact was brought out in the course of an investigation to discover whether the prohibition era had any effect on the sale of ice cream and soft drinks.

CARDINAL MERCIER DISAPPROVES MONUMENT

(By N. C. W. C. News Service) Paris, Sept. 29.—A committee has been founded at Malines to erect a statue to Cardinal Mercier.

The eminent prelate has just written to the organizers of the committee that he formally refuses this honor. "Monuments are for the dead," he said, "and I should desire not to be excluded from the number of the living."

ARCADE THEATRE

"Tess Of The Storm Country"

Commencing Monday evening, October 17, and running throughout the week the offering of the Kinsey Stock Company at the Arcade Theatre will be Rupert Hughes's powerful play of primitive passion—"Tess of the Storm Country". As every theatre goes knows "Tess of the Storm Country" is one of the greatest plays ever written. The Arcade stock company promises a complete production with special scenery and effects. Kathryn Kinsey will be seen in the fascinating role of "Tess". This is the part in which Miss Kinsey was featured for the past year. It is a part especially suited to this clever little player. The entire company will be seen in this production. Milton Goodhand and Hazel Baker, two clever players who have joined the company this week will be seen in important parts. The other members of the company will also be cast to advantage.

Corpus Christi.

A pretty wedding took place in Corpus Church on Wednesday morning when Miss Esther Madelyn Hicks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Hicks, of 34 Erion Crescent, became the wife of Mr. Homer Francis West, son of Mr. and Mrs. John West of 78 Mulberry street. There were no attendants. Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the Rochester Club. Covers were laid for fifteen, the guests being members of the immediate families of the bride and groom. Mr. and Mrs. West left for a wedding journey, and upon their return to Rochester will reside at 30 Park avenue. The bride was the guest of honor at a number of pre-nuptial entertainments.

St. Augustine.

Forty Hours' Devotion will open next Sunday morning after the high mass at 10:45 o'clock and will continue until Wednesday morning, closing with solemn high mass at 8 o'clock, followed by benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Confessions will be heard afternoons and evenings during the period of devotions. The hours at which masses will be celebrated will be announced Sunday. Sermons will be delivered as follows at the evening services: Sunday, Father William P. Ryan of St. Bernard's Seminary; Monday, Father Louis Edelman of Pittsford; Tuesday, Father Edward Lynch of St. Mary's Church.

Rehearsals are under way for the annual minstrel show held by the young men of St. Augustine's parish. The production is under the direction of Charles Hawken, who was in an organization which toured the army camps in France. The minstrel show will take place at Convention Hall next Friday evening.

Personal Development Course

A course of lessons in Personality or Personal Development, extending over a period of three months, and given at the moderate rates charged by the Darrow School of Business for any of its regular Evening School Courses, will begin on Monday, October 17th. This course will benefit anyone in any line of work. Address 218 East Ave., Tel. Stone 1974.

Gifts That Last Watches, Clocks, Jewelry, Cut Glass, China BELLOWS & HOWDEN JEWELERS Gea. 1991 195 Genesee St.

A NEGLECTED COLD

at this time of year may develop into a serious cough or lung trouble. Father John's Medicine treats colds in the natural way, by giving each organ strength to resume its normal work. Remember, you are safe when you take Father John's Medicine because this old-fashioned family medicine contains no alcohol or dangerous drugs.

FREE X-RAY EXAMINATION

Free consultation, free advice and free examination, including the X-Ray, Chemical Analysis and Blood Pressure Test whenever necessary. Such is the generous offer made by The Chiropractic Electro-Medical Doctors to all the sick and ailing who call upon them during the next seven days.

CHIROPRACTIC-ELECTRO-MEDICAL DOCTORS 37 East Main St. Near Four Corners, Rochester, N. Y.

ROCKY MOUNTAIN GREAT Asthma Remedy HAY FEVER Asthma Bronchitis Stomach Troubles Coughs and Colds Prompt relief Manufactured by VAN BORTLE 66 North Street Rochester, New York

Danger Signals

of Nature, taking the form of headaches, dizziness, sleepless nights, come as warnings that all is not right within our bodies. You take a laxative to clean out the bowels and imagine that you should feel better at once, but that is not all that is necessary. You must take something to tone up the liver, clear the blood and stomach before you can expect to feel better.

Father Mollinger's Famous Herb Tablets

act as a laxative and also clean up the entire system. Put back the bloom of health in your cheeks by removing the toxins that have been slowly poisoning you. These tablets compounded from famous formula written more than 50 years ago contain nothing but the purest of herbs, and can be taken without forming any drug habits. Get a box today; absolutely safe for children and adults. 50c and $1.00.

Order Direct from MOLLINGER MEDICINE COMPANY 93 Mollinger Building East Park Way, N. E. Pittsburgh, Pa.

ABSOLUTE PERFECTION IS NEVER REACHED

The "last word" in convenience and improvement of home sanitation has not yet been written—but each year sees progress.

A bath room twenty years old—is not up to the standard of today. The extent of recent improvements will delight you. Let us talk with you on modernizing your plumbing system. Your home will be made much more convenient and attractive, and the sale or rental value will be much increased.

W. J. BROWN 18 MONROE AVENUE Stone 149

COAL THAT SATISFIES

Advertisement for F. W. Evans Coal Co. Inc. featuring a picture of a coal train and text about coal quality and contact information.

IS THE KIND WE SELL

Home Phone, Stone 3098 Bell Phone Chase 669 East Avenue Drug Company Inc. Drugs, Chemicals, Toilet Articles, Candies, Cigars, and Kodak Supplies "We Handle Quality Goods Only" 277 East Avenue

Lewis Ness Carting Co. Movers of Freight, Safes, Machinery. Furniture Handled by Careful Experienced Men—in Padded Vans Local and Long Distance 125 Mill St. Rochester Telephone: Main 415 Stone 430