Rochester Musical Composer Comes Into Prominence

With a very recently published suite of piano compositions a Rochester composer has taken place with the foremost of America's writers of music and has made a valuable contribution to our rapidly forming national melodic literature.
 This man, Bernhard L. Jewett of 669 North Goodman Street, in "Village Idylls" has reached a height of musical imagery and solid harmonic achievement that will gain for him recognition as an American composer with a definite ideal and the equipment to attain it.
 Mr. Jewett began his musical studies at the age of fourteen with Carl Bodell, a Russian pianist and composer, and continued them at the Chicago Musical College under Hans Von Schiller, Augusta Pio and Louis Ealk. Mr. Jewett has been reticent and retiring although many of his compositions have found favor and praise among musicians. Among these have been "The Song of the Night," "Album Leaf," "Dance of the Sylphs" and "Valse Caprice" together with many anthems, folk songs and other compositions. These efforts have extended over the period since 1913.

Prepare For The Winter

These cold nights and the approaching winter months are surely reminders to home owners to prepare for the cold weather to come.
 Mr. J. Weiss, 618 North Street, is well equipped to give the best of service and advice along the most important lines of this subject, namely, the roof and proper heating of the house. Mr. Weiss has been in this special business for the past twenty-five years, and experience is surely a most important factor in this line of work. He has been at his present location for seven years, has acquired a very efficient force of experienced helpers and through his excellent work at all times, has made for himself a large and well established patronage. He contracts a general business in sheet metal, and contracts of all descriptions are handled.
 Mr. Weiss also does an extensive business in the installing of Ajax furnaces which he recommends very highly as he finds through his experience they have proved most satisfactory.

A Fliver Hospital

The Economy Garage specialize in Ford Cars.
 The Economy Garage operates a Ford Repair and Service Station, in fact, that is the special kind of car they repair. Each day sees a line of "Lixies" parked along the cement floor waiting for mechanics, wrenches and parts in hand, about to make the wrong right.
 A stock of Ford Parts is kept on hand at all times and there's a corps of trained workers fitted to repair the Fords which need overhauling.
 If there is anything in the way of Ford accessories that a motorist desires, he is invited to call on the Economy Garage, 672-674 South Ave.

Quick Service and Good Work is the Motto of The Bartlett Plumbing and Heating Engineers.
