DON'TS ABOUT THE AUTO RADIATOR
Don't use the so-called Radiator Stop Leaks and Chemical Compounds, which will clog up the core of cooling section, and cause the engine to overheat and the leak is only stopped temporarily. The if stopped at all, as soldering is the cheapest and the only mechanical way. Don't put a cardboard at the bottom of the Radiator, as that is the cause of 90 per cent of frost broken radiators. Don't take a chance at having your radiator ruined by inexperienced repair men.
The first-class equipment and experienced men in the employ of Schmitt's Sheet Metal & Radiator Repair Co., located at 244 1/2 Clinton Ave., just south of Central Ave., will save time, material and consequently save you money.
No matter how badly a radiator has been frozen, smashed or circulation stopped, the ruined cooling system can be removed from the tanks and a complete new genuine honeycomb, freeze-proof type cooling section installed, making the radiator, to all intents and purposes, NEW, at a great saving of cost to its owner.

CHARLES T. HIGGINS
Mr. Charles T. Higgins, 16 1/2 North Union St., is one of Rochester's pioneers in the business of automobile trimming. For several years he was with James Cunningham, Son & Co., and also Edward Rabe.
Mr. Higgins is prepared to do everything in the trimming line from the floor carpet to the top; on both open and closed cars.
Just at this particularly disagreeable time of the year; open car owners will do well to pay Mr. Higgins a visit and let him fit their cars with curtains that open with the doors. He also makes an especially fine radiator cover and so thoroughly protect it from the weather. The business done by Mr. Higgins is well founded on the slogan "I trim the car—not the owner."

A CHRISTMAS SUGGESTION FOR THE MAN
There are very few men at the present time, who do not wear a belt—variably throughout the summer, and very many the year round. A new belt is always welcome and one of "The New Endless Belts" doubtless will not makethis a "Belt Christmas" for the men you are to make gifts to.
The New Endless Belts have no troublesome loops, have hidden ends and the latest patented buckles. They may be found at your Haberdashery, Dry Goods Stores or the Jewelers and in a variety of styles.

Doughty Pickax Passes.
In the hands of lazy laborers the pickax becomes the irritation, despair or agent of humor of the average observant man. Symbol of toil, properly speaking, shirkers have turned it into mockery of labor because of the carefully calculated leisure with which they swung it. By their methods these cunning clock watchers changed the pickax into a visible sign of leisure.
But without knowing it these left surely pickax wielders were working a change of great importance. They were attracting the attention of men whose business it is in life to see that work is done promptly, efficiently and economically. From these men has come the air hammer or air pick. In its street work a New York company has used one of these new implements with a gasoline engine and air compressors mounted on a large motor truck behind it. Where 15 men were hired to do the street job three are enough to do the work with this instrument.—New York Herald.

To Preserve Famous Trees.
The National Geographic society recently presented the United States government with the title to the last 840 acres of land which complete the "big tree" stands forming Sequoia national park. The park, established to preserve the most massive trees in the world from being converted into lumber, totals 1,916 acres. It was purchased in three sections, during 1918, 1920 and 1921, for a total of $146,330, only $50,000 of which was contributed by the government. The remainder was contributed by the members of the National Geographic society, their friends, and by a tax levy of Tulare county, California.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.
