Henry W. Saucke

During six successful years Henry W. Saucke has been extending to the industrial and commercial interests of Rochester a very fine grade of work turned out at his shops located at 73 Franklin St. in the grinding of automobile and gas engine cylinders, likewise in the making of very fine oversize pistons, rings and wrist pins. Mr. Saucke with his twenty years practical experience as a skilled mechanic, and the fine facilities of his work shops has built up a very substantial business by specializing in certain classes of work, and completing each job in a very fine thorough manner. He took a four years' course at the Mechanic's Institute, finishing the day course in 1906. Mr. Saucke is well able to interpret and reproduce fine blue-print designing in special machinery construction. In fact pattern work may safely be placed in his hands, for precision has been one of his hobbies, both in the making of patterns carrying out the completion of designs.

Fine tools and machinery for regrinding of cylinders representing a considerable outlay of money, are in operation in these shops, at 73 Franklin St., in the hands of mechanics that take pride in turning out good work. Mr. Saucke has just installed one of the latest types of the Landis Tool Company's special grinding machines.
Mr. Saucke's creed is quick service, work well and rightly done, with his shops operated upon a basis of square dealing to all patrons. Mr. Saucke personally supervises all jobs taken in and his well rounded organization has always shown a willingness to work overtime if necessary in order to place back in service any automotive equipment held up by work underway in the Saucke Shops.
Henry W. Saucke is gaining a very fine standing in this vicinity for reliable and dependable work.

The Better Version.
The Sunday school teacher thought she detected something peculiar about the hymn as sung by the boy nearest her, so she called for a repetition of it and this is what she heard:
"Dare to be a Daniel;
Dare to stand alone;
Dare to have a purple spine;
Dare to make it known."
Later, taking the lad aside, she convinced him that the "purple spine" version was really the better of the two versions.—Boston Transcript.

Still Useful.
Mrs. A. had just finished cutting her five-year-old daughter's hair and was preparing to throw away the clippings when the youngster asked, "Mother, what are you going to do with the hair you cut off my head?"
"Why, throw it away, of course," answered Mrs. A., a trifle impatiently.
"Why, what made you ask?"
"Oh, I thought maybe you would save it to patch father's watch," returned the youngster. "It needs it bad enough."

Daniel's Sixth Anniversary

The present week marks the sixth anniversary of Daniel's Apparel Shop. Mr. Henry Daniels is the proprietor and with this slogan "Always aim to satisfy" as a standard has built up a most gratifying business.
A most pleasing feature of the Daniel's Shop is the fact that but one or two models of the same style are carried. These are always of the smart, youthful class.
The Manager makes a trip to New York at least once in each two weeks and therefore new and up to the minute stock is always available.
Being out of the high rent district of Main St. the prices are more moderate too.

Wm. J. J. Weber

Economy is the style this year, and "Thrift" the watchword. Men and women are doing with fewer clothes, and fewer luxuries.
To those who this season are getting along with fewer clothes than usual, we know that the service offered by Mr. Wm. J. J. Weber, 536 Portland Ave. corner of Clifford, will be particularly pleasing. Mr. Weber specializes in all kinds of repair work including also both steam and dry cleaning, pressing and altering.
He has been located on Portland Ave. for the past six years and the ever increasing number of satisfied customers of Mr. Weber is proof that it pays to turn out first class work and render real service in every meaning of the word.

NOBLE RELICS OF THE PAST

Triumphal Arch of Titus, at Rome, and the Colosseum, Are Splendid in Their Ruin.

The Triumphal Arch of Titus in Rome, was built in 70 A. D. to commemorate the defeat of the Jews, and was dedicated to the Emperor Titus after his death. It is adorned with fine sculptures in relief. On the frieze outside is a sacrificial procession, and on the inner side Titus is seen crowned by Victory in a quadriga driven by Roma. On another part of the arch is a triumphal procession of Jews, the Table of Shew Bread, and the seven-branched candlestick. In the center of the vaulting the consecrated emperor is seen being carried to heaven by an eagle.

In 1882 the arch was a set of ruins, and some of the medieval additions were removed and it was partly reconstructed. The colosseum, with seats for 50,000 spectators, originally called the Flavian amphitheater, was completed by Titus in the year 80 A. D., and derives its later name, probably, from a colossal statue of Nero. The colosseum is now all in ruins.
