Weekly Calendar Of Feast Days

(By N. C. W. C. News Service.)

Sunday, July 2.—The Feast of the Visitation of the Blessed Virgin, recalling how Mary, through motives of Christian charity, visited her cousin St. Elizabeth, who, recognizing Mary as the Mother of God, burst into raptures at the mystery of the Incarnation and pronounced her Blessed above all other women.

Monday, July 3.—St. Heliodorus, a disciple of St. Jerome, who accompanied him on a visit to the east. Heliodorus was made Bishop of Altino in Italy. He died in 290.

Tuesday, July 4.—St. Bertha, widow and abbess. She had five daughters, two of whom are saints. After the death of her husband, she entered the nunnery which she built at Blagny in Artois. After establishing a regular observance in her community, she left St. Deotila as abbess in her stead and shut herself up in her cell to pass the remainder of her days in prayer. She died about 725.

Wednesday, July 5.—St. Peter of Luxemburg, who, at the age of twelve, went to London as a hostage for his brother. Because of his holy example he was released at the end of one year. When only fifteen he was appointed Bishop of Metz and later was created Cardinal. He died, at the age of eighteen, in 1387.

Thursday, July 6.—St. Goar, son of an illustrious family in Aquitaine. From early youth he was distinguished for his piety, and having received Sacred Orders, the King summoning him to court, wished to have him made Bishop of Metz. Fearing the responsibilities of office he prayed that he might be excused. He was seized with a fever and died in 575.

Friday, July 7.—St. Pantzenus, Stoic philosopher who was converted and placed at the head of the Christian school in Alexandria. Later he preached the gospel to the eastern nations. He died in 216.

Saturday, July 8.—St. Elizabeth of Portugal, who at the age of twelve years, was given in marriage to the King of Portugal. Her patience and the wonderful sweetness with which she cherished even the children of her rivals, completely won the king from his evil ways and he became a devoted husband and a truly Christian ruler. After her husband's death she took the habit of the Third Order of St. Francis and spent the rest of her life in austerities and almsgiving.

When the nation's young men and women have been taught to use their bodies correctly and are standing up straight many of the problems facing the country today will have been solved. There will be fewer instances of break-down in the mill and the office and the home. People will carry their loads easily. The development of their bodies will make it possible for them to know the fullest joy that life can give.

People are breaking down in health all the time. And as the business man, the housewife and the student fall by the roadside the public dolefully exclaims: "The load was too heavy!" As a matter of fact people break down, not because the load they are carrying is too great, for in nine cases out of ten they could carry more than they are asked to, but because they don't know how to get the load on the Designer. They put the pack on in the wrong place and then the human machine is used in such a way that a great deal of their energy is required to overcome what would mechanically be called friction.
