

The Rochester Business Institute

Will Open its Sixtieth School Year

On Tuesday, September Fifth

The year 1923 will be a notable one for the R. B. I., in view of the sixtieth anniversary celebrations, in which students, alumni, patrons and friends will participate.

Nearly 42,000 students have attended the school since it was founded in 1863. The high quality of the courses, the efficiency of the instructions and the personal interest in the welfare of the students while in school and continued in the positions secured for them, have been the chief causes of this large attendance.

R. B. I. graduates have been fitted for the most responsible positions in the business world. Many of them have risen to the highest places as secretaries, business executives, managers, accountants and commercial teachers. They are prominent in the civic, official and business life of Rochester, and are to be found in every state in the Union.

The school has its own building, with location, construction and equipment not surpassed by private commercial schools anywhere.

Many enrollments for the fall term have already been made and others are coming in every day. Register this week, if possible, because of the large number to be taken care of next Tuesday, September 5th. If impossible for you to begin next Tuesday, you may enter on the first or third Monday of any month in the year.

Weekly Calendar Of Feast Days

Sunday, Sept. 3.—St. Seraphia, virgin and martyr, was born at Antioch of Christian parents who fled from the persecution under Adrian. Resolving to consecrate her life to Christ she gave away all of her possessions and finally sold herself into slavery. Through the Saint's piety, her mistress, a Roman lady named Sabina was converted to the Faith. Having been denounced as a Christian the Saint was condemned to death by fire but miraculously escaped. She was later beheaded.

Monday, Sept. 4.—St. Rosalia, was the daughter of a noble family descended from Charlemagne. She was born in Palermo. Desiring worldly vanities she made her abode in a cave on Mount Pellegrino where she practiced austere penance and manual labor. She died in 1160.

Tuesday, Sept. 5.—St. Laurence Justinian, refusing the offer of a brilliant marriage fled secretly from his home at Venice and joined the Canons Regular of St. George. He became the first Patriarch of Venice and died A. D. 1485 at the age of seventy-four.

Wednesday, Sept. 6.—St. Eleutherius, was chosen abbot of St. Mark's near Spoleo and favored by God with the gift of miracles. He later resigned his abbacy and died in St. Andrew's monastery in Rome about 585.

Thursday, Sept. 7.—St. Omer, confessor, was the son of Chlodowig, King of Orleans. After his father's death his uncles divided the kingdom between them and he fled to a monastery of Luxen, whither he was persuaded by special providence, renounced the world and devoted himself to the service of God. He later established a monastery about two leagues below Paris where he assembled many pious men who fled from the world for fear of losing their souls in it. He died about 560.

Friday, Sept. 8.—The Nativity of the Blessed Virgin. The birth of the Blessed Virgin Mary announced joy and the near approach of salvation to the lost world. Mary was brought forth in the world not like other children of Adam, infected with the loathsome contagion of sin, but pure, holy, beautiful, and glorious, adorned with all the most precious graces which became her who was chosen to be the Mother of God. She appeared in him, after having sold his worldly goods and distributed the proceeds among the poor. He was called from his solitude to take charge of the government of the Church in Terouednne. When he took charge, the greater part of the people living within the limits of his diocese were pagans but through his efforts it soon became one of the most flourishing dioceses in France. He died in 670.

Eastman Theatre Opens

Labor Day, will find the $5,000,000 university owned and university operated Eastman Theatre in active operation. Throughout the week tests and surveys have been made covering every feature of the great enterprise and it has been pronounced in readiness to function as designed by the architects, engineers and experts responsible for its perfection and George Eastman, whose philanthropy placed the big model theatre in the hands of the University of Rochester with an endowment ample to permit of the widest experimentation.

On Saturday preceding the public opening an informal gathering of leading figures of the film industry is scheduled. Saturday afternoon will be devoted to an informal reception and in the evening a dress rehearsal will be given of the bill which opens on Monday for the entire week.

Similar programmes will be given throughout a full week for the first month of operation after which manager Charles N. Goulding has arranged to slide gradually into the fixed policy of the house. This contemplates a three day showing of a feature picture with incidental music starting on Sunday of each week. On Wednesday the house will be closed until evening, when concerts of the highest order will be given. Thursday another feature picture will be introduced to continue until Saturday. In October a further departure is scheduled when picture presentation will be withdrawn for a full week to permit of a season of grand opera. None of the details of the latter have been made public, but it is understood that one of the principal operatic organizations will be brought intact, with an important array of guest artists to add lustre to the occasion.

Cat a Model to Children.

In some of the little books which were published from 1800 to 1850, and a few of them even earlier, one finds the cat frequently set up as a model of good behavior, especially for little girls. She taught them by her example to wash their faces once a day, to look clean and neat, and when they walked out of doors never to step in the wet. One significant sentence reads: "It would be well for little girls to sit as still while they are learning their lessons."

I Want 400 More OLD WATCHES Before Sept. 15th

Out-of-town folks may send us their watches by parcel post. We will notify the senders, by return mail, how much we can allow them for their watches towards a new 1922 Model Burritt Watch.

MEN!
Your old watch, no matter what condition it is in, whether broken or fifty years old, bring it to us and we will make you a liberal allowance on it towards one of our New Model 1922 Burritt Watches.

Ladies, avail yourself of this opportunity, bring your old watch and we will make a very liberal allowance on it towards a brand new up-to-date Wrist Watch.

All uncalled for watches that have been in our Watch Repairing Department for six months or longer will be sold to the government if not called for on or before September 15th.

THE REASON WHY we want so many watches is that the U. S. Government is conducting a school for crippled soldiers, teaching them to be watchmakers, and old watches are needed for experimental work.
