By CORONA REMINGTON

(By N. C. W. C. News Service)
Cologne, April 2.—A portrait painting of Pope Pius XI has been completed by the German artist Ernst Windhoff. The picture will be placed in the new Papal Nunciature in Berlin. It has been highly praised by the art critics of Germany and of Rome and the comment in the Osservatore Romano concerning it, was extremely flattering.

The same artist has also painted portraits of Cardinal Schulte, Cardinal Ehrle, and Magr. Pacelli, the Papal Nuncio to Berlin. Windhoff is a native of Munich.

"While the courts in all of these states have been more or less tainted by Klan influence, for actual domination and control of the courts Texas surpasses all other states. It is common knowledge that Ku Klux lawyers, under the protection and connivance of Ku Klux judges in this state, brazenly pass the Klan signal to jurors being examined as to their fitness to serve, and in this way in criminal and civil cases juries are packed with Klansmen who have subscribed to the oath."

"There must be no class distinction in the United States", Major Dalrymple says. "Catholics must be on their guard. I am a product of the public schools. Nevertheless, I recognize the worth of Catholic schools. What happened in Oregon may easily take place in other communities. Catholics must awaken to the danger at hand. Catholic men and boys have always upheld the American flag and institutions in this country. They are as necessary in time of peace as in war."
