WORST AMONG EVIL SPIRITS

Among Other Misdemeanors, Asmodeus is Said to Have Usurped the Throne of Solomon for a Time.

In Jewish demonology Asmodeus was an evil spirit who was said to have possessed what today would be called an X-ray eye. Asmodeus is sometimes jocularly spoken of as destroying matrimonial happiness. In the apocryphal book of Tobias, the Detroit News states, he is represented as loving Sara, the daughter of Raguel and Edna, and causing the death of seven husbands on the bridal night. Tobias, instructed by the angel Raphael, burned the heart and liver of a fish that he caught in the Tigris, and the smell drove the demon into Egypt, where Raphael bound him, leaving Tobias and Sara in peace.

According to the testament of Solomon, Asmodeus brought to Solomon's service the magic worm Shamir, whose touch split stones; he then for a time usurped the throne of Solomon, performing many of the evil deeds attributed to Solomon. Le Sage has made Asmodeus the title character of his "Le Diable Boiteux" ("The Limping Devil, or Devil on Two Sticks"). Asmodeus being fabled as having been released from his prison, a bottle, by Don Cleofas, a young Spanish scholar whom Asmodeus carries in his flight over Madrid, giving him the power of seeing through the roofs and walls of the houses.

TO QUENCH AMERICAN THIRST

Veritable Sea of Soft Drinks Consumed by Thirsty in This Country in a Single Year.

The soft drinks consumed in this country in a single year make up a quantity of liquid refreshment so large that it is hard to conceive of such a volume of varicolored and varifavored waters. If our last year's supply had been available to Methuselah at the beginning of his alleged 969 years he would have had 8 bottles to dispose of every minute of his mortal span. The cold figures estimated by statisticians tell us that each year thirty Americans consume 4,000,000,000 bottles of soft drinks, and this total does not include beverages such as near beer, made from cereals. This sparkling food is poured out from 10,000 bottling establishments and over 110,000 soda counters.

This enormous thirst-quenching industry is a relatively recent development, a result of the rapid commercializing of the discoverer of the chemist. Had not great changes taken place in the beverage industry it is hardly probable it would ever have grown to present proportions.

Manners and the Motor.

The Victorian era undoubtedly had its faults but its passing has taken away a few things which the world would do better to retain. For instance:

The other afternoon three elegantly dressed young gentlemen, driving up Woodward avenue in a large open automobile, espied a young lady of their acquaintance being taken northward in a street car. They moved over under her window, attracted her attention by several blasts of their horn and, by signs and nods, indicated that she should alight at the next stop and climb in with them.

This she did and the last the writer saw was the four of them bowling merrily along in earnest, but obviously very juvenile, conversation.

But—and this is the point of the story—during all these goings-on not one of the elegantly dressed young gentlemen removed his hat.—Detroit News.

ORIGIN LOST IN ANTIQUITY

One Can Only Speculate as to Whence Came Proverbs That Today Are Household Words.

A peculiarity of the proverbs of the Bible is that they are worldwide in their application, but it is true also that they are not in the main historical in their allusions. The quest for true origins is probably as futile as it is unrewarding. We share with Mr. Marvin the surprise he felt when he discovered that the phrase, "Thou hast the advantage of the angry when thou keepest silence," is written in the precepts of Ptah-hotep, dating back to a period more than 3,000 years before the birth of Christ. Who knows, indeed, but that Plutarch and Pericles, Thales and Heron, Solon and Solomon, and a multitude of others who lived in bygone ages, "borrowed their wise sayings from the talk of the fire-sides, and the conversations in the market places; so that the origin of many proverbs now slipperily quoted in the converse of men is lost in the mists of forgotten centuries?"—Portland Oregonian.

Patience is the art, or rather the practice, of enduring human stupidity.

No wonder egotists find the world so ugly, they see only themselves in it.

There is more fatigue in business than in labor. Someone has said: It's the things we don't do that tire us most.

House Was Divided.

A northerner was hunting in the South and one afternoon he got drenched through. A southern farmer took him in, gave him a suit of clothes to wear while his own clothes dried, and insisted that he stay all night. The northerner, of course, was profoundly impressed by this display of southern hospitality.

Just after supper as the contented northerner, full of good food, was going upstairs to his bedroom for his pipe, he met the lady of the house coming down with a huge book under her arm. As he had her husband's clothes on she mistook him for her husband in the dim light and brought the book down on his head with a bang.

"Dear!" she hissed. "That's what we do for uskin' him to stay all night!"—Savannah News.

Queen Victoria of Sweden has begun the establishment of a rest cure for women as her investment of the $45,000 which she received on her sixtieth birthday last year, as a gift subscribed by the women of her country, and her country has been benefited more than by any other act.

The new rest cure is the first of its kind in the world, and is the most complete of any ever devised. It is situated in a beautiful spot, and is a most desirable place for the new cure.
