New Autumn Fashions For The Gentlemen.

Mr. Frank A. Miller whose establishment is at 312 Jefferson Ave. has through fifteen years of business established a large clientele throughout the city of Rochester.

Mr. Miller makes a fine line of overcoats and men's suits to order. If any of our gentlemen readers have ever worn a made to order suit they would never go back to these you pick up here and there. They fit better, look better and are sure to last longer. On the other hand you may choose the color and material that suits you from the samples themselves. If there is any Rochester Gentleman who are planning new suits for autumn and wish the very best suits obtainable call at Mr. Miller's. He will take your measurements and will be only too glad to give you an estimate of how much this new suit is going to cost you.

We feel sure you will not only be satisfied with the cost but also with the material and the workmanship as well. Now that the supply of woollens have arrived, there are many beautiful pieces of goods to select from, and if you wish a large selection to choose from, call at once.

Fireproof Walls are Stronger

Kno-Burn not only makes walls and ceilings fireproof but the particular shaped mesh locks the plaster in place, reducing the liability to crack and scale; at the same time requiring less plaster.

The Board of Fire Underwriters give Metal Lath and Gypsum Plaster applied in the proper manner a fire stoppage rating at one hour.

Metal Lath and Gypsum Plaster not only assures fire safe wooden houses but in a great measure prevents unsightly and often dangerous plaster cracks, with consequent damage to decorations.

The American Clay and Cement Corporation carry all gauges in stock at all times. This company are dealers in all kinds of Fire Safe building materials. If you wish further Metal Lath information call on them.

FATHER OF LITERARY CLUBS

Mr. Smith imports all of his flooring from Kentucky and this state is known as the oak center of the United States. This wood is well seasoned and is kept stored in a heated building thus avoiding shrinking and warping.

This of course is of great advantage to the person having the floor laid.

Mr. Smith has long been in this business and understands it thoroughly and too he has experienced men in charge of all phases of the work. The hardwood is purchased from one of the largest firms in the country, insuring safety as to quality.

Chair Supposed to Have Been Throne of Doctor Johnson is Exhibited in London Club.

London's literary associations have long been bound up with London clubland. It goes back to the days when the "penny-allen" foregathered for evening diversion in the taverns of Fleet street and about Covent Garden. Doctor Johnson was the father of all literary clubs. Americans today gaze with awe upon the chair in the Cheshire Cheese, in Wine Office court, Fleet street, which is supposed to have been his throne. The fact that there is no evidence to show that Johnson ever visited the Cheshire Cheese is of not the slightest importance, wherever it was, dogmatically he took the chair, and as there was no club organization in his day he constituted himself president, corresponding secretary, board of directors and chairman of the house committee. When he began to growl complaints ceased. Perhaps, regarded strictly as a man of letters, the doctor has been somewhat overrated by posterity. The famous dictionary, at best, was a ponderous labor, and no one now is likely to read for pleasure "Rasselas, Prince of Abyssinia." But were he alive today, what an ideal chairman of the handicap committee of a golf club he would make.—New York Herald.

Overlooked.

Two contractors, of a type unfortunately too familiar, were talking of some buildings which had collapsed before they were finished.

"Well, Billionen," said one, "you always have better luck than I do."

"Better luck? How's that?"

"Why, my row of new houses blew down in last week's wind, you know, while yours weren't harmed. All were built the same—same woodwork, same mortar, same everything."

"Yes," said the other, "but you forget that mine had been papered."
