Chicken Frank
A New Brunswick farmer who raises a considerable number of Barred Rock chickens recently had a chick that had two beaks and three eyes on one head. One of the eyes was in the center of the head just between the two beaks. The chick was otherwise normal!

Aquinas Institute Campaign To Have Novel Features

Preliminary plans have been completed for the new Aquinas Institute, which it is hoped to construct at a cost of about $500,000 on a thirteen-acre plot of ground with 660 feet frontage and 900 feet depth in Dewey avenue, opposite Alameda St., which is about to be taken over by the Board of Trustees of the Aquinas Corporation.

The building will be a three-story fire proof structure, built of brick with stone trimmings. It will have a frontage of 262 feet and a maximum depth of 200 feet.

It will include administration offices and thirty-four standard-size classrooms, which will accommodate thirty pupils each, making a total of 1,020 students. Each classroom will have its own individual locker room with mechanical ventilation. There will be three laboratories, for biology, physics and chemistry, each with accompanying lecture work and dark room. A new and unusual feature will be a small oratory for private devotion. The study hall will have a library and work room on each floor and also two lavatories and two toilet rooms.

There will be an auditorium with balcony, accommodating 1,200 persons, which will be provided with seven exits.

The gymnasium will be 40 by 70 feet and there will be a cafeteria and kitchen sufficiently large to care for the student body.

There will be a boiler room in the rear of the building and caretaker's quarters.

Four fireproof and smokeproof stair towers, exiting directly out doors, will eliminate all fire hazards.

J. Foster Warner's office now is engaged on the plans and specifications with their details, and these will be placed at the earliest possible moment in the hands of contractors.

Plans for the campaign to raise $500,000 for the institute are well under way. It will be conducted from November 9th to 18th.

Bishop Hickey Urges Women To Aid Campaign

A large number of members of the Catholic Women's Club were present Monday evening at Corpus Christi Church hall, at their first autumn supper meeting. Right Rev. Thomas F. Hickey, the principal speaker, reviewed the history of the organization, and emphasized the importance of the coming Aquinas Institute campaign.

"The Catholic Women's Club, which began in a small way, has progressed along the lines of natural growth and now is past the experimental stage," Bishop Hickey said.

"When we are together, we should work for our common good. There is a great satisfaction in doing something for someone else. So much that we do is for No. 1. Our motive should be spiritual. The great motive of Christ should inspire us. The spirit of the Christian Church should be maintained in us and should animate us."

"The more generous you are in your thoughts, the more successful your organization will be. The organization is bigger than any member."

The speaker told the women that the drive for $500,000 for the new boys' institute, to begin on November 9th, is a family interest, and that they should do their part in its support.

"When I told the bishop of Brooklyn we had thirteen acres for this school, he said I envy you the thirteen acres to build on."

Very Rev. J. Francis O'Hern gave a talk in which he noted the representation of the various parishes present, he also urged their support in the campaign.

Rev. Charles Shea, Rev. William H. Hart and Rev. Emmet McGee each spoke a few words of welcome. Miss Cellia Yawman, president of the club, reviewed briefly the work of the club at camp Madonna, where 232 guests sojourned during the summer. She reminded the members that the club will have open house Sunday evenings. A program of music will be given. Girls who are strangers in Rochester are especially invited.

Mrs. Daniel Donahue was chairman of the Committee on Arrangements. During the dinner chorus singing was featured, and Miss Rita Peters gave several soprano solos, accompanied by Mrs. George Garney. The decorative scheme was yellow and white, in which light oak chairs gave a dominant note.

EXPECT LARGE INCREASE IN REGISTRATION

Parochial Schools Reopen for Year and Officials Believe Figure of 28,000 Pupils Will Be Passed

Parochial schools of the city and diocese of Rochester have opened for the year. It is expected that during the coming month a complete registration that will show a considerable increase in pupils will be obtained and placed on file in the chancery office. The official Catholic directory of last year reported more than 28,000 pupils in all the parochial schools of the diocese receiving Catholic education of which about 18,000 belong to the city of Rochester.

Of this number in Rochester more than 1,200 were registered in Aquinas Institute, the central Catholic high school for boys, and Nazareth Academy. These two Catholic high schools are fed each year from the graduates of the 35 or more parochial grammar schools of Rochester and vicinity. With a normal increase each year in practically every parochial school of the city, so that pastors have been obliged to open new rooms and secure extra teachers, graduating classes have also increased in size and numbers.

This year Nazareth Academy has enrolled in business and academic work about 700 girls and the Aquinas Institute more than 500 boys. It is expected that the grammar schools of the city will total upwards of 20,000 pupils from the primary to eighth grade. The interest of this large number of boys and girls is being enlisted in the coming campaign for the Aquinas Institute through their daily prayers in the class room and through their savings in milk boxes, which will be placed in every home in the next few days.

In a letter sent in the last few days to the teachers and children, Bishop Thomas F. Hickey has spoken to them of the cause of higher Catholic education and especially the Aquinas Institute with its coming campaign towards which the Catholic children of the parochial schools of Rochester will do their part.

Curio Real Work of Art
For an interesting curio in the shape of a pea pod carried out of pear wood, 1025 was paid recently. About two and a half inches long and as thick as a half wide, the "pod" opens on a hinge to disclose two wonderful sixteenth-century carvings. One represents Joseph and Potiphar's wife, and the other the Judgment of Paris.

Seasonable Items for Men

Shirts—White shirts are in demand and for men who want a really high grade shirt, we can recommend nothing more satisfactory than one of these of genuine flannel, made in cloth. The material is a beautiful soft finish and the shirts are made with all the nicety of detail that characterizes the best made shirts. There are full French cuffs and front center plackets, dressy shirts and made to fit. Another very good point is their moderate price—$2.50.

Shirts with stiff laundered cuffs are not common these days and still sometimes they have a few of them left.
