Two Hundred Years

This week occurred an anniversary of great importance to Catholics, especially those interested in the education of the young.

It was this recognition, from the Vatican which brought an almost immediate growth to the order.

Today there are Christian Brothers' colleges at Rome and Turin, Italy; at Provenca and Malonne, in Belgium; at Valladolid, in Spain;

In the United States some of the Christian Brothers Institutions are Manhattan College, New York; St. Louis (1849); St. Marys College, Oakland, Calif. (1863);

Deserved Rebuke

Has it come to this pass that in this supposed cradle of religious liberty that it is a crime, an unpardonable offense, for a Catholic University's football nine to win over the supposed top notch universities of neutral or non-Catholic trend.

If the following, from the "Union and Times" states facts correctly, it would appear there is more than a grain of truth in such criticism.

Menace

There is one point in which the over-zealous promoters of Anglophobia in America are not in accord with the English brethren they affect to admire so much.

Englishmen are not ardent advocates of so-called "birth control" which really means birth suppression or, as Theodore Roosevelt put it, race suicide.

The Bishop of Gloucester finds that in Eastern Canada the English-speaking people are declining rapidly. The French-Canadians, with their families of 10, 12 and even 20 are spreading everywhere, and with them their language.

They say that perusal of the advertising matter for De Mille's picture "The Ten Commandments" impelled some Rochesterians to ask what these documents were and signified.

Even if it were intense in its likes and dislikes, many Irish sympathizers regret the suspension of the Dublin "Freeman's Journal."

harmful. "It is unscientific and it is biologically wrong. It means the ultimate destruction of the race that both victim and adopter it."

Recognized

There is no longer any excuse for the Catholic boy or girl who wishes to practice law not pursuing their studies in a Catholic College.

At the annual meeting of the Association of American Law Schools just held at the La Salle Hotel, Chicago, four Catholic Law Schools were admitted to membership in the association.

Good advice is contained in this editorial paragraph in the Denver "Register"—If you are one of those unfortunate who plan to live without the sacraments, but to send for a priest on your death-bed, you will be able to secure interesting information on this from any clergyman.

The Catholic Journal extends congratulations to John C. Rodenbeck upon election as President of the Merchants Bank.

NEW MENACE WHICH AMERICANS AN

CATHOLICS MUST MEET BY

SUPPORT OF CATHOLIC PRESS

February is Catholic Press Month.

What does this announcement mean to you? Is it merely another reminder of your duty to support the Catholic newspaper of your diocese—a reminder which you receive five with complacent satisfaction, secure in knowledge of what the Catholic Press means to you in this month of February.

February, 1925, finds the Catholic Church in America a founding onslaught such as it has never before experienced. Individual Catholic and everything he holds sacred are brought into contempt by agencies heretofore free from the influence of the Catholic Press.

To take a glimpse at the new menace—and a glimpse which is not a partial peep—in one month in which the Nativity of Our Lord is celebrated and the standing of Harper's Magazine, The Century, The Ladies' Home Journal, The Woman's Home Companion, The New York Times, The Philadelphia Public Ledger, and The Washington Post.

These publications represent millions of readers who are supposed to comprise a large segment of the intelligence of America. They are regarded by a certain proportion of these readers as guides and interpreters. To many, what they say is gospel.

While we do not charge, and do not believe that the misrepresentations here dealt with were designed to create a hostile contempt for Catholics and their beliefs, we do hold those who are either from ignorance or indifference as responsible for this result.

Hold one fact in mind. It was not a system of religion, not the Catholic Church which was being attacked and misrepresented in the articles—it was you. The Church built upon a rock and a divine institution by what any American newspaper has to say about it.

Get behind your Catholic newspaper. Advertise in it, bring in new subscribers, call the attention of the editor to the very challenges he has to meet and see that his answer gets to those in the community.

Are you just reading a Catholic newspaper and doing nothing for it?
