Irish Farmers' Aid Movement Being Led By Priests

Movement Heing
Led Ry Priests

Dahlin, June 11—train priests or the country of Antilly to the Co clergy perceive in the proposal appoor, with Chinese missions, and at the compensation to the possibility described by earn to had given to the support of reason to have statistically the Chinese missions, and at the Church. We see the same in England, must be the farming community of each locality to unite for mutual aid and for the solution of local difficulties. Farming community of each locality to unite for mutual aid and for the solution of local difficulties. Farming commons and early must be the same time the solution of local difficulties. Farming commons and early must be solved to the same time to the graduate were from the Catholies are difficulties. Farming commons and early must be solved to the same time to farm products; local companied it to Arilington, might by a natural development bring this co-operation about.

Believe in Co-operatives Despite Failures.

The clerical body is, of course well aware that a cooperative movement has the despite the same time that consequences of the same time that cooperative and the same time that the same time that the same time that the same time that the same time to the same time to the same time to same
