The WALL STREET JOURNAL, the greatest financial paper in the world, under date of February 19th, says:
"The Seaboard Air Line is building two beautiful $75,000 passenger stations upon its Florida line and at representative points, Winter Haven, and West Palm Beach. One typifies the glory of Florida homes, and the other the business enterprise moving within the State. Neither place is afraid of debts or taxes. Indeed, Winter Haven boasts that its prosperity began with bond issues, which gave it the largest mileage of improved streets of any town of its size in the State."
"Twenty years ago it was a village with a few inhabitants. Its great development has taken place during the past four years and with its suburban population it is now a place of 7,000 inhabitants as compared with only 1,500 in 1920, and boasts of beautiful hotels and yet more beautiful villas and gardens in the past four years the assessed valuation has risen from $2,250,000 to $10,000,000."
"People from the north came here cautiously, but when they once determined that it was an all-the-year round town with an all-the-year round pleasurable climate, the money and enterprise poured in."
"Florida cannot go far wrong when Winter Haven and Polk County are right in the center of the State and so fundamentally right in soil and climate, lakes and woodland."
"Ocean breezes from the east during the day and from the west during the night take care of the seashore climate of Florida and the interior is cool even in summertime by evaporation from innumerable inland lakes. Winter Haven is known as 'The City of a Hundred Lakes'."

SUMMER COLLATIONS

Patty shells and timbale cases when first used were pastry-filled with some sort of cream or custard, a sweet, now they are more often used as a savory and grace the most dainty luncheon as a meat dish.

The meat, fish or vegetable, whichever is used to form the principal ingredient for the filling, should be very finely chopped. A rich white sauce usually accompanies the meat mixture. Vegetables should be cooked, then rubbed through a sieve. Usually one-half cupful of vegetable is used to one cupful of meat. Some chefs prefer to pound the meat in a mortar, which makes it fine as paste. The white sauce is prepared by using one cupful of milk, two tablespoonfuls of flour and four of butter; cook gently till smooth and thick. The butter is melted, then the flour added and well mixed, then the milk added slowly. To season add salt, a few drops of onion juice, a dash of cayenne, a blade of mace, or a little tomato catsup for zest. There should be just enough white sauce to moisten the other materials; next fold in a beaten egg, one to each cupful of sauce.

The timbale molds used to hold the above mixtures are of tin, either scalloped or plain. Pour the mixture into the molds which have been well-buttered, set in a pan on a paper surrounded with a little hot water. Bake until firm, turn out on a platter and garnish. Timbales may be either hot or cold.

Cream Dumplings.—Sift two cupfuls of pastry flour with three teaspoonfuls of baking powder and one-half teaspoonful of salt. Add enough thin cream to make a soft dough to drop from a spoon—about three-fourths of a cupful—sour cream with an eighth of a teaspoonful of soda stirred into it will give a moist tasty flavor. Drop each dumpling on to pieces of meat to hold it up from the liquid and cover closely to steam. Cook about 12 minutes, depending upon the size of the dumplings. Dropped from a teaspoon, eight minutes is sufficient.

Sons Of Italy In N. Y. Open Cultural Center With Speech By Mayor

New York, June 25.—The Order of the Sons of Italy on Sunday officially took over a nine-story structure at Lafayette and Great Jones streets which will become a center of culture for Italian-Americans in New York.

Mayor Hylan, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. John P. Chidwick and Salvatore A. Cottino, Supreme Court Justice and Grand Master of the New York lodge, took part in the ceremony of transferring the deed, and lauded the purpose to foster cultural influences among new citizens. Monsignor Chidwick presented the deed to Justice Cottino, after the Sons of Italy had marched in review past the distinguished guests of the day.

The structure, which is to house an Italian educational center, has a history antedating the Revolutionary War. After various vicissitudes, it was acquired in 1879 by Father John C. Drumgoole for mission purposes, and more lately it had been in the possession of the Mission of the Immaculate Virgin.

"This building is a splendid monument to the zeal and public spirit of our Italian population," Mayor Hylan declared.

"We draw our people from the four corners of the world. There are many races and creeds, all of which must be attuned to the spirit of our American institutions. All must be united by a common hope and a common purpose for the common good."
"It has been our happy experience to find that in every racial group there are many public-spirited men and women who are willing to aid their city by conducting activities in Americanism and good citizenship, and who look for no other reward than the consciousness of having done a good deed and having done it well. A concrete example of such a group is the Order of the Sons of Italy."

Ulster Presbyterians Talk Creed Changes

Dublin, June 22.—Some mysterious change in the tenets of Presbyterianism was envisaged, in a resolution passed at the General Assembly of that creed in Belfast. The resolution called for a committee to consider whether an alteration in the Presbyterian formula was necessary. The Rev. Mr. Farley said that students were objecting to the present code and formula, so it would be better to amend them in such a manner as would enable young men to subscribe to the doctrine and discipline. They had a tenderness of conscience on certain points.

The Rev. Mr. Dunne hotly opposed the resolution. "This," he declared, "will put us on an incline plane leading to a goal that we cannot imagine. It opens the floodgates of something it is impossible to anticipate. There is no room in the Presbyterian Church for those who cannot subscribe to the doctrines we have hitherto believed."

Scotch Protestants Alarmed By Influx Of Irish Catholics

Dublin, June 25.—At the Free Church Assembly, held recently in Edinburgh, Rev. Dr. W. Mackintosh Mackay, Glasgow, said a serious situation was arising as a result of the growth of the Irish population and the expansion of the Catholic Church in Scotland.

Dr. Mackay added that he wished to see all denominations in national (or public) schools, and pointed out that the Catholic Church now took its place, after the Church of Scotland, as the second largest Church in the country according to baptisms. That was a very serious position.

It showed the advance which had been made by the Catholic Church, and which they considered further the question of Irish immigration and that the American Government had lately reduced the quota of immigrants from South Ireland, while it had left the minimum from Scotland as it was, they could see that a large number of Irish seeking for fresh fields would be driven to Scotland, and that they would have an increase of Irish immigration into Scotland.

The result was that in Scottish country districts they were already finding parts of parishes, which used to be entirely Protestant, partly Catholic.

The whole matter of the religious question was referred to a committee for report at a future Assembly. The real trouble is that the Catholic population in Scotland is claiming educational liberty—that is, the right to educate its children as Catholics; and the Free Church, alarmed at the spread of Catholicism in Scotland, is demanding that instruction shall not be denominational. Anti-Irish feeling is being excited for an obvious reason.

Nottingham Bishop Finds Good In Trend To Anglo-Catholicism

(By N. C. W. C. News Service)

London, June 25.—With the outcome of the constantly gaining Anglo-Catholic movement within the Church of England still veiled in speculation, the Bishop of Nottingham offers the opinion that the movement "is doing a real service to the Catholic cause."

His argument is an interesting one. "As an organized system of belief and worship," he says in a pastoral letter read this week, "it would seem that the old-fashioned Protestantism we used to know is well-nigh played out. There is, however, within the ample bosom of the Establishment a large and increasing school of thought which is bent on introducing into the national church many Catholic doctrines and all the external trappings of medieval worship."
"Although of course the adherents of this party are, in fact, every bit as Protestant as their brethren of the evangelical wing, they are doing a real service to the Catholic cause by creating amongst their fellow Protestants an entirely novel religious atmosphere and fostering in them a mentality similar in many respects to our own. For that we may be, and indeed we are, duly grateful to them."

"But whether or not England will acquiesce in a further period of schism under a new aspect, by allowing its national Church to be altogether captured by these extremists is a thing which remains still to be seen."
The Bishop thinks if Englishmen could shun the gloomy Protestant antipathy to all things Papal, still, characteristic of the average English mind, they would soon find themselves on the way back to the faith of their fathers.

Winter Haven—the City of One Hundred Lakes

A Florida Real Estate Development of Unusual Merit & Future

Winter Haven is located in one of the most favored sections of Florida. It is in the heart of the richest and most productive country in the United States. It is in this magnificent section that the Haven-Villa Investment Co. owns one of the finest developments that can be imagined. Inwood is the name given to this section by the company and it lies on high rolling ground covered with stately pines and romantic palms. A very exclusive class of residents has located at Winter Haven and many a beautiful home is to be seen from Inwood in this section, romance and delight can be found. Life is easy and affords all kinds of entertainment to the residents. Winter Haven well earns its name, it is a real Haven—the whole year around.

The Haven-Villa Investment Company is a concern backed by millions of dollars. Their work is as good as a bond and those who do business with them can rest assured that they are dealing with a most reliable concern. Yet, there are many who wish to see that all the things that have been told to them are in accordance with the facts as stated. To satisfy $100,000 Catholic Church about this very natural inclination on the part of prospective investors the Haven-Villa Investment Co. is making an offer of unequalled value. It consists of a free trip to Winter Haven on the fast Clyde Line Steamers and a stay of three days at Winter Haven enjoying sight seeing trips and entertainments. This offer most certainly has never been made before and stands as the best guarantee that the company can give to its prospective patrons.

An organization is known by the men who direct its destiny. The Haven-Villa Investment Company is composed of men who are leaders in their field. Men of prominence in business and social circles, men who have a background of successful achievements and are highly respected as citizens of a great country. Burden of Many Tasks Weakens Government Says Ohio Official Cincinnati, June 25.—Pernicious legislation affecting personal liberty was denounced by Thomas J. Duffy, chairman of the Ohio Industrial Commission, who delivered the principal address at the eighty-fifth commencement of St. Xavier College at Emory's auditorium. "It is a serious mistake to endeavor to secure through legislation and law enforcement objects that can be more effectively obtained only through moral and educational influence," Mr. Duffy declared.

"No really patriotic citizen will burden his government with the duty of bringing about the accomplishment of some pet hobby with him which is not a proper matter for governmental control or regulation," he continued. "There is no patriotism, wisdom, justice or tolerance in such an attitude. Government is as much in need of protection against those who would break it down by overloading it with meaningless and impossible tasks as it is against those who would destroy it for the purpose of getting rid of all governments."
Commenting upon the recent decision of the United States Supreme Court declaring unconstitutional the Oregon school law, which would have abolished parochial and private schools, Mr. Duffy remarked that fanaticism sought to mislead "legislative authority to deprive American them by the Constitution of the United States." He branded the law as "un-American" and "a detriment to the nation."

Duffy conferred at the Commencement numbered 45, and 13 normal school diplomas and 13 commerce certificates were awarded. The Rt. Rev. Louis J. Nax, pastor of St. Mary's seminary, Norwood, who delivered the baccalaureate address, was given the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws. He is a member of the class of 1898 at St. Xavier College.

Catholic Orders Make Advances In Bavaria

(By N. C. W. C. News Service)
Cologne, June 15.—Discussion in the Bavarian Landtag recently has brought out the great strides Catholic orders have made in Bavaria since the Constitution became effective. Societies of priests, now 26 in number, have trebled since 1910, and monasteries and establishments have increased from 98 to 153 in the same period. Houses of regular brethren have risen from 6 to 25, and the number of women's spiritual societies has increased more than a half and of Sisters more than a third. In 1910 there were 22 women's religious orders; there are now 45, caring for 1,795 establishments.
